CHEAPER TELEPHONES.

SIR.—The figures on telephone profits in my letter of a month ago remain unchallenged. I now ask why our business public should be deprived of the advantages of this up-to-date convenience in order that a pet monopoly may make a 40 per cent or 50 per cent profit upon their investment. About two hundred at least in this city have need of a telephone service but are deprived because they cannot pay $30 for a ten dollar article. The tendency of American legislation is against trusts and enriching the few at the expense of the masses. Here the whole tendency is to create monopoly and ruin and cripple trade and commerce so that a few favorites may be enriched. The Board of Trade, the Guardian and others have been quite prominent in the outcry against the telegraph monopoly where a company at very great expense has conducted an almost unprofitable venture. But so far not a word in condemnation of the more injurious telephone monopoly where with exorbitant profits, high rates are maintained which practically shuts off half our people from a service to which they have an honest claim. The inventions and improvements of this age are intended for the use of the people and in a measure are public property. This fact should be impressed upon our legislative assemblies by the universal cry of "down with trusts and monopolies."

The subscribers also have a powerful lever which they can apply with sufficient influence to right the wrong. United action would bring about a condition of affairs different to those existing. If two-thirds of the subscribers would deliver an ultimatum demanding lower rates and a more efficient service or else the removal of the instruments, there would be no alternative but to comply. For want of connections the remainder would be compelled to drop out, and this line of action would mean a good service at a reasonable price or no service at all. A demand such as this would bring the most obstinate Shylock to terms and the result of those terms would mean:

1. A saving of half the cost of telephone service by all present subscribers.
2. An increase to almost three times the number of subscribers and consequently a doubling up of the present value of the service to the public, and
3. Not an alarming decrease in the total earnings of the company. Will the Board of Trade, the Island Guardian or some enterprising subscribers take the matter up in the interests of a long-suffering public.

SOME QUESTIONS.

SIR.—Will you, kind sir, please explain through the columns of your valuable paper the following:—Why on our P. E. I. Railway—I admit other roads do likewise, but this is a Government road—the fare to our horse races, to attend bazaars, etc., is not quite 1 1/2 cents per mile; while to attend conferences, conventions, etc., it is 3 cents? The circular of the Teachers Convention has brought this to my notice. Another query! From which does the country derive more good, and to which should the greater attention be given, horse racing or teachers conventions?

INTERESTED ONE.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE.

JOHN E. WINELOE, ESQ.

DEAR BROTHER,—With deep regret we learned of the sad and sudden death of your beloved wife, which has saddened your home and filled your hearts with grief.

You have sustained a loss irreparable and exceedingly sad; you are left to bewail the loss of one precious and dear to you, and your children the loss of the nearest and dearest of all. The voice that cheered and comforted them is heard no more; and the hands that ministered to their daily needs lie still and cold in death.

Whilst the parting of friends and loved ones here below is grievous and unexpressibly sad, yet it is unavoidably so. Death's demands being imperative and inexorable. No sex is spared, no age exempt! When once the hand of death is placed upon us we all must succumb to its icy touch.

Yet, amid all the grief which death occasions, and the gloom it diffuses in our homes, there beams forth in all its splendor the sunshine of consolation dispelling the gloom and displacing the grief with joy; for we have His assurance that "all who doeth His will" have access to the glorious mansion in the great beyond wherein sorrow or death cannot enter and where friends and loved ones meet to part no more.

On behalf of the members of P. A. Lodge, I. O. G. T. we hereby tender you our deep and heartfelt sympathy in your sorrowful bereavement. May God, who cheers the lonely and heals the broken hearted, comfort and console you in this your dark hour of bereavement.

COMPLIMENTARY TO THE PEOPLE OF P. E. ISLAND.

(By John F. Lynch, 781 & 783 Dorchester Avenue, South Boston, Mass.)

In looking o'er my list of friends, I met in Prince Edward Isle, The fairest flower of the ocean, 'twould make a goddess smile, Oh greenest land and brightest, as fair as the morning sun, And the kindest people I ever met, since my long life begun, With churches good and plenty, and a cathedral great and grand, And the healthiest men and fairest maids, I found in any land.

Amongst them all like a giant oak, a statesman without a flaw, A rober man than Captain Welsh, on earth I never saw, Brave Captain Welsh, a mariner bold as ever crossed the sea, Whose innermost heart I feel beats true to the cause of liberty, And whose Celtic hospitality I never saw surpassed, And never will be forgotten by me as long as life doth last.

May the love of your people cherish you, and never forgotten be, And peace and plenty long be thine in "Keppoch by the sea," And may heaven smile on your bright Isle when "Keppoch" you'll see no more And you are gone to a happier land, where sorrows they are o'er; May you rise again with your face to the sun, and heavenly breezes fan, The brow of one who in life hath loved to be kind to his fellow man.

Why is it that one man is old and decrepid at 45, and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels he is as well as he ought to be, when'er he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his blood impure—he keeps his nerves and his body under a constant nervous strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The Golden Medical Discovery cures many so-called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetit good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.

Workmanship Guaranteed

Let us explain to you the advantages of buying Shorey's ready-to-wear clothing. We will try to do it as briefly as possible. This make has a guarantee card in the pocket of each garment guaranteeing the workmanship to the fullest extent. This is worth money to you.

The cloth in Shorey's clothing is all sponged and shrunk and will not spot with the rain or shrink. This means a saving of money and increase in comfort.

Many of their lines are waterproofed by the wonderful Rigby process, and this without extra charge.

Rigby waterproof cloth feels, looks and handles the same as unproofed goods. The only way you can tell that a Rigby garment is waterproof is that it will not get wet. The cloth remains porous so that it will admit the air but keeps out the rain.

Their boys' and children's goods are made to stand the strain that boys give them. As boys are pretty much all alike, you will understand what this means.
