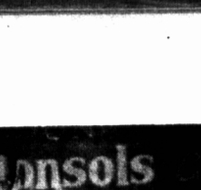
DOWN THE BACK STRETCH



The well known driver Donald Rankin of North West Arm, Cape Breton, has purchased the bay stallion Price Tag 2.05 on a mile track, 2.06 4-5 on a half mile track. He was bought at the Delaware, Ohio, sale by Lloyd MacAulay and has been re-sold to Mr. Rankin. Price Tag is by Scotland 1.59¼, one of the world's greatest sires and his dam is May Tag 2. 2.05¾, dam of Tag Me 2.00 3-5, General Electric 2.05 3-5 and several others with records better than 2.10. May Tag is by Volomite 2.03¼. Price Tag is a horse with a lot of speed and ambition and in the right hands should pace any track in the Maritimes in 2.10 or better. In 1954 he was 5 times first, 5 times second and 3 times third and his total winnings at the end of the season were $3,935. We understand that he was tried out on the trot last year but we have no record of his winnings at that gait. Anyhow, the versatile Donald is putting him back on the pace and if all goes well he will make it quite interesting for the other drivers in Cape Breton. In addition to Price Tag the Rankin Stable has Jimmy Counsel 2.04 4-5, Connally 2.10 2-5, Gary D. 2.15 3-5 and that game little trotter Celia Sharon 2.15.

In the rush of compiling our Review at Christmas we overlooked some cards received. Among them was one from our good friend and helper with this column, Cecil McGinley of Houlton, Maine. It has a picture of the seven months old filly Marylin Hal. She seems large for her age and is standing proudly beside her dam, Sudden Mary 2.11 1-5. Marylin's sire is N. D. Hal 3, 2.05, record taken over a half mile track, with earnings of $25,940.79. Sudden Mary was a good race mare both in the Maritimes and Maine a few years ago and although purses were small she ended her career with earnings of $5,448.50. Her dam was Mary Dale 2nd, 2.06¼ and she is the dam of Quick Chief 3, 2.00 1-5 h.m.t., whose earnings at the end of the past season totalled $121,565.

He with Billy Haughton up was the winner of the Little Brown Jug, largest pacing stake, which was shown at Prince of Wales College last Tuesday night. Mary Dale was also the dam of three others that took records from 2.0 2-5 to 2.05. We congratulate Mr. McGinley on possessing such a wonderfully bred brood mare and also on the future racing prospects of Marylin Hal.

At this time of year it isn't easy to have harness horse items that interest our public so we have delved back into the past and from our reserve stock have picked out The Gist and Jest of it, by the one and only Elmer W. Ferguson, written by him when he was sports columnist of the Montreal Herald. Mr. Austin Charters must have got rather mixed up in his geography as there never was a $2,500 Free For All at Charlottetown and Grandma never raced in a Free For All of any kind at Charlottetown. She was a good mare in her class but it was a slower category.

THOROUGHBREDS

"Grandma Was Just An Old Lush -- Austin Charters, who emerged from last night's stormy meeting of the newly-formed Quebec Breeders, Owners and Trainers Association still holding the position of president, wasn't always in the business of racing thoroughbred horses. Austin Charters comes from Chartersville near Moncton, N. B., in a province, or collection of provinces known as the Maritimes, where running horses are practically unknown and harness horse racing is religion. Trotters and pacers are paramount, in the equine division of sport down that way. Running horses have been a dismal failure in the Maritimes, possibly the only spot on the continent where the runner has never superceded the trotter or pacer.

"Some years ago, fulfilling the ambition of every good Maritimer, Austin Charters bought some harness horses, establishing his own modest stable. The prices of the horses ranged up to $2,500., and to complete the deal, he purchased an 11-year-old mare named Grandma, for $400. Grandma had been a pretty fair winner, in her day. She could knock off a fast mile, when she was in the mood. And the only thing that could get dissolute old Grandma in the mood was whiskey, or some such alcoholic beverage. For Grandma was an old lush. If she didn't have a pint or so of whiskey warming her innards. Grandma got sulky, and wouldn't extend herself.

"With the help of a few shots of the crater, Grandma won some races in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Then she was taken over to Charlottetown, the capital of Prince Edward Island, a picturesque province completely surrounded by water, but very dry otherwise. It is the last out-post of complete prohibition in these Dominions, a place where it is practically impossible to get a drink, unless you know a doctor with an unused perscription. (You're telling me.) There was a $2,500 free-for-all at Charlottetown, and, in the first heat the indifferent Grandma raced a deplorable last.

"A couple of sharp-shooters of that picturesque old city had wagered on her at attractive odds. When she failed to raise any speed at all in the first heat, these city slickers came around to the Charters barns and wanted to know what had happened to Grandma, why she did not trot any faster. 'Grandma' said owner Charters, 'isn't trotting any faster, because she is mad at everybody. Grandma, in brief, has no liquor. She won't extend herself without her whiskey, and, in Charlottetown, I can't get any whiskey. This town is drier than the Sahara desert."

"'Would she go for a spot of rum?" enquired one of the operators. 'I have some rum in my car, the old black-strap, one shot of which will raise hair on a bald-headed man.' 'Grandma' said Mr. Charters, "is not one to pick and choose. Grandma is a sport. She will drink anything. Bring on the rum.' They brought on the rum, and Grandma guzzled a pint of 165 over-proof without batting an eye, though Mr. Charters insists she winked at him, a bit unsteadily, after guzzling the swig. She went out, won the next heat in a romp, took another slug of black-strap, won the deciding heat handily, and the $2,500 purse. After that, she won $25,000 in all, in purses, against which had to be written off a few gallons of whiskey, although every time they gave Grandma whiskey, she cocked an enquiring eye, as if to ask: 'What! No more of that good rum?' "

I have received so many requests lately for a column devoted to a goose hunt it was my intention to dish one out this week. However it will have to wait for another Saturday morning. Incidents cropped up that demanded immediate attention. Tramping through the snow during the day is a wonderful sleep contributer and driving a car over winter roads has the same tendency. After supper when I stretch out with a book or magazine in 10 or 15 minutes these's at least two sandmen tugging on each eye lid. I give up after a very brief struggle. I have already been dubbed with the monicker: "The horizontal game warden" ..on the home front that is.

SEASON CLOSES

The rabbit season closed last Tuesday (January 31) but Nature decided to close it the night of the thirtieth. It was the best rabbit season for years. I'd say off hand that rabbits were never so plentiful for 12 or 15 years. Eastern Kings county, formerly the home of rabbits, was almost barren of this game animal for a number of years. Two years ago they commenced a come-back and really went over the top this past season. Their periodic cycle may have had something to do with their scarcity but I have my own doubts. The tendency is for birds or animals, subject to cycles (rabbits and ruffed grouse for instance) to make a swift comeback. They don't linger along for years to get back into production.

The war on predators, particularly the red fox, could be paying dividends. The fox is one of the natural enemies of the rabbit clan and is beginning to show the effects of pressure from the $3.00 bounty on his scalp. During my journeyings over the countryside this winter I estimate I have observed only one fox track for every three I have spotted in former winters. The white speedsters of the swamp runways has been under heavy hunting pressure from the human element and was hard pressed by the pincer movement from Brer Fox and homo sapiens (mere man). It could be with predator pressure lessened rabbit hunting will continue to improve.

Our cousins across the border sure clamp down on predation by the human element. This week I was handed a photo taken from the Bangor Daily News under date of December 15th, 1955. Beneath was the caption: "Illegal Deer Haul —An Anson map was sentenced to 150 days in jail and as-

Aces To Lodge Protest

Youth Club Shades S'side 5—4

A Rousing Battle Before Big Crowd

The B.Y.C. Hockey Club from Charlottetown edged the Summerside Aces at Civic Stadium last night before over 1,000 spectators. The final score was 5-4. The Aces, though on the short end of a tight score again, showed a complete reversal of form from their feeble efforts of the night before in Charlottetown, and played a hustling brand of hockey which was matched by the Youth clubbers, resulting in a rousing battle, particularly in the final two periods.

Lewis and Weatherbie each got a brace of goals for the winners. No Ace sniper got more than one, but McArthur picked up three assists on well-engineered plays, gaining him the judges' nod for the Holman Men's Wear "most valuable player" award.

The first period was all B.Y.C., the frame ending with the visitors in front by a 3-0 score. Wallie Shepherd notched the first tally on a lateral shot from the right wing when he was almost level with the net. Lewis got the second, taking a pass from Wallie while he was parked directly in front of the cage, and Weatherbie sank the third as Ready, MacDonald and he broke fast from a spirited ganging attack staged by the Aces.

The teams scored a goal apiece in the sandwich session, during which the Aces were playing shorthanded for almost six consecutive minutes, having run into a trio of penalties before the half-way mark While McArthur was off Edgar Taylor found the upper right corner behind Simmonds after a dazzling display of stick handling that carried through the B.Y.C. defender to the edge of Simmonds' crease.

The B.Y.C. scored their disputed tally. Ready was tripped by Reeves as he was going over the blueline. He got the puck over to Weatherbie, and while Kelly was signalling a delayed penalty to Reeves, shot at Gamble. The puck allegedly hit hit Gamble's pads, and Kelly, not knowing it had subsequently entered the net, blew his whistle to end the play. The light did not go on and the goal judge was not consulted, but Whelan ruled a goal, and Reeves was released from the penalty box.

The Aces fought hard in the final frame in a continuous up-hill struggle. Harris and MacLeod worked a nice forward pass play, Vance doing the sniping job at goal mouth. McArthur's pass to Cutcliffe for the second counter of the period made the score read 4-3. B.Y.C. drew away again when Lewis and Wallie Shepherd's combined beautifully again, Lewis blinking the light. With seconds to go, McArthur swept across the blueline and slipped a pass to Saunders who scored the final goal with a second to go.

Line-ups:

B.Y.C.--Goal-Simmonds, Defence, F. Shepherd, J. Ready, F. Smith, S. MacLure. Forwards - L. Shepherd, H. Simmonds, J. Burke, J. Weatherbie, S. MacDonald, B. Wilson, C. MacDonald, B. Lewis, W. Shepherd.

Saints Looking For 4th Win Against St. Thomas Tonight

The St. Thomas University Tommies will be in Charlottetown tonight to take on St. Dunstan's University in their second meeting of the N.B.-P.E.I. Intercollegiate League.

S. D. U. has run up three straight wins in the league to date and will be looking to make it four in a row tonight at the Sports Arena. Thus far S.D.U. holds a 4-1 win over Mount A, a 3-1 decision over the Tommies and handed UNB a 7-0 shellacking at Fredericton last Saturday.

Following tonight's game the Saints will have only two left to play so that a victory for them will give them a stranglehold on the N.B.-P.E.I. title.

St. Thomas however, is not to to underrated. They gave the Saints their hardest battle since the league began before the Saints copped the 3-1 win last Friday. It was even a closer game than the score indicated for one of the counters was scored on the open Tommie net in the last couple of minutes of play.

The Saints were a going concern previous to their setback at the hands of the Parkdale Flyers Tuesday night. They had racked up 5 straight wins in Island League and intercollegiate play and will be looking to start another streak tonight.

The Saints will lineup like this: Goal, Gillis, Shepherd defense, M. MacDonald, L. MacDonald, Mullins, Hache forwards, J. MacDonald, E. MacDonald, Davey, Roy, Veilleux, Limeaux Gionet, Burns, MacInnis.

WENDALL (GUMP) GILLIS TROTTERS ACE

Two Hoop Games At PWC Tonight

In City League basketball play tonight at P.W.C. auditorium the Atoms will be looking for their second win when they take on the Welshmen and the Aces match their strength with the undefeated Trotters.

The Atoms hold their only victory over P.W.C. That was a thrilling 49-48 squeaker they scored in their initial start in the league. The Welshmen are still looking for their first win, having had unsuccessful tries at all three teams.

The Trotters have been rolling along at a great clip. Sometimes they win by doubling the score on their opponents and other times they only wobble through. But they always win. They have run through 5 game without a loss but Aces' coach Lorne MacGuigan, the League's highest scorer - is confident that the underdog Aces can take their measure.

The Atoms-P.W.C. game starts at 6.45 and the second encounter gets underway at 8.15.

This is how they stand now:

	P	W	L	F	A	pts
Trotters	5	5	0	265	210	10
Aces	5	3	2	283	212	6
Atoms	3	1	2	144	177	2

Tommy Jackson Decisions Baker

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricane Tommy Jackson swarmed over bulky Bob Baker in the middle rounds of a hotly contested scrap between high - ranking heavyweights Friday to win a split decision in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden. Baker weighed 214¼, Jackson 194½.

Fighting in spurts in his unorthodox style, Jackson carried the battle to his heavier opponent most of the time. The crowd of about 4,300 cheered and jeered as the Hurricane man from New York's Far Rockaway jigged in his corner, did body bends and cut loose his famous "double uppercut."

In the early rounds of the nationally-televised fight it looked like a walk-in for Baker, ranked No. 2 among the heavyweight contenders by Ring Magazine and No. 1 by the National Boxing Association.

But as the bout wore on, Jackson turned to his old swarming tricks, chasing Baker with his slapping jab and driving home telling right-hand punches.

The ninth round was one of the best of the fight with Baker getting off to a wide early lead but fading under Jackson's awkward, but effective, bursts. Baker was landing the heavier punches but not often enough.

Baker pulled out the 10th round on all official cards, whaling away at the body with his left hook and driving his right to the chin.

Referee Harry Kessler and Judge Jack Gordon scored the bout for Jackson 5-4-1 and Judge Joe Agnello had it even in rounds 5-5 and points 5-5. The Associated Press had Baker on top 5-4-1 by the margin of the final round. A quick ringside poll of 15 writers showed a 9-5 edge for Jackson with one calling it a draw.

Prince Co. Sport Echoes

"It Was A Tough Fight, Pop, But We Won." Dave

The Summerside schoolboy curlers did it at last and this time there'll be no complications. The rink skipped by David Silliphant came through the tournament without a defeat, and will represent the Island against other provincial champions in Fort William the third week in February.

Young Silliphant has proved himself a cool-headed skip who seems at his best when the pressure is high. David's father, Ralph, was a member of that de luxe hockey forward line of Gallant, Schurman and Silliphant. His mother, was a star of the old Crystal Sisters, who were Maritime hockey champs for a number of years, and played a game against the Preston Rivulettes, Dominion lady hockey champs. Preston won 5-2, and we can still remember what a thrilling game that was. David is a pretty fair hockey player himself, but his forte seems to be in the realm of curling.

Stan Gay, the mate of the new Island champions, is a member of a well-known sports family in Summerside. His brother Garth was one of the best defencemen developed in Summerside, and another brother Bobby was a better than average hockey player. Stan himself is one of the best bowlers in Summerside.

Art Morrison, the second stone of the champs, sticks pretty strictly to curling and was on the Summerside team that gave such a good account of themselves last winter. Art takes his curling very seriously and gets in a lot of practice.

Don Coles, the lead of the Silliphant Rink, also gives the game of curling the most of his attention, as far as athletics are concerned. Don's father, Ambrose Coles, was a member of the famous Bisley team and is a crack shot, Ambrose never did any curling but if someone would stick that curling target up on end, he'd show you a trick or two.

The last Summerside schoolboy rink that won the Island championships was skipped by Alexander Campbell. That was four years ago and the boys won three games in the Dominion Bonspiel at Moncton, N.B. The other members of that team were Mate, Derwyn Huestis 2nd Stone, Wyman Millar; Lead, Clive MacDonald.
