How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I improve the flavor of oatmeal?
A. Rub the surfaces of the hard painted walls, picture frames, and other articles, with laurel oil, and it will help keep away the flies.

Bradshaw-O'Brien Wedding

Flt./Sgt. and Mrs. Donald Bradshaw are seen following their wedding at London, England recently. The bride is the former Ann O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher O'Brien of Bridgford, England. The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bradshaw, Searletown, Prince Edward Island.

ELLEN'S DIARY

by an Island Farmer's Wife

Last evening's showers were welcome, brief as they were, but those which silvered this afternoon, refreshing well the thirsty fields, were to farm-folks one of the best of bequests from the old week, now so peacefully passing.

"Now the crops will grow!" James said, obvious relief in the words. "The mangels were... Well, I was beginning to think our seeding was something of a failure this year—and we've come to depend on them so for feed for the stock. This" he nodded at that which danced on the leaves of the lawntrees and washed well the fields, "will bring them! This rain indeed may well mean the difference between full barns and cellars and... fairly empty ones."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blair, Virginia, U. S. A., and her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Semmes accompanied by her young son of Texas, U. S. A., have arrived to spend a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hooper at their summer residence in Stanhope.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cullen of Harwich, England, formerly of Hope River, P. E. I., were recent visitors in London, England, and were registered at the Knights of Saint Columba Club, Lansdowne Avenue, Holland Park. They also entertained at a luncheon. Among the guests was Miss Lena McClure of Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Younker, with their children, Richard and Janet, have arrived from Toronto and are spending their vacation at the Surf Cottages at Stanhope.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop, P/L James and Mrs. Lynch and children, Paul and Frederick, of Toronto, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank MacIntyre and Mrs. John Morris, Charlottetown.

Also visiting Mr. and Mrs. MacIntyre and Mrs. Morris are Very Rev. Frederick Lynch, St. Mary's University, Halifax, and Father John Keenan, S.J., Halifax.

Miss Mildred Harrington is spending two weeks at Keppoch Beach Inn, the guest of Mrs. J. A. Bauregard of Montreal. Dr. Bauregard will join his wife for the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Parker of Yarmouth, N. S., are visiting Mrs. Parker's mother, Mrs. John F. Whear and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Nash, Charlottetown.

Mrs. Gustave Gingras of Montreal, is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. MacLean of Souris.

Master George Haslam, Ridgeway, Ontario, arrived by plane on Monday to spend the summer at the home of his uncle, Mr. Reginald Haslam, Springfield.

Mrs. Ken Campbell (nee Margaret MacLellan) and son Timmy of Trenton, Ont., are visiting with relatives and friends in Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron S. Henry (nee Joan McCullum) and baby son, Michael, London, Ont., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. F. McCullum, Weymouth St.

DOROTHY DIX

Teen-Age Girl's Worry

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 16 years old and have almost complete freedom in choosing my friends. My problem is that mother insists on leaving the porch light on when I come home from a date. It's very embarrassing if my escort wants to walk me home or kiss me good-night. Also, I am expected to be home from most affairs by 10:30. Jennie

ACCEPT PARENTS' RESTRICTIONS

ANSWER: Why not match co-operation? Your parents are quite liberal in most respects; the least you can do is accept their restrictions with good grace. Bit by bit the limitations will be removed, as you prove by your choice of friends, and your conduct, as well as a willing acceptance of present conditions, that they aren't needed.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have read your recommendation that mature women could find jobs as baby sitters. Just how can a woman, 52, go about getting this kind of work? Myra G.

ANSWER: You live in a large city, so my suggestions will be gauged accordingly. An ad in the paper that circulates through your particular section of town would be the best all-round approach. Two or three lines would carry the basic information, and the ad wouldn't be expensive. Second: have cards printed with your rates, approximate time available, and a few words about yourself, then ask the superintendent of large apartment buildings in your neighborhood if you could post one on a central bulletin board or at the switchboard. For a small charge your grocer or drug store will display the same card of a larger version.

Approach some members of your local P.T.A. or church organization, tell them you're in business, give them your telephone number, and await results. Baby sitters are so much in demand that it's necessary only to spread the news in the right quarters to make good. Most young mothers will consider that you're doing them a favor.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband has been in Japan for the past year and is due home this fall. Shortly before he left we had become friendly with a young couple in our apartment house. The wife wrote to my husband a few months ago, and a correspondence began, which has become quite sentimental on her part. He has sent all her letters home to me, I know exactly what she writes. Am I being unreasonable in resenting this correspondence? Rhoda

ANSWER: Although the correspondence undoubtedly has no significance, if it bothers you to a great extent it would be considered of your husband to end it. Since you already have hinted quite broadly and futilely to the lady that you don't like the idea, it's unlikely that she'll stop writing. The decision, then, is clearly up to your husband.

The Stars Say

By Estrellita

For Tomorrow
FAMILY ties are emphasized now, so arrange some week-end recreation in which all can participate and which all can enjoy. Such plans do not have to be on the extravagant side. Indeed, simple pleasures, which cost little could be doubly appreciated, if they are arranged with loving care and generosity of spirit.

Some caution is urged if traveling, especially during the evening hours, and those using tools or mechanical equipment of any kind are also advised to be careful in their work.

For the Birthday
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope promises that in the three months immediately ahead uncertain or lagging affairs should take a lively turn for the better. The co-operation of influential persons is assured, bringing not only the happy culmination of projects already started, but, quite possibly, unexpected success in an entirely new field.

Your horoscope also augurs well for matters relating to friendship and romance. Courtship is highly favored and travel plans are under the most beneficent aspects—especially from now until October 15th.

A child born on this day will be conservative in financial matters, extremely practical and endowed with a placid disposition.

The Day After Tomorrow
It may take extraordinary patience and tact to deal with some of the situations you are likely to face on Monday. But forewarned, you should be able to meet them successfully. The important thing to remember will be not to antagonize superiors, anyone in a position of authority and elderly persons who may have some influence in your life. Bend over backward, if need be, to be conciliatory, even if you feel you have real cause for irritation.

In financial matters, stress the conservative. Present planetary aspects do not encourage speculation, extravagance or unwise investments. Do not make snap decisions, either.

For the Birthday
If Monday is your birthday, there is a strong likelihood that within the next two months, through a surprising turn of events, you may suddenly find yourself in line for promotion or a new occupational opportunity. You may find that, with these changes, you will have to take on additional responsibilities, but the efforts you will have to expend will be well worthwhile.

Social and domestic matters are favored for the balance of the year as are creative and cultural pursuits. Travel will also be under excellent aspects. For you who are single, courtship and romance should prosper.

White-Brown Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Claude White are seen following their wedding at St. Patrick's Church, Grand River, on June 30. The bride is the former Mary Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brown of Grand River. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude White of St. Eleanor's—(Edwin Heckbert Studio).

Morning Smile

Two old ladies were enjoying the music in the park. "I think that the Minuet from 'Mignon' they're playing now," said one.

"I thought it was the Overture from 'La Boheme,'" said the other. So the first old lady went over to what she thought was the board announcing the program. "We're wrong," she said when she got back to their bench. "It's the Refrain from Spitting."

Contract Bridge

CUE BIDS

First-round control of the opponent's suit is not the only or even the prime ingredient of a correct cue bid. Consider the position in which South was placed by his partner's action in this case:

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable.
	K 7 4	Q 5 4 3	K 8 5 5 2	Q 10 9
	A K J	N	E	6 4
	8 5 3	W	S	5 3
	♥ 8			♥ K 9 6 2
	♠ J 10 8			♠ J 9
	♣ Q 10			♣ 7 2
				♠ A J 10 6 2
				♠ A 4 3

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ 1♠ 2♠ (1) 3♠
6♥ Pass Pass Pass

West, who had full confidence in his left-hand opponent's veracity, did not waste time by opening the spade king—he selected the jack of diamonds, and South found himself with a lost cause.

The one- trick set was particularly annoying to South because, according to his own rather bitter observation, he had felt ultra-conservative in bidding only a small slam after hearing North's cue bid. He added that he had very right to expect North to lay down a hand about twice as good as he actually produced.

South's view was entirely correct. An immediate cue bid in the opponents' suit should not be used merely to announce first-round control of that suit—it is virtually worthless on that sole basis. It should be used for the dual purpose of announcing control and a strong supporting hand, i.e., strong not only distributionally but in high cards. It is true that North had good support for hearts, but a hand containing only two kings and one queen can scarcely be regarded as powerful. The utter lack of ace, for one thing, ruled out the immediate cue bid. North's hand was worth a simple raise to two hearts—it did not even justify a double raise.

The cue bid as North used it was particularly bad in that it warned the enemy against leading spades. On that lead (or any lead but a diamond) South would have made six hearts with ease.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. If the bride has a stepfather should his name be included in the wedding invitations, or just her mother's name?
A. The invitations should include his name as, "Mr. and Mrs. James R. Gray request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Ruth Anne Smith, etc."

Q. Is it still proper to use the term "Master" when addressing cards to young boys?
A. Only for very young boys. Between the ages of six and sixteen today they are addressed without title.

Q. Is it still considered proper today for a man to carry a cane?
A. Although the custom is not so popular as it once was, it is still entirely proper if the man wishes.
