FARM PRICES

have a steady influence, even under conditions of surplus, on market trends. Prices on cattle are still good; and on hogs, to the man who knows something about raising hogs and feeding, the price, as I said last week, is not bad.

Dairying Some interesting figures have been released on the production and consumption of margarine.

The Canadian per capita consumption of butter last year amounted to 19.04 pounds against 20 pounds for the previous year, while that of margarine was from 6.73 to 7.38 pounds in 1951. 9,000,000 pounds less butter was consumed in 1951, but 10,700,000 pounds more margarine were consumed.

At the same time sales of fluid milk and cream were somewhat higher, and prices for manufactured dairy products were unusually stable.

The prospects are that prices of most dairy products are not expected to change materially in 1952, and the total milk production will likely be less than in 1951.

There has been no change in the price of butter on the Maritime markets during the past week. The factory price is still quoted at 70c f.o.b. Halifax, with local jobbing at 72c.

In all parts of New Brunswick the price is Creameries to Wholesale, one and two pound prints, 70c; Wholesale to Retail Stores 72c.

Montreal 66 1-2c for No. 1 solids delivered, Toronto 66 1-4 to 68 c.

On the Charlottetown markets the same prices prevail as that of last week with 69 1-2c for prints delivered Charlottetown, Local Jobbing 71c.

It was announced last week that the Agricultural Products Board will deliver their stored imported butter to the buyers nearest stations for 66c per pound. This announcement no doubt may affect the price structure slightly here in the Maritimes with a somewhat weaker demand for our domestic product as well. It was fairly well timed though as production is now at its lowest level for the year. Added to this is the tremendous effect the snow block-eds roads has had on deliveries of cream to creameries throughout the Maritimes.

Potatoes "The potato market has undoubtedly improved," said Mr. Shaw. "Just how much of the improvement is a normal improvement, and how much is attributable to snow storms, the inability to deliver the product to the rail head, and the acute scarcity of cars for shipping, cannot be estimated. I personally feel that the market is favourable and will remain reasonably so, but I feel that producers should consider the temporary inhibition and assess the market on the basis of normal tendencies rather than artificial. I am of the opinion that when prices on the domestic market move up beyond a certain level that American potatoes will immediately appear and help crack down that level to a competitive basis.

"We must not lose sight of the fact, too, that a retarded movement during this trying storm period is creating a backlog when roads open up and cars get moving that will pitch quite a few potatoes on to the market, and restrain any runaway tendencies which may occur. In any event, if at all possible, keep the product moving. There are an unfortunate scarcity of reefer cars, and one shipper told me today he was shipping turnips in box cars. This is a very serious situation coming on at this time of the year. It seems to me we are running into a surplus of reefers at one time, and a distinct scarcity at another.

"To some extent this is inevitable as it is very hard to state at any time just what the accurate car requirements may be. I am sure the railway is endeavouring to secure car requirements, but I would impress upon all who have any influence in this connection that the situation is definitely serious and shipments at this important period are being held up because of lack of proper cars.

U. S. Potato Market "The United States market seems to be in a fairly good position at the present time, with prices firm at the ceiling. March is the big month in the United States for movement and it is expected seed demand will perk up considerably during the month. There should be three or four months of good potato demand ahead. Maine has about 21,000 cars of potatoes to ship out, but with army orders and contacts over a wide range it is felt that supplies will gradually clean out to market. It is rather difficult to state what quantity of potatoes we may have in this Province for sale.

The following report from all over the Province will indicate the general situation in this respect:

Tignish: Not loading. No reefers and no quotations.

O'Leary: Nothing moving owing to scarcity of cars. $2.00 per bus. is being quoted for both seed and tablestock.

Summerside: $2.00 per bus. for both seed and tablestock. Nothing moving. Scarcity of cars.

Kensington: $2.00 per bus. for both seed and tablestock. Some moving but no cars being shipped out on account of the scarcity of reefers.

Charlottetown: $2.00 per bus. is being quoted for both seed and tablestock. The hold up on cars and travelling may develop some fantastic offers that producers cannot avail themselves of because they cannot get their potatoes out. On the other hand dealers cannot take advantage of a strong market tone with no cars in which to ship. The whole position is to some extent artificial.

Turnips are almost any price, but 60c - 65c seems to be the general figure. There are possibly between 100 and 200 cars of turnips still available.

Montague: Nothing moving. No cars. No quotations. Market much stronger. Demand good.

Vernon River: $2.00 per bus. for both seed and tablestock. No cars available.

Cardigan: Nothing moving. No cars available. One car is being loaded today of potatoes and one of turnips.

Morell: Nothing moving. No cars available. No quotations.

Elmira: Plenty of orders but no cars.

Murray Harbour: Nothing moving in this area. No cars available.

Eggs and Poultry "Egg prices are substantially the same as last week, but due to the heavy storms the deliveries are greatly curtailed. Demand appears to be fairly strong, but we would criticize, however, the range of prices, particularly in the Charlottetown area. Why does one buyer pay 31c and another buyer 33c with the same spread right through from Grade A's down to B's. The top price at Charlottetown and the top price at Summerside is the same on Grade A's, and about the same on the other grades. We would further note that the Grade B price at O'Leary is equal to the price some are paying at Charlottetown. We never seem to be able to get very much of an explanation on the peculiarities of the egg system.

"I feel that sooner or later we will have to make a more direct attack on this problem and smoke some nigger out of a wood pile who will give us a proper explanation of these differences," said Mr. Shaw. "The price to the consumer today ranges from 45c to 51c for carton eggs. Why this tremendous spread it is hard to say, and why any store can sell 51c grade A eggs when they are offering 45c grade A eggs at the same time, is a problem which is difficult to solve. Some stores are charging 49c for carton eggs, some 51c, and some 45c. Possibly the forty-five cent is a special; a sort of a lure to attract trade.

"Personally I do not like this practice. I can understand why there might be a cent or two of a difference between retailers, but when it comes to 6c the whole thing looks like rotten egg practices. A 10c spread in the price to retailers and to consumers when producers are only receiving from 30c to 31c per dozen for Grade A Large is, to my mind, rather ridiculous.

It is interesting to note that the difference between the producer's price and the delivered pack is from 5c to 7c per dozen—not exactly a thin spread. Neither should it spread on to the retailer at 3c per dozen be classed as peanuts. It would seem to be ample.

The following are the prices: Ungraded eggs: Charlottetown: AL 31-33, AM 28-30, AS 24-26, B 24-26, C 19-21. Souris: AL 30, AM 27, AS 23, B 23, C 19.

O'Leary: AL 31, AM 28, AS 23, B 23, C 17.

Summerside: AL 33, AM 29, AS 25, B 25, C 18.

Graded eggs: AL 38, AM 35, AS 30, B 30, C 25.

To Retail: AL 41, AM 38, AS 32-33, B 32-33, C 28.

Feed prices are somewhat uncertain this week due to the unsettled condition on the Prairies, and it is difficult to indicate just what is going to take place. The market is more or less of an up and down affair. Prices, however, should ease if anything. The following are the latest quotations, basis carlot, bulk shipments: No. 1 Feed Oats $2.90, Barley $2.98 to $3.02; No. 1 Feed Wheat $2.92; No. 6 Wheat $3.02; Bran in new jackets $65.00. Oatcake $99.00 bulk. Tough grades of barley—possibly 18c less on oats 14c on barley. These grains should be used immediately.

used immediately. With reference to seeds, as I mentioned last week—Get your seed grains arranged for early, and see that it is cleaned completely. One of the difficulties in cleaning is that producers ask the graders very often to only take a small amount. Why this is so I do not know. If you are cleaning grain take out everything but the very best. Grain prices will be high this year. No. 1 Commercial imported Oats will range between $5.60 and $5.79 per three bushel bag. No. 1 Commercial Barley, Charlottetown No. 80, $5.25; and a two bushel bag of Wheat $7.25. In small seeds Timothy will be worth about 20c for No. 1; Red Clover—40c; Alfalfa—78c; and Ladino about $2.25. Seeds are quite an item in farm expenditure. Nevertheless only the best will give the best returns.

Farmers' Week will be held this year from March 18-21. On the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, the 18th, the Sheep Breeders and Swine Breeders will hold open house. On the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, the 19th, the Dairymen will pay their respects to the dairy cow. On Thursday afternoon the Central Farmers' Institute will attack farm problems over a wide front, and at 7:30 on the same day a special general meeting of the Federation of Agriculture will close the series.
