CARNIVAL PARADE PLAQUE AWARDED

Summerside Lobster Carnival of the town clerk following the resignation of Leo O'Meara, is expected to renominate and the remaining member of the council, Norman Hardy, is now residing in Summerside.

Election Interest Low At Alberton

ALBERTON — Interest in civic affairs appears to be at a low ebb in Alberton as the day approaches for the nomination of a mayor and six councillors to govern the affairs of the town for the next two years.

Yesterday two members of the present council definitely made known their intention to renominate Oetier Hurler, who has completed a two-year term, is also completing a term of office and Albert Clarke, who has served for two terms, is also not renominating.

Mayor M. Roy Leard, who has served as councillor for one term and is completing a term as mayor, said he is undecided but would probably offer for re-election.

Douglas Rix, who has been on the council for two terms and Charles Gordon, one-term, both were undecided last evening.

Arthur MacRae, who was elected by acclamation in April, will following the resignation of Leo O'Meara, is expected to renominate and the remaining member of the council, Norman Hardy, is now residing in Summerside.

Leaders At Home, Abroad Pay Tribute To Gaitskell

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Prime Minister Diefenbaker said tribute to Hugh Gaitskell Friday as a man of courage, integrity and devotion.

In a statement issued following the death of the British Labor party leader in London Mr. Diefenbaker said:

"I was always most impressed by his courage, integrity and devotion. In his passing, Britain loses a great son and the Commonwealth a dedicated friend."

Jo Grimond, British Liberal party leader, said the death of Hugh Gaitskell "will leave a gap in the whole public life of the country."

Apart from the deep loss it will be to his party, he will be deeply mourned by everyone associated with him in politics. Many of us were his friends as well as his colleagues and his death comes as a shock and a personal loss.

"He had built up a commanding position and was widely respected outside as well as within the political sphere."

Queen Elizabeth, from Sandringham, the eastern England royal residence where she is staying, sent the following message to Mrs. Gaitskell:

"I have learned with deep distress of the death of Mr. Gaitskell, whose distinguished services to the country and in Parliament will be sorely missed."

"My husband joins me in sending our sincerest sympathy to you and all the family."

Prime Minister Macmillan sent the following message to Mrs. Gaitskell:

"Your husband and I have been colleagues in the House of Commons for many years and I know how sadly he will be missed, not only by members of his own party but by all of us."

"He has achieved great political stature and his premature death is a grievous loss to the country and the world."

Sir Winston Churchill issued a statement declaring Gaitskell's death "is a great loss to the nation."

President Kennedy, mourning the death of Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the British Labor party, said "freedom loses a gallant champion."

Gaitskell's "strength of character, force of intelligence and generosity of purpose made him one of the foremost figures in the Western community."

The president said he was "deeply grieved" by Gaitskell's death and that he and Mrs. Kennedy "send our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Gaitskell and to Mr. Gaitskell's friends and associates in Britain and throughout the world."

T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party, said Mr. Gaitskell's death "is a tragedy both for the British Labor party and the people of Britain."

"At a time when Britain is beset by so many difficulties the services of this brilliant and dedicated man were sorely needed."

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson described the death of Hugh Gaitskell as "a great shock."

"He was an old and valued friend, and my first reaction is one of personal sorrow. His death was a great loss, not only to his party but to his country, especially at a time when he can ill be spared."

S'side Firm Has Branch In Sussex

SUSSEX, N.B. (CP) — The town of Sussex is set a date for a meeting as soon as possible with the M.F. Schurman & Company Limited building firm of Summerside, P.E.I., to discuss the firm's request for fixed assessment on real and personal property for a branch it is to open here.

The firm, which deals in building supplies, lumber and millwork, plans to begin operations here in April. It will occupy premises vacated by Senes-Up (Sussex) Limited, which has moved its operations to Moncton, Fredericton and Saint John, N.B.

The Schurman company asked in a letter, read at a town council this week, for a fixed assessment of $10,000 for five years with increases of 2 or 3 cents the firm's request for fixed assessment on real and personal property for a branch it is to open here.

Council discussion revealed assessment on the proposed branch was $22,500.

The Schurman Company proposes to buy Kings County Lumber for manufacture of pre-fabricated houses.

Special Plate Suggested

SUMMERSIDE — A suggestion for marking centennial year has been put forward by a Summerside man which would appear to be worthy of consideration.

The man, who wished to remain anonymous, suggested a license plate for the province that would bear special markings to indicate the province is celebrating its centennial.

He also felt it would be a good idea to conduct a contest with a nominal prize awarded to the winner, in which entrants would submit drawings of suggested designs for the license plates.

LABOR LEADER

His official policy is that the West must keep the nuclear deterrent until there is controlled nuclear disarmament was challenged by powerful anti-bomb elements within the trade union movement in a speech made by Frank Cousins, secretary-general of Britain's biggest union, the T. T. S. party and General Workers.

At the Labor party's 1960 conference the official leadership and the anti-bomb sections of the trade union members carried over a slim margin in a vote in which Gaitskell's official line was supported by a narrow majority of British shunhammers and the deterrent.

This was a devastating blow to the leader's personal prestige and some leaders, while Dr. Paul Cutmore presided at the piano. At the conclusion of the enjoyable evening, Ken Johnson extended an invitation to the club to visit the Summerside club at an early date.
