

KINDERGARTEN TWINS

Which Is Which? Twins Keep Everyone Guessing.

Less confusing to the ear than to the eye are these four pairs of identical twins, all students of the same grade at River School. Top left to right, Carol and Cathy Russell; Gary and Barry Pettit; Bottom, Bradley and Randall Slik; and Julie and Jamie Poole. Mr. G.G. Wheeler, principal of Riverside School, Pine Tree Drive S.S.L., London, Ontario, very kindly writes re the twins:

I am happy to receive your inquiry regarding our twins. We feel that 4 pairs of identical twins in one grade in one school of an enrollment of 500 is rather unique. We had their pictures taken as an item of purely local interest and are rather amazed that their fame has reached national proportions.

We do have another pair in the school and two more pairs will be starting in the next two or three years but that is another story. The twins in the picture are all 5 years of age and in our kindergarten-which has an enrollment of 105. They are so much alike that their parents aren't always sure which is which when they are not together. One pair was even able to confuse their mother and stopped only when threatened with different haircuts.

I was talking with the teacher of one of the twins just yesterday and she remarked how close one pair seemed to be. Neither the teacher nor the mother has ever seen them quarrelling with each other and it is difficult to include one in any enterprise without having the other feel hurt or both quite unhappy. The other twins seem to be more independent. They are all pleasant well-mannered kiddies and are enjoyed by their teachers even if identity is sometimes a problem.

Riverside School is a school in a new suburb just west of London. The suburb is known as Oakridge Acres and has grown to a community of 1400 homes in less than 5 years.

ELLEN'S DIARY

What Are They At To-day—Your Men-Says Visitor

"It keeps cool—too cool" a visitor to the yard offered in "passing the time of day" with us this morning. "It's a wonder the fields look so good, isn't it! Of course the showers we've had of late have helped them."

"We won't be needing the 'sheep-storm' will we?" we chuckled.

"But we'll get it" he smiled.

"Not too many have sheared yet—though I've noticed the odd flock done."

"It's in the offing here. The men spoke of it today. They aren't over-much taken up with the chore."

"It's like every chore—the start is the hardest part of it. Once we get into some work it's not nearly as hard as we had pictured. And sometimes we're even a little sorry when it's done. . . . What are they at today—your men?"

grass". Then if a moot question arose, it was only entertaining to them to cut out this or that subject from the herd, to register its weight on the scales. . . . to stud results and to know.

"I over-guessed the weight of Rob's fat cattle by fifty pounds" the younger farmer commented with a little chagrin, and also we decided a justifiable pride over his skill in this angle of a pleasing husbandry, yesterday, which had seen the disposal of the same. "Only out a few pounds a head, however," he said.

"I'm not bad at that myself—I'm learning" Mack offered with a young smile.

Included in the farmers' day was an excursion for one of them and others of the family which took them over the causeway recently opened to traffic, a road which links the fertile, lovely farmlands which there lie on either side of the winding West River.

And James remembered from his young years, the quaint and convenient ferry-boat which operated up the river from there, and carrying passengers and teams, once shortened appreciably the distance between Alderlea and his mother's home, a delightful place to come to, far away at "The Point."

This evening's outing was extended to include a call at a pasture to see at first hand how a herdsire of this place had developed under new ownership. It was good to learn that he proved

Now that the cropping is ended their whereabouts sometimes poses a bewildering question to the housewives. While they have not actually reached a holiday in their farming, at least it is not so insistent as it was, though each day presents its own endeavour. But today when the main interest was to clean some winter cattle-stalls and spread the litter to a pasture, the work could be suspended while they went farther afield to inspect "them" young feeders of cattle, to see if any appreciable gain had been yet made "on the

Another Islander Has Brilliant Medical Career

Another prominent visitor is Captain W.M. Silliphant, Medical Corps, United States Navy, formerly of Hunter River. Captain Silliphant is at present in the province to see his sisters, Mrs. J. W. Patterson, Hunter River, and Mrs. Sherman MacDuff, Brookfield.

CAPT. SILLIPHANT

Captain Silliphant is director of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology, Washington, D.C. This activity is the largest scientific institution of its kind in the world and serves in addition to all the armed forces of the United States, the U.S. Public Health Service, and the Veteran's Administration.

Captain Silliphant is a diplomate of the American Board of Pathology and a Fellow of the American College of Physicians. Captain Silliphant is married to the former Jean Rice Morse of Seattle, Washington. They have two daughters, Mary Ruth, and Elizabeth Ann.

Toronto Doctor Visits Island Livestock Centres

Dr. W.R. Feasby, Toronto, medical director of the Canadian Diabetic Association, and Mrs. Feasby, who have been visiting Prince Edward Island returned home Saturday by plane.

Dr. Feasby is the editor of several medical publications. "Modern Medicine of Canada" is the best known. This magazine is now published in Great Britain and Australia. However, Dr. Feasby's outstanding contribution in his medical writing has been his official History of the Canadian Medical Services of the Second World War. This book was acclaimed by leading reviewers in all parts of the world.

The doctor is assisted in considerable of his research in connection with his writing by his wife, Mrs. Feasby, the former, Mary White, was the daughter of an eminent Imperial Oil executive in Toronto. But the beauti-

LAKE VERDE W.I.

Mrs. Felix Redmond was hostess to the members of the Lake Verde Women's Institute at her home on Wednesday night, June 11th.

Mrs. Joseph Shea, president, opened the meeting with the reading of the Creed. Nine members answered roll call by paying double the size of their shoe, which amounted to $1.15.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read approved and signed. Letters from Mrs. Lloyd Wilkie and R.T. Holman were read. Sick committee reported one call and Mrs. Harry Kelly and Mrs. Ivan Redmond were re-appointed for another month.

Mrs. Owen Callaghan and Mrs. Ira Redmond were appointed to attend the Annual Convention at Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, on July 3rd and 4th. Mrs. Harry Kelly kindly invited the members to her home for the July meeting. Roll call to be answered by an article for grab bag. The meeting then adjourned.

During a pleasant social hour, a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Ivan Redmond.

ful clever, popular Mary White (these attributes in any order because they were equally distributed) won out on her own personal qualifications.

Mary White was the editor of the Toronto Varsity daily undergraduate newspaper. She was contemplating quite a career in newspaper work when fortunately romance and marriage came along, in the person of the handsome Dr. Feasby.

Dr. and Mrs. Feasby are world travellers. They visit Great Britain frequently and also Australia. Within the last few years, they had a trip around the world by plane.

Along with Dr. Feasby's many interests he and his wife run a farm in the beautiful Caledon district north-west of Toronto. There they raise registered Yorkshire pigs and ducklings.

While on the Island, Dr. and Mrs. Feasby visited the Experimental Farm. They felt very much honored in having the head herdsman, Mr. Jim Williams, show them the magnificent live stock. They also visited Col. F. L. Andrew's well-known farm.

They also expressed great pleasure in having a personality such as Mr. Charles Praught as president of the newly-formed Diabetic Association. Like all much travelled people, Dr. and Mrs. Feasby were most enthusiastic about the coloring and the beauty of Prince Edward Island.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Hooper's when roll call will be answered with sing, say or pay.

The meeting closed with the national Anthem and luncheon was served by the committee in charge assisted by the hostess.

EVER HEATH, England (CP)—Whitsuntide holiday visitors pocketed more than 200 rhododendron blooms worth £50 from a beauty spot near this Buckinghamshire village.

ANGLO RUSTICO W.I.

The June meeting of Anglo Rustico W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Dannie Anderson with six members present.

The president, Mrs. Hooper was in the chair, the meeting opened with the collect. The minutes of the previous meeting were accepted as read and roll call was answered with a donation to the Salvation Army. Mrs. Hooper reported that Miss Chandler consented to collect from non-members for this worthy object.

Mrs. Hooper and Mrs. Parkman reported from the District convention committee meeting that was held at Mrs. Hill's. The W. I. is to be responsible for fancy cookies for luncheon at convention.

A bill from the teacher for school supplies was on motion ordered paid.

A letter was read from Mrs. Wilkie asking for a donation of one article for W.I. Handicraft booth at the Provincial Exhibition during Old Home Week. Other correspondence was read and dealt with.

Delegates were appointed to attend the provincial convention in Charlottetown on July third and fourth.

Reports were heard from the different committees and new ones appointed as follows. Sick, Mrs. Read Stevenson and Mrs. Noel Hooper. Lunch, Mrs. S.D. Parkman and Mrs. Hooper. Programme, Mrs. Parkman and Mrs. Hooper.

It was decided to get two gallons of ice cream for a treat for the children at the school closing.

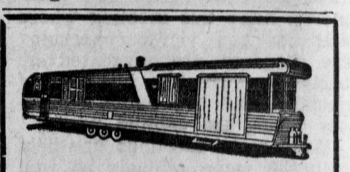

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Hooper's when roll call will be answered with sing, say or pay.

The meeting closed with the national Anthem and luncheon was served by the committee in charge assisted by the hostess.
