

THE DAILY EXAMINER. MAY 9, 1889.

Behring Sea Fisheries.

ONE of the questions to be settled is that raised by the preposterous claim of the United States to a monopoly of the right to fish in Behring Sea. It is believed that the new minister to Washington, Sir Jules Pauncefort, brought with him specific instructions to negotiate on behalf of Great Britain.

Count Tolstoi.

COUNT LYOF NIKOLAVITCH TOLSTOI, the Russian Minister of the Interior, died on the 7th inst., after a long illness. He is better known as Count Leon Tolstoi, and is regarded as the most eminent of Russian novelists.

Notes and Comments.

A farmer writes to the Manitowlin Express praising that portion of Ontario, and pointing out how superior it is to most of the land in the western States.

The London Advertiser remarks that in a country like Canada everyone should possess the accomplishment of swimming. Parents should teach their children to swim, not the boys alone but the girls as well.

The St John Sun directs attention to the fact that a considerable quantity of butter has been shipped to the Montreal market from Boston.

The Electric Company.

At the annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Prince Edward Island Electric Company, held yesterday afternoon, the following directors were elected: Lewis Carvell, L. H. Davies, C. F. Fraser and D. A. Starr.

We understand that the change in the Board resulted from the fact that the old Board declined to act unless all of them were re-elected.

William O'Brien's service of papers on Lord Salisbury, together with Parnell's very complimentary reference to the Irish patriot before the Parnell Commission, has made O'Brien the subject of an unusual amount of talk during the week.

Our $14 Scotch tweed suits are equal to any $15 suits to be bought in the city. Call and see them.—John McLeod & Co. 61 eod.

Policemen vs. Pugilists.

A FIGHT to a finish was not conducted according to MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY RULES—THE PUGILISTS WORSTED.

THREE young men—Angus Steele, Richard Cronin and Patrick Baldwin—appeared before His Honor the Stipendiary Magistrate this forenoon. They were charged with being drunk and disorderly, and with interfering with the police in the discharge of their duty.

Sergeant Bradley testified that shortly before one o'clock yesterday afternoon the Marshal told him there was a number of men acting in a disorderly manner on Great George Street, near Euston, and that so soon as officer Taylor came back from dinner the two were to go and see what was the matter.

Bradley; you can't arrest me." They then told the woman to shut the door, which she did, and they went out into the yard, and met the men come rushing through the gangway, looking like people who wanted to fight. Witness ordered them out of the yard as he saw little use in two men attempting to arrest four.

Dr. S. R. Jenkins testified to being driving past Thorne's at the time of the row, and going into the yard to see what was the matter. He tried to get Cronin away, but he would not come.

Officer Taylor corroborated Bradley's testimony as to the row in Thorne's yard. He said that before this while he was following the men down Euston Street—one of them saw him and called out: "You ——— Taylor; come down and we'll bust you."

John McLellan said that he passed through the crowd on the sidewalk before they got to Thorne's, and heard them discussing the probability of being arrested. One of them said: "There's not a crowd in Charlottetown able to take us!"

Isaac Murley said he saw Bradley on his knees in the yard, with Cronin on top of him, with his arms about his neck, as if to prevent him from going to the assistance of Taylor, who was looking after Steele.

Mr. Peters summed up for the prisoners, and His Honor, after a few remarks, delivered judgment. He sentenced Baldwin to pay a fine of $30 or go to jail for thirty days, and Steele and Cronin each to two months' imprisonment with hard labor.
