A SUGGESTION.—Why cannot the two rear doors of the Post Office be kept open, especially at night time, after the foreign mail arrives. AGAINST THE ARMY.—A Halifax despatch says: The application for an injunction to prevent the Salvation Army holding noisy services in a tent adjoining the residence of H. A. Taylor, has been granted by Judge Henry. The judge said he fully recognized that the services of the denomination consist of a loud and ostentatious performance, but still he was of the opinion that the beating on a bass drum in a tent immediately adjoining a man's residence could be tolerated.
