Cartier's Visit Re-enactment Said One Of More Colorful

ALBERTON — The re-enactment on July 4 of Jacques Cartier's landing in 1534 could well be one of the more colorful and interesting events of Centennial year celebrations. Mayor Moore, central director of the Alberton harbor from July 8 to July 5. The 396 foot frigate has a complement of 140 men including 30 cadets, and 19 to 12 liaison officer who accompanied

The cadets, who are navy reservists from universities all across Canada, have consented to carry out the actual landings in longboats at Kildare River bridges on Saturday, July 4 at 2 o'clock. Details of costume, procurement of authentic Indian canoes, spears, paddles, flags, and the possibility of using real Indians in the welcoming party, were thoroughly discussed at the meeting in the Alberton Fire Hall presided over by Mayor M. Roy Leard.

CENTENNIAL DAY
A complete program of events for Alberton's Centennial Day of celebrations will get underway July 3 with a street dance followed by a mammoth parade on Saturday morning, official opening of the new Jacques Cartier Arena at 10:30 and lunch. In the afternoon, after the landing has been completed, there will be a chicken bar-

Local Hotel Employees Unsure Of Next Step

Seventy employees at the Charlottetown Hotel here are not quite sure where they stand after the announcement Tuesday of the hotel's takeover by an island group.

SEVENTY EMPLOYEES at the Charlottetown Hotel here are not quite sure where they stand after the announcement Tuesday of the hotel's takeover by an island group. Of the total number, 55 belong to Local 279 of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers.

Frank Pellerin, present manager of the hotel, indicated that he will not remain in this position after the takeover, although IDC requested this. His plans for the future are not definite: he may accept transfer to another CN hotel, or he may retire. Wait-and-see is the general attitude prevailing in the hotel during the meantime until definite steps are announced.

er, despite the fact that the hotel will no longer be Canadian National property. Island Development Company, the new owners, will have to approve an agreement of this sort.

In pointing out that the South fish plant also belongs to the union, though under a different section, he said he expects word from the Montreal head office late this week or early next on what action will be taken.
