

CANDIDATES

30 to 35,000 dollars a year profit from their games room. Why then should we not invest and do the same?

I believe, also, we will have to try and make good use of The Barn year round and that means renting The Barn during the Summer. I believe this could be a major source of income for the Student Union.

As a Student Union, we should be trying to make a profit and then begin to reinvest that profit back into the S.U. for the benefit of all students. By reinvesting, we are assuring high standards of quality.

In conclusion, I would like to impress upon you what I believe. The S.U. has been declining for two years. Now I believe I can help change that downward trend and bring about a change in direction. I am not going to make all kinds of promises, instead I am going to commit myself to work as hard as I possibly can to make the Student Union work for the better of all the students and not just a small select group. I believe I can do the job of Vice-President better than any of the other candidates, and if you give me a chance, I'll prove it to you over the next year.

Thank you.

Politics is a natural interest to a third year political science student. My interest in student politics stems from a deep concern for the future of the U.P.E.I. Student Union and my university.

For far too long students have been content to sit back and complain about the lack of adequate facilities, boring social life, and increasing drain on their bank accounts each September. Complaining alone never changed anything. It's time for everyone to get off their butts and get involved.

Very simply, that's why I'm offering as vice-president. I want to see--and will work toward--student government better representing student interests, stand up for their concerns rather than meekly accept the status quo. We students must press for a greater voice in all matters which affect us. We deserve no less.

It is only by showing this kind of inspirational leadership that the student body will begin to show some confidence in student government. This confidence will translate into greater involvement in S.U. activities. The problem of how to revitalize the Barn will be then partially solved; students will reflect a new spirit in their relationships, and the university as a whole will benefit.

I look forward to playing a part in turning the tide of apathy. I believe I can carry out the responsibilities of the office. Five years as a journalist together with a post as public relations director for a junior hockey team, and involvement in Symposium have shown my capabilities.

Working together, the students of U.P.E.I. can make a difference. I ask for a chance to help.

COMPTROLLER

Scott Thomas

This is my second year in the pre-Engineering program, and I have studied electives in the faculties of Economics and Business Administration.

During my time at UPEI I have been a regular bartender at the Student Union. I have also played a variety of sports, including intercollegiate football, intramural basketball, and rugby. I have been further involved in various committees and organizations, such as The Engineering Society and The Concerned Students Committee. Through these bodies I have had ample opportunity to work with the Comptroller and the Student Union as a whole.

One of the major problems that I have seen with the Comptrollers Office is the student body's ignorance as to the responsibilities of the job. The Comptroller is responsible for the Barn, Campus Police, operation of the Bar, and just recently, the Campus Radio Station, CIMN. It is the most useful and down to earth office of the Executive Council.

While away from school I was employed mostly in the construction industry where I learned the true value of a business-like practice. I worked as a carpenter, plumber, landscaper, labourer, maintenance man, cook, and bartender, all of which has given me a broad and practical education towards a better understanding of day to day life.

Last summer I had the opportunity to work with the past comptroller at various events in the Barn. A substantial profit was made then which helped defer the fixed costs during the academic year. I would like to see the Barn put to better use during the summer, and I feel that the experience gained last summer is an advantage to me in that I have already worked with and assumed some of the responsibilities of the Comptroller's Office.

In my two years as a regular bartender, the past and present administrations of the Student Union saw fit to entrust in me, on numerous occasions, full responsibility for events at the Barn. As a result I opened and closed the Barn and took responsibility for everything in between. On these occasions one sees a very enlightening side to the responsibilities of the Comptroller's office.

One recent change in the responsibility of the Comptroller is that he is now responsible for the Campus Radio Station, CIMN. I have spent a good deal of time up at the station and at the Student Union investigating the problems the station is encountering. I think the station should continue with a commitment from the Student Union.

I feel that my past record of being a responsible and reliable Student Union worker qualifies me for the position of Comptroller. My other endeavors further strengthen my capabilities to uphold the responsibility of the office.

All I ask is that the student body get out and support their respective candidates to give the upcoming Executive a true indication of support and direction.

Hi, I'm Neil MacKenzie and I am running for the position of Student Union Comptroller. The major duties of the Comptroller are (a) responsibility of all student owned facilities and bar operations. (b) supervision of bar and Campus Police employees (c) responsibility of the successful operation of CIMN. CONTINUED PAGE
