Concert Ass'n Campaign Dinner Held Last Night

Miss Greta Skoog, field representative of the Community Concert Association was the guest speaker at a campaign dinner at Howard's Restaurant in Summerside last evening, attended by upwards of 100 persons from Summerside, Kensington, Tyne Valley and O'Leary areas. The dinner was presided over by Group Captain A. G. Kenyon, commanding officer of R.C.A.F. Station Summerside and president of the Summerside Community Concert Association who produced the Miss Skoog.

Outlining the role played by Community Concert Associations and the cultural benefits derived through membership participation, Miss Skoog pointed out the material advantages (1) to the various committees who through membership are permitted to hear and see top notch artists in many fields of music from several countries; and (2) to the various artists who make possible an international exchange of music talent, and who through the existence of community concert associations are given an opportunity to further their careers.

Miss Skoog said there are now 1035 cities in Canada, United States and Mexico which enjoy the benefits of Community Concert Association. She said that the two most common questions put to campaign workers by prospective members are (1) what artists will be presented? and (2) why is admission to concerts by membership only and not by single tickets at the door? In answer to this Miss Skoog pointed out that artists are booked and concerts arranged for local presentation on the basis of the number of memberships sold at $5.00 for adults and $2.50 for students. She said that at least three concerts will be presented at King Walter by the membership at Summerside of 700 members during the presentation of four fine programmes.

In answer to the second question most commonly asked she said that admissions could not be purchased at the door on the night of the concert because it would be unfair to the members who had paid in advance and who might be deprived of the opportunity of seating accommodation. Referring to the wonderful talent of the various artists she said that artistry is international and belongs to everyone as was demonstrated by the artists from the several countries who were on the lists of the booking association.

Miss Skoog, a mezzo soprano artist in her own right, at the conclusion of her talk delighted the gathering with the presentation of four solos: "Gia Il Sole Dal Gange" (Italian) by A. Scarlati; "Vergebliches Standohen" (German) by Grahms; "The Yagabond King Waltz" by Friml; and "When I No More Behold Thee" by Alice Ann Scott.

Her accompanist was Mr. Gabriel Chiasone, music instructor at Summerside High School.

Miss Skoog will be present at the temporary headquarters of the local association at Brace MacKay Ltd. Wednesday night, to comment on the results of the membership drive throughout the week.

Group Captain Kenyon, before calling on the guest speaker, introduced Mrs. Muriel MacArthur who outlined to the workers their special duties in connection with the membership campaign being conducted this week and both sides of Group Captain Kenyon stressed the importance of making interim reports before Thursday, and of the absolute necessity of completing the returns by Saturday.

Mayor Henry W. Wedge was present and congratulated the group on its success of last year. He added a word of comment to the effect that the local membership of 700 included 100 students, and he emphasized that the cultural value of these concerts should be encouragement to workers to increase still further the numbers of tickets sales to these younger members.

At the conclusion of the dinner Miss Skoog presented a check for $100.00 to the local membership drive. The Association, expressed appreciation to Group Captain Kenyon for his work in connection with the local Community Concert Association, and expressed the association's regret at his forthcoming transfer from Summerside. —S

He said the 10 directors voted for this step, "we are not happy about it but the situation has been imposed on us."

Investigational work is done on blueberry culture. The spray calendar and it was also discussed a new spray calendar for Tree Fruits. Small Fruits and Vegetables should be prepared.

Soils and Crops

The Soils and Crops Committee report was presented by R. L. Boewall, and they recommended that the Silage Committee continue its survey that was started in the previous year. The Committee agreed that extension workers impress upon the farmer the need for a revision in their fertilizing program with the idea of more fertilizer being applied to grain, hay and pastures, and also condemned the practise of burning straw and other organic residues. It was decided that the Agricultural Council appoint a committee to study the importance and extent of minor element deficiencies in Prince Edward soils.

The Seeds and Weeds Report was presented by J. D. E. Sterling, and they recommended that the Provincial Department of Agriculture make every effort to have the Director appointed by them attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association. They also commended the Provincial Department of Agriculture for its policy and financial assistance to farmers using 24-D sprays for weed control, and felt that demonstration plots should be established throughout the Province, showing the control of wild radish by the use of 24-D sprays. It was also recommended that the Superintendent of the Experimental Station be requested to investigate control measures used in other provinces and to determine their applicability in the Province for the control of other weeds.

Potato Industry

The Potato Committee Report was very comprehensive and was presented by L. C. Calbeck. This Committee approved the continuance of the Potato Growers' Bulletin as a very valuable service as it kept the growers informed on disease and insect problems during the growing season. It was recommended that legislation be enacted in the Province whereby all trucks and loaders engaged in the handling and transporting of potatoes for export be licensed, as it was felt that there are many irregularities in the handling of potatoes and some control of this kind was necessary. It was stated during the discussion that there is a possibility that all potato fields in the Province would be inspected to determine the incidence of disease, and in this connection it was recommended that all tablestock growers plant Certified Seed or better. A committee was appointed to study the advisability of preparing a bulletin dealing with the various aspects of potato culture, as it is felt that this need a bulletin of this type in the Province.

Considerable discussion took place regarding a plan to improve seed potato stock in the Province, and the need of establishing a number of seed stock farms with selected growers who would enter into a contract to produce high quality seed of specified varieties was stressed.

Adequate inspection to ensure that no second-hand bags enter the Province for the handling of potatoes was approved. The report of the Junior Activities and Women's Work Committee was presented by Miss Mary Robin, and this Committee recommends the establishing of Potato Clubs in the Province, and that more encouragement be given to local club leaders. This committee also recommended that demonstration plots be available at the District Conventions of Women's Institutes and at Illustration Station Field Days on the preparation and use of broiler chickens in the home.

Livestock

The Livestock Committee Report was presented by S. D. Peacock, and the committee advised continued publicity regarding vaccinating calves against Bang's Disease and cattle against Blackleg. They also asked that some experiments be conducted in regard to the raising of calves without the use of milk and also with a reduced use of milk. This committee commended the work of the Farm Radio Forum and advised that Council members offer their services at meetings. It was further suggested that a committee be set up to study the prevalence of sterility in cattle, and that this committee should report back to the Livestock Committee. It was also suggested that the Council, due to the reduction in farm incomes and the necessity of greater attention to lowering the cost of production, direct the attention of the producers to the valuable savings that may be made by the use of home-grown grains, and if necessary demands the purchase of protein supplements and other feeds, by buying co-operatively. It was also recommended that the Council provide complete information in order that feeds of various protein levels may be prepared at the farm.

In the Report of the Poultry Committee, submitted by C. S. Soranton, it was recommended that the Conference should give serious thought to the matter of having this Province declared an "Inspection Area" so that all eggs exported would be subject to inspection prior to sale. This Committee decried the fact that there is an excessive number of egg-grading stations in operation at the present time, and felt that some control should be exercised so that a greater number of stations than would be necessary to efficiently

BIG FEED

MONTREAL, (CP)—A deep apple pie four feet in diameter yielded more than 600 generous slices at a party in the Pointe St. Charles boys' and girls' club. The monster pie included 520 apples, 20 pounds of sugar, 10 pounds of shortening and seven pounds of flour.

CAPETOWN, (CP)—Recommendation that nobody should be allowed to apply for divorce within three years after marriage is one of several changes in divorce laws advocated by a joint committee of Protestant churches. Most divorces in South Africa are granted on grounds of desertion and cruelty.

Bone Specialists Favor Shoes With Gear Shift

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE CLEVELAND, (AP)—Shoes equipped with a kind of automatic gear shift are one way to give us happier feet, two bone specialists suggested Monday.

The idea is to put into shoes movable joints which will automatically adjust to the shifting of bone and muscle "gears" when we walk or stand.

From a scientific study of feet and shoes, this is one of several changes proposed by Drs. Harry C. Stein and I. E. Fixel, orthopedic surgeons from New York City.

They find eight major defects in the engineering of conventional shoes and propose the changes "to make our feet the boss of our shoes, instead of our shoes bossing our feet."

They described their study in an exhibit before the American Academy of General Practice meeting here.

"We're becoming a nation of foot cripples with aching feet, bunions and other troubles largely because shoes aren't best engineered for our feet," they said.

When we stand, we use one set of bone gears, the exhibit explains. When we walk, we switch to a different set of gears or set of bones and muscles.

Joints Designed

Shoes having a rigid shank of sole don't permit an easy switch of gears, Drs. Stein and Fixel hold. So joints were designed in the shank reinforcement which permit the shoe to follow the natural gear action of walking.

Another change is to offset the heel section of the shoe to one side so the weight-bearing motion is directed toward the ball of the foot. Natural walking motion starts from the heel, goes along the outer side of the foot, then across to the ball of the big toe, with the big toe giving the final take-off push, the surgeons said.

Shoes which put the heel more in a line with the little toe than the big toe make the push-off force for a step come more from the outer side of the foot than the inner side, they said.

They added that shoes often are designed as though the big toe were in the centre of the foot, and this throws the walking action inward, curving the big toe inward.

Another proposal is to put a movable centre in the rubber heel itself, so that when the heel first strikes the ground, the rubber heel bends to provide a rolling, rocker action.

These research findings have not yet been adapted to other than experimental shoes.

Marketing Problems

The Report of the Marketing Committee was presented by F. M. Nash, and this committee spent considerable time discussing the grading and marketing of eggs. It was recommended that the whole system of egg and poultry marketing be investigated, and that a centralized system of grading and marketing of poultry be established. They also recommended more centralized grading of potatoes and turnips in order to get uniformity in grade.

It was also urged that the principles in the Co-operative Association Act be more fully brought to the attention of our people in order that a more thorough study, understanding and use of this Act be promoted.

Return From G.O.C. Course

Messrs. Peter Pate, of O'Leary; Ivan Vaughan, of Summerside; and Percy Noye, of Hunter River—three regional supervisors of the Ground Observer Corps in P.E.I.—returned yesterday after attending a three-day course at the Ground Observer Corps filter centre in Truro, N.S., after successful completion of the course, climaxed by a ceremony in which they were awarded "wings" denoting full qualification in their important role in the RCAF Ground Observer Corps.

Commenting on their observations and impressions of the work for which this corps is responsible, the three men stressed the fact of being made vividly aware that the civilian population do not realize the importance of the whole program and of the vital role placed on observers in P. E. I. due to the geographical position of this province.

Emphasizing the importance placed on this phase of civil defence they drew attention to the fact that posts in many parts of the United States are now being manned by volunteers on an around-the-clock basis.

They said that the local program will be stepped up to a point where it could also be maintained on a 24-hour-per-day basis if or when required.

An exercise will be conducted in May in which posts in P.E.I. and N.S. will be manned for a 24-hour period and various types of RCAF aircraft will be sent over to enable workers at the various posts to familiarize themselves with the methods of procedure and practice in reporting aircraft to the filter centre at Truro. So well is the whole program co-ordinated that aircraft can be dispatched to intercept "enemy" aircraft within two minutes of a report having been received from an observation post anywhere in P.E.I.

These reports would be extremely vital to the defence of large centres in the event of an attempted aggression on Canada or United States.—S.

Tunney Suggests Cockell, Earl Walls Bout

TORONTO, (CP)—Frank Tunney, Toronto boxing promoter, cabled London Monday suggesting Don Cockell, British Empire heavyweight champion, defend his title in Toronto against Earl Walls, Canadian champion now ranked seventh among world heavyweights.

Cockell is scheduled to fight Roland La Starza, ranking American heavyweight, in London March 30. The Tunney offer would hinge on a Cockell victory.

In London it was reported Walls' British representative had received "a good offer from a syndicate" for the Canadian fighter to meet the winner of the La Starza-Cockell contest in London's 18,000-seat Earl's Court Arena.

Highest waterfall in the United Kingdom is the 370-foot Glimac waterfall in Ross-Shire, Scotland.

Opening Proceedings

Honorable C. C. Baker, Minister of Agriculture, officially opened the Conference and welcomed those in attendance. The Minister expressed the hope that everyone would enter into the discussions and that the different problems confronting agriculture would receive consideration.

The proceedings on the opening day centered around Departmental Divisional reports which covered new work undertaken during the year. Excellent papers were prepared by each group and these were commented upon briefly by a member of the Department or Division concerned.

The highlight of the opening meeting was a paper entitled: "Whither Goest Thou, Agriculture?" presented by W. R. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Agriculture. This was a very comprehensive review of agricultural conditions both past and present and provided the basis for discussion by the different committees that function as part of the Council.

J. E. MacIntyre, Agricultural Agent, C.N.R., Moncton, in a short address presented figures covering the import and export of agricultural commodities and answered questions relating to transportation problems.

Education Week In Tignish

Education Week was duly observed with a well planned educational program which interested all. On Monday the school children were informed of the education week broadcasts which were to be on the radio from Charlottetown.

All classes competed in a special poster contest. During the week posters were made by the pupils and a prize was awarded to the best one.

Two afternoons were set aside for Parents' Days. A large number of interested parents visited the classes and saw the pupils at work. Some classes entertained the parents with singing, choral and oral reading, others with physical drill and arithmetic, others had spelling and geography matches. All parents were most pleased with the excellent work done in the school.

On Thursday evening a Home and School meeting was held at the Parish Hall during which a special program, planned by the Executive was presented.

The meeting, called to order by the chairman, Mr. Alfred Handrahan, opened with prayer.

The first number on the program was a play titled "Higher Education" presented by the pupils of Grade IX. Gerald McCarthy, who took the part of Mr. Smith didn't believe in higher education until Sonny Allan Doucette, who had worked so well during the school year, showed so much happiness the day of his graduation.

The posters, drawn expressly for this competition, were on display in the hall during the meeting. The members of the Poster Committee, Mrs. J. A. McDonald, Mrs. Arthur McRae and Miss Priscilla Gavlin judged the posters. Their decision was in favour of No. 3 with 97 marks. The posters, having been made by Gerald DesRoches of Grade VII. Honorable mention went to John Richard and Leonard Gallant of Grade VII-VIII and to Reginald Porter of Grade IV for the posters they had prepared for their classes.

The third number was a debate by the pupils of Grade XI who took as their topic: "Resolved that reading is more advantageous for the furtherance of one's education than study groups." Those taking part were: Thelma DesRoches, chairman; Pro: Edward Bernard (Captain), Marie Chaleson and Freda Hogan. Con: Alban Arsenault, (Captain), Jean Skerry and Jean Gaudet. The judges were: Mrs. Eugene Perry, Mr. Gerald Handrahan and Mr. Wilson Shaw. After the students had spoken for five minutes and the captains were each given five extra minutes rebuttal, the judges were called forward to give their decision. Victory went to the Negative side who were in favour of study groups. One point that the winning Captain, Alban Arsenault, brought out to the audience was that Tignish would not be what it is today if it hadn't been for study groups.

He stated, "If study groups had not been organized in Tignish, we would today have no Co-op, no drug store, no potato warehouse, no cheese factory, no sawmill and we would probably have no doctor." This debate was very well carried out, those partaking in it having the keen interest of the audience till the judges came forth with their decision.

Reverend Father Emmanuel Richard of Palmer Road, guest speaker of the evening, was introduced to the audience. Speaking on Education in the home, he said that children begin their education long before they start school. He also stated that as soon as children are able to imitate their education begins and from then till they start school their chief educators are their parents. He stressed the fact that to have education there must be unity among the church, the home and the school. He explained the reasons why one must say that education is everybody's business.

Reverend Father J. A. McDonald, next speaker, complimented the pupils who presented the play, offered his congratulations to the debaters, and favorably commented on the guest speakers' address.

A vote of thanks was presented to Reverend Father Richard for his fine address by the chairman. The motion was made by Mrs. Eugene Perry.

Preacher Roe To Lay Off Pitching

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Preacher Roe, Brooklyn left-hander who was routed by New York Yankees Saturday, says he won't pitch any more spring games until he "feels ready."

"That was the worst spring I ever took," he said Sunday. "No matter what I did the ball wouldn't do what I wanted. I'm always a slow starter in the spring and this year maybe I was too eager for an old fellow like me."

Roe, listed at 36 in the Brooklyn roster, said he would pitch betting practice every day for a week "and see whether I feel strong again."
