Grandmother Is On Way To Become Catholic Nun

EDMONTON (CP) — Mrs. Oliva Boutin, 64-year-old great-grandmother, is on her way to becoming a Roman Catholic nun under the guidance of her eldest daughter who has been a nun for 30 years.

One of the adjustments involves titles. In the religious world, Mrs. Boutin is called "sister" by her daughter who carries the title of "mother."

"She is more ready to adapt to the change than I am," Mother Marie Francoise said Monday in explaining how she sometimes blurts out "mum." But, she added, "I'll have to start calling her 'sister' all the time."

Mrs. Boutin, French - speaking mother of four girls and two boys, became Sister Marie Alice Olivier six months ago when she became a novice in the Order of the Sissers of Our Lady of the Cross.

Mother Marie Francoise at about the same time became mistress of novices, in charge of girls and women preparing to become nuns.

She said her mother had considered entering the religious life for many years.

"My mother was widowed at 35—I was the eldest of six. My younger brother was only one year old She wanted to be sure we were all independent and settled before she entered."

Because of Mrs. Boutin's age, it was necessary to get permission from Rome.

Born in the United States, she has spent most of her life in Saskatchewan She raised her family in Cantal and lived in Willow Bunch and Assiniboia. Before entering the convent she was employed as a housekeeper for priests in Saskatchewan.

Sister Marie Alice Olivier is the first novice in Canada to wear the order's new habit—a black mid - calf jumper and black long-sleeve blouse with white collar, black stockings, black oxfords and a white bonnet with short black veil.

"We are trying out this design and if satisfactory it will be adopted by the order," Mother Marie Francoise explained. "Our present headpiece has a stiff white ruff around the face and can make it difficult to obtain a driver's licence."

Our Lady of the Cross is a nursing, teaching and social work order. The order operates schools for retarded children in Creston, B.C., and Redvers, Sask., and has three homes for the aged in Saskatchewan.

Sister Marie Alice Olivier has 31 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Future Bomber Plans Are Studied In U.S.

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long-considered U.S. Air Force proposal for development of a new design of manned bomber now is being scrutinized by the defence secretary's technical and budgetary advisers.

A defence spokesman said the plan was delivered to secretary Robert S. McNamara's office a few days ago.

It represents the latest effort of the air force to keep manned strategic weapon carriers in the arsenal beyond the early 1970s when the present B-52 heavy bombers will have reached aeronautical old age.

The original B - 70 heavy bomber project has been whittled down under both the Republican and Democratic administrations to a present program for building two test aircraft instead of the fleet that once was planned.

The new proposal for an Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft (AMSA) calls for a bomber with capabilities entirely different from either the B-52 or the B-70—a plane flying great distances but going in toward target at extremely low altitudes to avoid radar instead of the high level of the B-52.

BECOMES BIG ISSUE

The question of whether there will be a new family of manned bomber types has evolved into one of the major issues between Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and the Johnson administration.

The Arizona senator and the administration, with both the White House and Pentagon participating, disagree widely on future strategic needs.

Goldwater says that under the present administration "we face the prospect of going into the decade of the 1970s without a single new manned bomber. We face the prospect of going into that decade with a worn and obsolete force composed only of those left-over planes still able to fly."

He says, too, that: "There has not been introduced into our weapons system one new strategic system in the last four years . . . under our present defence leadership, with its utter disregard for new weapons, our deliverable nuclear capacity may be cut down by 90 per cent in the next decade."

Goldwater bases his 90-per-cent cut estimate on what he says would be elimination of all but a few Bombers. The total nuclear power that could be delivered would rest then only on the air force and navy missiles, the Minuteman and the Polaris, Goldwater says. He adds that the Atlas and Titan, the big ICBMs of the air force, apparently are "to be phased out." He estimates a B-52 can deliver up to 48 megatons, whereas a Minuteman or Polaris warhead has a yield of less than one megaton.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X E
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE MAJOR HOOPLE

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump. North leads the seven of spades and South plays the jack. How would you play the hand?

♠AQ3 ♥K105 ♦AJ82 ♣J103

N W E S

♠92 ♥QJ2 ♦1064 ♣AQ9642

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Clubs. North leads the jack of hearts. How would you play the hand?

♠AQ6 ♥3 ♦A72 ♣AKQJ106

N W E S

♠742 ♥A84 ♦KQ653 ♣72

1. Whenever you are declarer, there are two other players at the table who presumably are trying hard to defeat the contract. It frequently happens that one of these opponents poses a much greater threat to you than the other because of the particular circumstances that exist. This opponent is generally referred to as the dangerous opponent.

In the present hand, North is the dangerous opponent. He seems to have a long spade suit that may well prove to be your undoing if he is allowed to cash it. To prevent this from happening, you try to disarm him. Win the jack of spades with the queen and lead the ten of hearts. The purpose is to dislodge North's ace of hearts, if he has it.

If the ten wins the trick, you then lead the jack of clubs, planning to finesse. If the ten loses the trick, you duck the spade return and then win the continuation. Now you take the club finesse.

Even if it loses to South, you are practically sure of making the contract. South may be out of spades, because North started with five of them, or he may have a spade to return, in which case North cannot have had more than four. If it turns out that the spades are divided 4-4, you make three notrump.

The possibility you have to watch out for is that North may have some such hand as: SK106-74 HA94 DQ765 C8. In such case taking the club finesse before leading a heart would be fatal.

2. Win the ace of hearts, draw trumps, and cash the ace of diamonds. If both opponents follow suit, you can assure the contract 100 per cent by leading another diamond and playing low from dummy. This play guards against a possible 4-1 division in diamonds and guarantees twelve tricks. If you were to go up with the queen of diamonds instead, you would go down if it turned out that the diamonds were divided 4-1 and North had the king of spades.
