

Religion and Life

By Very Rev. George C. Pidgeon, D.D., L.L.D. First Moderator of the United Church of Canada (Copyright)

June is the month for weddings. Every year our young people in great numbers choose this month for the marriage ceremony...

To Jesus marriage was the most sacred of all our human relationships. When His critics challenged Him on the subject of divorce He replied that divorce is a violation of both the law of God and the law of our own nature...

It is not surprising, therefore, to find Jesus at a wedding in which His Mother was deeply interested. The Church follows a sound instinct in regarding His presence and the first miracle at the wedding in Cana as the halving of marriage. It was also His first use of the power which had come upon Him at His baptism...

As Jesus came up from the waters of baptism the Holy Spirit came upon Him in the fullness of power and love. In His Temptations he had just refused to make any use of this divine power except in the service of love...

Jesus thus practised what He preached. We saw in last week's study the place which he gave to kindness in God's judgment of men; here we see Him doing a kindly deed with the power which God had given Him...

The real explanation is that Jesus was startled. He was in possession of a new divine power; He had just refused to use it for any ends except those of love...

What about Jesus' answer to His Mother? It reads as follows in a new translation: "O woman, what have you to do with me? My hour has not yet come..."

Gerald Waring Reporting

OTTAWA—In the closing days of Parliamentary sessions it's usual for the Commons to vote many millions in a matter of minutes, and this recent session was no exception.

Dr. George Davidson, Deputy Minister of Welfare, was in an alcove behind the throne of Commons' Speaker W. Ross Macdonald, waiting for his departmental estimates to be called. That was to be his signal to enter the chamber and take a chair placed temporarily in front of the desk of Health and Welfare Minister Martin, so he'd be available to help Martin answer questions from the opposition.

The estimates were called. Davidson entered the chamber briskly. But by the time he had walked the 50 feet to Martin's desk, the Commons had passed $450,000,000 of his estimates—mainly for family allowances—without asking a single question.

The same thing happened to Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board. Solandt was behind the curtains in the chamber, ready to walk to his seat in front of the desk of Defence Minister Claxton. He walked quickly down the aisle as soon as the DRB estimates were called, but the entire DRB budget of more than $35,000,000 had been passed before he reached his seat.

This terrific clip of money voting the Commons achieves in the last days of the session isn't due entirely to the M.P.'s desire to finish their work quickly and go home. It's also due to the fact that by then, just about every conceivable topic has been talked out in earlier debates, and nobody wants to thresh old straw.

Besides, it's too hot, and holidays are beckoning. Thus it's no coincidence that busy ministers like to present their departmental budgets in the final days of the session.

Nobody has been able to figure out the Progressive Conservatives' strategy in holding back the resignation of A. L. Smith, their M. P. for Calgary West.

The Conservative strategists here have had Smith's letter of resignation addressed to Speaker Macdonald since February, when Smith left Ottawa because of ill health, but they wouldn't put it in. Had they done so, they undoubtedly could have won five by-elections last week, instead of four.

Now it's too late—the Government probably would take the full six months allowed before calling the Calgary West by-election, hoping the temper of the electorate would improve in that time.

VanPatter - Porter Wedding

At St. James Presbyterian Church at three o'clock yesterday afternoon the marriage took place of Helen Elaine Porter, daughter of the late Lockhart C. Porter and Mrs. Porter, with Dr. Hugh Terry Van Patter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Stanley Van Patter, Westmount, Que. Rev. D. T. H. B. Somers, M.A., S.T.M., officiated at the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Miss E. Lillian MacKenzie, Mus. Bac., and the Kirk Choir sang the bridal anthems. Standards of white gossamer and peonies were arranged in the chancel.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. W. R. Cruickshank and attended by Miss Jean Van Patter and Miss Francis S. Rogers. The groomsmen were Dr. Douglas M. Van Patter and the ushers, Dr. T. C. Todd, Dr. M. N. Beck and Mr. R. B. Smith.

Miss Porter's silk net gown had a jacket of imported French lace, buttoning up the front into a rolled V collar, and the long sleeves ended in points over her hands. Her fingering veil of silk net was held by a Juliette cap of matching French lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white snapdragon and carnations.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid were dressed in matching pale blue organdie over periwinkle blue taffeta gowns cut on Princess lines with boleros buttoned up the front to form French roll collars. Their headresses were wreaths of illusion finishing in Harlequin veils in matching blue. They carried bouquets of ox-eye daisies.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Porter wore a pale blue sheer afternoon dress with lace applique, white Milan straw hat, navy blue accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Van Patter wore a navy blue and white embossed afternoon dress with fine pleated shawl collar, white straw hat, white accessories and American Beauty corsage.

After the wedding reception at The Charlottetown Hotel, Dr. and Mrs. Van Patter left on a motor trip through the Maritimes, New England States, and Laurentian Mountains. For travelling the bride chose a light green Tootal linen dress and jacket, tan straw hat, tan accessories, and her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Van Patter, Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Van Patter, Miss Jean Van Patter, Miss Frances Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. MacPherson, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Todd, Mrs. A. Knowles, Miss Judith Knowles, all of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Rowley of Fredericton, N. B.

Visitors Flocking To Historic Chamber

It may be the approach of Festive Week in Charlottetown, or it may be that summer came earlier this year in other places. In any event there has been a large number of visitors signing the tourist books both in Confederation Chamber and at the Travel Bureau.
