

How Rich Men Begin Life.

Cornelius Vanderblit began life with an old pirogue, running between Staten Island and New York, and carrying garden stuff to market. With two or three thousand dollars raised by that source, he entered upon steadily increasing enterprises until he amassed the enormous sum of $10,000,000.

Alexander T. Stewart first bought a few laces at Auction, and opened his way to success in a dingy little shop in Broadway, the sight of the wholesale establishment.

Daniel Drew in his early life was a cattle driver at the munificent rate of seventy-five cents a day, and he has now driven himself into an estate valued at from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000.

George Law at forty five years of age was a common day laborer on the docks, and at present counts his fortune at something like $10,000,000.

Robert L. and Alexander Stuart, the noted sugar refiners, in their boyhood sold molasses candy, which their widowed mother had made, at a cent a stick, and to-day they are probably worth $5,000,000 to $6,000,000.

Marshall O. Roberts is the possessor of $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, and yet until he was twenty-five he did not have $100 dollars he could call his own.

Horace B. Claffin, the eminent dry goods merchant, is worth, it is estimated, from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000; commenced the world with nothing but energy, determination and hope, and see how magnificently he has invested them.

The Whistle.

When I was a child, at seven years old, says Dr. Franklin, my friends on a holiday filled my little pockets with coppers. I went directly to a shop where they sold toys for children; and being charmed with sound of a whistle, which I met by the way, in the hands of another boy, I voluntarily offered, and gave all my money for one. I then came home, and went whistling all over the house, much pleased with my whistle; but disturbing all the family. My brothers and sisters, and cousins, understanding the bargain I had made, told me I had given four times as much for it as it was worth.

This put me in mind of what a good thing I might have bought with the rest of the money. And they laughed at me so much for my folly, that I cried with vexation; reflection gave me more chagrin than the whistle gave me pleasure.

This, however, was afterwards of use to me; the impression continuing on my mind, so that often when I was tempted to buy some unnecessary thing, I said to myself, Don't pay too much for the whistle. And so I saved my money.

As I grew up and came into the world and observed the actions of men, I thought I met with many, very many, who gave too much for the whistle.

When I saw one too ambitious of court favors, sacrificing his time in attendance at levees, his repose, his virtues, and perhaps his friends, to attain it, I have said to myself, This man gives too much for his whistle.

MUSIC IN THE FAMILY.—An excellent clergyman, possessing much knowledge of human nature, instructed his large family of daughters in the ordinary practice of music. They were all observed to be amiable and happy. A friend inquired if there was any secret in this mode of education. He replied, "When anything disturbs their temper, I say to them, 'Sing;' and if I hear them speaking against any person, I call them to sing to me, and they sing away all causes of discontent and every disposition to scandal." Such a use of this accomplishment might seem to fit a family for the company of angels. Young voices around the domestic altar, breathing sacred music at the hour of morning and evening devotion, are sweet and touching accomplishments.

A tramp made himself quite welcome to some rummies down in Maine by claiming that he had drunk brandy and water with Neal Dow, but they subsequently turned upon him when he explained that he drank the brandy and Neal the water.

COURTSHIP.—A man who has probably 'been there' says, 'It is astonishing what whopping lies young folks will give and take during courtship. The trouble with a good many folks is that the parties quit lying when they enter matrimony.'

ONLY ONCE.—"Did you ever," asked a brother humorist of Josh Billings, "stand at the hall door after your lecture, and listen to what the people said about it as they passed out?" Replied Josh, "I did—once" (a pause and a sigh), "but I'll never do it again!"

H. W. Vinnicombe,

Resident Piano Tuner & Regulator,
HAS adopted the Dollar system of Tuning—six visits a year, at one dollar per visit. This system is much more economical and satisfactory than any other, as the cost is less, and the instrument is kept constantly in tune and repair.

A visit will be made to all parts of the Island once a year, or often if desired. Pianos tuned by Hamilton's system of even temperament.

Orders may be left at Mr. Fletcher's Music Store, or at Bremner Bros., Queen Street.

CATARRH.

Constitutional Catarrh Remedy CURES CATARRH.

Hear what a Reverend Gentleman says of the Constitutional Remedy.

T. J. B. HARDING, Esq., Brockville, Ont.:—"DEAR SIR—It is now two years since your 'Constitutional Catarrh Remedy' was introduced to me. I have waited this long to see if the cure would remain permanent before doing this, my duty, to you, as at first the happy effects seemed to me to be 'too good to be true.'"

I was afflicted in my head for years before I suspected it to be Catarrh. In reading in your Circular I saw my case described in many particulars. The inward "drop" from the head had become very disagreeable, and a choking sensation often preventing me from lying long. I would feel like smothering and be compelled to sit up in the bed. My health and spirits were seriously affected. When your agent came to Walkertown in August, 1876, I secured three bottles. Before I had used a quarter of the contents of one bottle I found decided relief, and when I had used two bottles and a third, I quit taking it, feeling quite cured of that ailment, and have not used any since until of late I have taken some for a cold in my head.

A sense of duty to sufferers from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, prompts me to send you this Certificate, unsolicited, with leave to make what use of it you may see proper. Yours truly,

W. TINDALL, Methodist Minister.
