Premier Leslie Frost and Mrs. Frost greet the Maritimes' observer, Gerald Foster, centre, of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, at the Young Progressive Conservative Association convention held at Aero Lodge, Gravenhurst, (July 31-August 4).

Roger Whynott Wins Close Decision Over Poulton At S'side

Roger Whynott (148), of Mahone Bay, N. S., former middleweight champion of Canada, won a very close split decision from Harry (Kid) Poulton (145) of Charlottetown, Island welterweight champ, in their ten-round bout at the Curran & Briggs ball park last night. The fight did not produce the rugged belting of the semi-final bout and the crowd shouted their displeasure at intervals during the fight.

Island champion weathered the storm and came on to hold Steele even in the second and third rounds and take command of the fight in the remaining frames. Lund floored Steele for a nine-count just before the bell in the third round and that was the only real knockdown of the fight, though Steele slipped once after that but bounced up without a count. Steele, though plainly tiring in the final rounds, never stopped throwing punches and made a routing battle of it until the final bell.

Duck Trainor of Charlottetown won a close decision (28-24) from Tiger Ferguson of Summerside in their four-rounder. Trainor forced the fighting in the first three rounds, and though Ferry came back strong in the final frame it was too late to make up the difference in points. Trainor's longer reach gave him all the better of the long-range fighting but when the boys decided to stand toe to toe and slug it out there was little to choose between them.

Royce Durant of Summerside (128) won a split decision from Kid Connelly (125) of Charlottetown. Durant landed the more effective blows and got the nod from two of the judges. Allison Arsenault and Mark Delaney opened the card with a four-rounder. Delaney had the better part of the exchanges in the early part of the fight but was plainly not in shape and Arsenault caught up to him as the fight progressed. Delaney was unable to continue in the final round, so Arsenault won on a technical knock-out.

The officials were as follows: Referee: (Prelims) "Big Boy" Peterson; semi-final and final: George Stewart. Judges: F. O. Palmer, Don Baker, Ernest MacQuarrie. Timers: Jim Hogan, Gus MacDonald. Announcer: Roland Phillipson.

Musial Ousts Robinson For Batting Lead

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Jackie Robinson's slump has cost him the National League batting lead. While the Brooklyn second baseman last week dropped 10 points to 360, Stan Musial of St. Louis edged out front with a 361 average.

Robinson collected only five hits in 23 trips, a .209 average, during the week. Musial banged out 11 hits in 30 times at bats, about par for Stan. All averages includes Sunday's games. Enos Slaughter, Musial's Cardinal team-mate, maintained his steady pace to hold third place today. Director of education for Lanarkshire since 1944, his early career brought him in close contact with educational organizations in Quebec.
