Changes In Educational System Urged By Institute

The Provincial Women's Institute asked that the educational system in Prince Edward Island be standardized at their closing session held yesterday at the Prince of Wales College. With a large crowd in attendance at the second and final day of the 37th Convention, the resolutions committee brought in a number of suggestions which were met with much discussion. Two of these are especially important to the future of the Province in that they deal with the educational system now in use. It was stated that in most Provinces one year's education beyond grade ten level is sufficient for matriculation. It was therefore resolved that the Women's Institutes of P. E. I. urge the Department of Education to standardize this phase of the educational system.

Ask Why Meat Prices So High

OTTAWA, July 11 (CP)—The Canadian Association of Consumers wants Agriculture Minister Gardiner to tell its more than 10,000 members why meat prices are so high. Little Girl Conscious After 57 Days

TUCSON, Ariz., July 11 (AP)—A little 12-year-old girl turned a hand mirror over to day and began to read a verse inscribed on the back. "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want," Patricia Murphy had regained consciousness after lying in a coma for 57 days. Patricia was returning to Tucson after a Mother's Day outing on May 14. The car collided with a truck. Mr. and Mrs. E. Browne, the child's grandparents, were killed. Mrs. Edwin Murphy, her mother, was critically injured. Rene Pleven Becomes New Premier Of France

PARIS, July 11 (CP)—The National Assembly today confirmed Rene Pleven as France's third premier in two weeks, and endorsed his plea for a 20-per-cent increase in French defence spending. He is expected to complete his Cabinet tomorrow. His chances of forming a government once more depend on whether the Socialists, with 98 seats in the National Assembly, agree to join in. If they do not, it is unlikely that Pleven can count on the support of the Mouvement Republicain Populaire, which has 151 seats. Pleven himself heads the small Socialist and Democratic Union of the Resistance. Both voted for Pleven today, giving him 373 votes against the opposition of 188 Communists, near-Communists and three right-wing deputies. There were 53 abstentions. "Your approval must mean that you accept the rigorous duty of increasing the sum devoted to the defence of the country," Pleven had warned. "To those who find these expenses too great, I reply

U. S. Tank-Led Forces Are Pressed Back

TOKYO, Jan. 12 (Wednesday) (AP)—North Korean troops, pressing back United States tank-led forces, today drove to a point near the vital Kum River and then appeared virtually to have halted. The Kum River winds 15 road miles north of Taejon, which has been American advance headquarters. Taejon is 90 air miles south of Communist-conquered Seoul, the South Korean capital. Early-morning reports to American headquarters in Korea indicated that the Red columns led by 80 Russian-made tanks, had slowed possibly for reorganization. Furious aerial attacks by American and Australian planes may have helped to check the relentless Red march from the Communist front, which had pushed American defenders to positions near the north bank of the Kum, last barrier of any consequence before Taejon. A field headquarters spokesman estimated that 80 tanks were being used by the Reds in the Chonui sector alone. The Russian-made armor was reported to include some 60-ton monsters. But in Washington the United States Defence Department said it lacked confirmation of this. The fighting zone was located between Chonui and Chochiwon, towns 13 and five miles north of the Kum River. (Chochiwon, a railway town, remains in American hands, said a Reuters dispatch early Wednesday from United States advanced headquarters.) Earlier, there were unconfirmed reports in Tokyo that American ground forces, fighting alongside South Korean troops to stem the invasion, had lost Chochiwon. Chonui is about 35 miles northwest of Taejon, a key communications centre. (The city, 15 miles by road and eight by air south of the twisting Kum, previously has been identified as American tank headquarters in South Korea, but late dispatches have not so identified it—probably for security reasons.) American armor, out-numbered and out-gunned, took a licking in the tank battle but the full extent of the defeat was not disclosed. There was no information on the number of American tanks committed, but in Washington the Defence Department said 10 had been lost and two disabled. The Red attack followed a terrific pounding given the Red armor by the United States Air Force. The airmen claimed 85 Red tanks were destroyed or disabled. That the Communists could put such a drive in motion after taking this punishment gave some hint of the size of their forces.

Orangemen Make Preparations For Celebration Today

(By The Canadian Press) White horses, orange bunting and five-and-drum bands are the order of the day as Orangemen throughout Canada prepare to follow "King Billy" on his traditional July 12 ride. In every Province except predominantly Roman Catholic Quebec, white-garbed men and women will march to various picnic grounds for time-honored festivities. Today's celebrations mark the 260th anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, in which the troops of King William III of Orange trounced the Irish partisans. At Vancouver, floats will be included in the parade of 400 Orangemen from west Vancouver to Ambleside Park. There a pipe band competition and a march-past contest are expected to draw thousands of spectators. Edmonton Orangemen did most of their celebrating last week-end. Saturday there was a children's picnic and on Sunday about 250 members representing seven lodges paraded without the customary white horse. Saskatchewan Orangemen—about 400 strong—will gather at Sinita-luta, 59 miles west of Regina, to hear Rev. T. L. Parker of Pathlow, deputy Grand Master for Saskatchewan. Survey Shows Island Guernseys Lead Maritimes

YARMOUTH, N. S., July 11 (CP)—A two-man classification team from the Canadian Guernsey Breeders' Association, nearing the end of a three-week inspection tour of Maritime Guernsey herds here tonight finding approximately half the cattle they examined of top bracket quality. In Nova Scotia, where they inspected 13 herds, they found 49.9 per cent in the "above the line" bracket July 12 ride. Average for Prince Edward Island was 55 per cent in the top categories and New Brunswick 48.8 per cent. The national average, determined on survey of 1,200 cows in 1949, is 56.4 per cent. The officials, Dr. A. B.
