A Hard Profession.

Old Dr. Johnson once said, addressing a class of medical students, that the study of medicine was a most arduous undertaking; that the most comprehensive mind and the most industrious student could scarcely do more than explore the portals to medical knowledge during the brief time allotted to study before commencing practice, but that throughout his whole life the responsibilities of his profession should rest upon him like a nightmare.

He should explore every avenue of natural knowledge, must become familiar with chemistry, natural philosophy and natural history, but, above all, he must learn the construction of his own frame, the means by which he lives, moves and has his being. He must understand the nature of all those influences by which health is broken down and restored, and by what means disease, suffering and death may be averted.

Dr. Johnson further says that nothing contributes so much to the support of quackery as the present insufficiency of medical knowledge. Men do not, he says, easily abandon hope but as readily put faith in ignorant pretenders as drowning men catch at straws.

"The good that men do in this life lives after them." During the life of old Dr. Johnson he invented what is known as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, a standard family remedy of surpassing merit. This liniment is both for the sick and the well, and it is safe to say that no single remedy ever discovered has done so much good as has this one. It is inexpensive, ready at a moment's notice night or day and may be used with absolute confidence in the thousand and one ailments that afflict humanity.

In the cure of severe cramps or pains in the stomach or bowels, dysentery, diarrhoea it is certainly worth its weight in gold. It has been known to cure cases from ten to fifteen years standing after the sufferers had been given up.

To harrow one's feelings is not the most profitable way of cultivating an acquaintance. A Simple Cure for Bad Breath. In our variable climate thousands suffer from catarrh in a mild or more acute form. The offensive breath, headache and nausea produced by this complaint are only a few of its evil results.

Rev. Ralph Brecken says: Having tried Puttner's Emulsion for coughs, influenza, etc, I am pleased to testify to its beneficial results as compared with any remedy previously used. It neither nauseates nor weakens, but pleasantly invigorates the general health.

The Telephone Company P. E. ISLAND. PARTIES using the Telephone would find talking much more satisfactory if they would observe the following rules:

1st. Speak with the mouth about four inches from the transmitter. 2nd. Speak in a moderate tone of voice, not too loud and distinctly. 3rd. Place the telephone so as to cover the ear. It is possible to talk and be heard when standing back two or three feet from the transmitter, if you shout loud enough, but it is not a pleasant mode of conversation, entirely out of place, and is a useless waste of wind and lungs, besides being very annoying to all within range of your voice.
