Liquor Sale Question To Get Consideration

By DON McLEOD
Premier Walter R. Shaw Saturday declared "the whole question of liquor sales in the province is very much up in the air at the moment, and some measures will have to be taken to bring it down to earth".

He was not prepared to say just how far the government will move in regard to the liquor situation as the matter has not been discussed to any extent thus far.

The Premier stated that the problem of liquor sales is "definitely before the public" and there is a great deal of division of opinion as to what should be done. On this pesky question of alcohol, the government will have to consider very carefully any action taken, he said.

He suggested the government is looking for a "fair situation" as far as liquor is concerned, with the utmost protection for all our people, under laws that are reasonably fair to all.

FRIDAY'S PETITION
Premier Shaw indicated that the government will give consideration to a petition delivered Friday, which was signed by 40 restaurant, motel and hotel keepers in the province, asking that liquor laws be implemented to allow the serving of liquor, beer and wines in those types of establishments.

He pointed out, however, that the petition was "not officially presented to government. It was left on my desk and there was no opportunity for discussion."

Premier Shaw suggested the petition may have given the wrong impression when it said recommendations regarding liquor were recently given to the government by the P.E.I. Tourist Association. "I don't recall any recent recommendations," he said.

Relative Dies In Alberta

HALIFAX (CP) - The weather office says snow was falling over all of the Maritimes Sunday night except Northern New Brunswick. Strong winds created considerable drifting. Over 10 inches had fallen at Yarmouth, six inches at Halifax and the Annapolis Valley, and about three or four inches in southern New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

The snow was expected to be intermittent over the western regions near midnight, and taper off in all areas about dawn. The winds will remain strong during the early part of the day but begin to slacken late in the afternoon and evening.

With the storm moving rapidly eastward out to sea, Monday is expected to be sunny and colder in most parts of the Maritimes.

Reg'ed forecasts-

ending near dawn. Then sunny, drifting snow; a little colder; northerly winds 40 with gusts to 55 diminishing by evening to southwest 25. Low high at Halifax and Yarmouth 25 and 23; Kentville, New Glasgow, and Goshen 17 and 22, Charlottetown 15 and 20.

Alcoholics Clinic Urged In Address To Bureau

The ANNUAL meeting of the Catholic Social Welfare Bureau was held Sunday afternoon at the Baillie Recreation Centre, Show 17.

A clinic for alcoholics not connected with Riverside Hospital or any of the general hospitals was suggested in an address to the Catholic Social Welfare Bureau yesterday by Rev. Edward Boyce, C.S.R.

Father Boyce spoke on social behavior patterns and alcoholism in the Charlottetown areas. The meeting was held in the Knights of Columbus rooms in the Baillie Recreation Centre, presided by L.J. Butler, president.

Sister Mary Henry noted in her report that the city area suffers from poor employment which brings on poor housing conditions. Her report covered the activities of the bureau and its child welfare and nursing services. She also thanked the many volunteers who had aided the bureau during the year.

International Reading Ass'n Branch To Be Organized Here

For the purpose of organizing a local council of the International Reading Association, a meeting is to be held Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. in common room of Montgomery Hall.

Membership in the council is open to all those concerned in the teaching and improvement of reading in the Island schools, such as teachers and parents.

Dr. Harold M. Naon, director of elementary and secondary education, department of education, Nova Scotia, and director of I.R.A., will speak on the subject of today's reading needs being a language for teacher, parent and community and what I.R.A. is doing to help.

H. Elizabeth Orchard, supervisor of curriculum, Nova Scotia department of education, and a member of an active I.R.A. Council, will discuss the developing of a knowledge of words as a basis for independent reading being a task for teacher, parent and community.

Seated at the head table were Chairman Sidney Green with Mayor A. Walton Gaudet and Mrs. Gaudet, Commissioner Earl Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, and Mrs. Green. Commissioner Joseph McKenna and Mrs. McKenna were unavoidably absent. Mr. Green explained that Mr. McKenna had flown to Halifax earlier fully expecting to return in time. But a rented car he was using had broken down and he was unable to get back to Halifax airport in time to fly home for the function. Mr. McKenna telephoned during the evening to express his regrets.

THE AWARDS
The awards presented employees were for service over five years: 10 years, 15, 20, 30 and 45 years.

The first emblem was presented by Mr. Green to Miss Doris Gill with 46 years service on the office staff. The next went to Stanley Gaudet, inspector and former superintendent, with 34 years and to Fergus (Paddy) Connors for 28 years.

In the 15 years and over group were Gordon Moberg, 25; Leo Doyle, 17; Ivan Maund, 16; and Richard Ryan, Everett Toombs and Frank Blanch, all with 15 years.

The 10-year men were Frank Vanderstine, Mont Stewart and Alton Newman, all with 14 years service, and Edward Kelly with 11 years service.

John Bradley and Harold Ford, both with 9 years service, were recipients of the 5-year emblems.

Dinner music for the occasion was supplied by Royston Musford at the piano.

Belfast Area Has New Risk As Objective

A new risk for the Belfast area is the goal of an ambitious group of recreation-minded people from the Vernon to Wood Islands area, and possibly beyond those borders, it was learned following a meeting in the hall at Belfast several days ago.

Some 20 districts were represented at the meeting which was presided by Dr. John Gillis, M.P.

The centre the people have in view would provide for skating and such other indoor recreation as a gymnasium among other things.

A committee headed by Dr. Gillis will probe further action on the way toward the goal.
