Dear Editor,

When I walked into Robertson Library this year I was shocked. There on the floor was ugly carpet in weird shapes. Why? In the rest of the world, schools, hospitals and public buildings of all sorts have been viciously ripping up carpets. They have been diagnosed as the cause of many evils. Now that the library's air will be totally smoke free, why do they want to fill it with more chemical pollutants and allergens? I am sensitive to such things and I fear entering the library. I hope they enjoy the carpet. I am afraid -- very afraid

Dear Editor,

It has recently come to my attention that some individuals hold more than one job on campus. In my opinion it seems unfair that students can hold two or more different student positions on campus, ie. lab assistants. Is there a personnel hiring policy regarding students holding more than one job on campus? If not, maybe there should be. It would seem that some qualified students are being denied positions because another student has been awarded two jobs.

Why should students hold more than one position on campus? Aren't we all in need of money? Perhaps it could be argued that UPEI has a shortage of qualified students for these jobs, but in reality it would seem that the campus has plenty of qualified students.

There is also a concern regarding departmental procedure on hiring. A department should not hire on the basis of whoever happened to get their name into the chair of the department first. This has been known to happen in the past.

I would love a response from anyone regarding this issue. Please send your response and comments to the student newspaper in the form of a letter to the editor.

Sincerely,
An Unemployed Student
