Senate Runs Out Of Work

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate ran out of things to do Wednesday and government leader John T. Haig said "I give up."

Five minutes earlier the Senate had convened, anticipating a debate on a private motion urging expansion of Canadian educational facilities. The motion is the only business before the House.

However, the debate was postponed by the anticipated speaker, Senator Vincent Dupuis (L-Quebec).

There was dead silence until Senator Haig said "with much regret I move the adjournment of the House."

Opposition leader W. Ross Macdonald asked what would be done tomorrow. Or next week, added Senator William Euler (L-Ontario).

"I have not any idea," said Senator Haig. "There may be two or three bills tomorrow; there may be none for two or three days. I give up."

The Senate, with nothing to do until the Commons passes more legislation, adjourned until today on the chance this will happen or that someone will speak on the education motion.

N. Y. Stock Prices Slipped Unexpectedly During Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market retreated last week and it wasn't exactly what Wall Street anticipated.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined $2.30 to $156.70.

This wasn't a bad drop, but it occurred in a week when stock market analysts expected a considerable amount of bullish stimulation out of Washington.

The Wall Streeters looked to the newly convened Congress and President Eisenhower's "state of the union" message to provide an abrupt change in the recession-talk psychology which has dominated security prices for quite a spell.

SHORT-LIVED GAINS

Some stimulation did, indeed, come from capital but it was short-lived. In five days of trading the market was ahead on average only one day. It declined on the other days and the last trading session brought the worst drop of all.

Tuesday brought the week's only rise and it was a good one—roughly equivalent to the amount of the Friday drop.

When Eisenhower's state of the union address was delivered Thursday, however, there was a distinct let-down in Wall Street. The market declined that day and kept right on dropping until the Friday close.

Active Canadian issues on the

U. S. Production Of Steel Down

CLEVELAND (AP)—Output of steel for ingots during the last week was nearly 1,000,000 tons, or almost 40 per cent less than a year ago, Steel magazine reports today.

The rate of production was up five points from the previous week to 60 per cent of the Jan. 1, 1957, capacity. In tonnage the output for the week was 1,335,700 net tons.

The weekly metal-working journal says its composite price on steel-making scrap had risen 16 cents a gross ton in the week to Jan. 8. That made a composite price of $33.3 a ton, up $1.33 from the 1957 low point recorded Dec. 11.

The upturn in scrap prices was welcomed because steel said, "many look upon scrap—an important raw material in steelmaking—as a barometer of steel production."

IN MEMORIAM

CHESTER A. MacPHAIL

On the afternoon of November 6th, 1957, the relatives and friends were shocked to learn of the tragic death of Chester Alexander MacPhail, which took place in the Standard Clay Plant at New Glasgow, N.S., where he had been an employee for the past twelve years.

He was forty-four years of age and was born in Providence, R.I., the eldest son of the late Malcolm and Elizabeth MacPhail, of Argyle Shore. Here he attended school and later engaged in farming. When the call came to serve king and country he enlisted in the armed services, on his return he went to New Glasgow where he remained until his death.

Chester was highly esteemed by his fellow workers and friends which was evidenced by the number who were in attendance at the funeral service, from New Glasgow.

The funeral service was held at the Cutcliffe funeral home, and was very largely attended. Rev. R. Christie, church of Scotland, assisted by Rev. R.A. Patterson, United Church, Cornwall, conducted the service.

The Cornwall United Church choir under the direction of Dr. Peter MacDonald led in the singing of the hymns, "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Abide With Me". Mr. Stephen MacLeod, Bonshaw, sang as a solo "Will the Circle Be Unbroken".

He married the former Maude Oakes and had two sons, Sheldon and Jack.
