Glasses Of Fruit Jelly Sparkle In The Sunlight

"Oh yes, I leave my glasses of jelly a while on the windowsill in a housewife replied to our query on a recent morning. 'It's for no good reason that I always reminds me of the color of' she smiled, 'other than that it was the way my mother did. She always set hers there, as she said 'To catch the sunlight to clear it.' 'It's pretty, isn't it?' we commented. 'Fruit jellies are. With the sun shining through as it is now, it always reminds me of the colored glass - the large square ones arranged around it that was in the front door at home!' We nodded. And, it came to mind, that in Church windows? Like the tompost panes in the windows of the 'Old Kirk' at the Corner, that some inspired architect, planning 'better than he knew', had allowed for, in odd shapes, there, back in the mists of the years, even to highlight our worship; to lift eyes toward, to catch a glimpse of beauty, 'high and lifted up' when thoughts would dwell on mass mundane things, which even there would linger to perplex, more or less the heart. Then, we recall seeing the col-

HAPPENINGS

6 The Guardian, Charlottetown, Fri. Sept. 25, 1964.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce and son of Moncton, N.B. spent the weekend at the home of her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Doyle, Campbellton.

Margaret G. Coffey, RN, Milton, Mass., is enjoying pleasant holiday at the home of An Gavin, RN, Tignish.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Champion, have returned to their home at Kensington from Boston, Mass., where they visited relatives and friends.

Mrs. Elsie M. Sark of Lennox Island left Saturday by air to visit her sister in England.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gallant, Cardigan are enjoying a holiday in Toronto and Hamilton, Ont. While in Toronto they are guests of their niece, Mrs. Hugh MacPhee and family and nephew Jackie Gallant and family. In Hamilton they are visiting their nephews Earl and Elezias Gallant and families. On their return they will call at Montreal to see their niece St. Mary Bernadette, CND, and at Moncton to see their niece, Mrs. Rach Sanderson and family.

Mrs. Elbert Millman was a delegate to the Watch Tower Convention held recently in the Prince County Vocational High School. She was one of the large audience that saw the new colour film 'Proclaiming Everlasting Good News Around the World'.

The delegates interest was captured by the similarities in the many forms of worship portrayed on the screen through 24 major cities embracing the globe.

Mrs. Harry Chappell of Belleville, Ont. was the recent guest of her daughter, Mrs. Walter (Evelyn) Cooke and grand-children at Covehead Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Birt and son John left Monday for of it remains green. It's an odd sight, but beautiful. You must come with me sometime soon to see it. Do you know, Ellen, what I'd fancy instead of this?" he queried of the bacon and eggs he was sipping on. "You'd never guess! A plate of fresh caught smelts. There's nothing sweeter, now, is there?"

Days continue to shorten. Day breaks later. Dusk fall earlier. Past now are those delightful mornings, which gave us quiet spells of daylight to come to, before our world was astir. Soon, or even now on some farms, folks must 'burn the candle at both ends.' They must both meet, and leave their day by its light.

"Tomorrow should see the end of that piece of shindling though we'll have other bits to do here and there before the 'Fall' the younger farmer offers, come by to stop a moment at his christening. And so many at a day's close.

Vows And Rings Exchanged At Egmont Bay Ceremony

An August wedding took place at St. James Church, Egmont Bay when Marguerite Neldia youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Gallant of Abram's Village, became the bride of William Cornelius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Doucette of Mt. Stewart. Rev. Wendell McIntyre, performed the double ring ceremony, and celebrated the nuptial mass, assisted by Kenneth Savage, nephew of the bride as altar boy. The organist was Mrs. Ben Gallant who accompanied and joined her two little daughters Jeannette and Della in appropriate hymns.

The bride entering the church on the arm of her father wore a floor length gown of nylon over taffeta with a long sleeved bodice of lace trimmed with sequins. She wore a shoulder length veil held in place by a tiara of lace and sequins and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Bridesmaid was Mrs. Winifred Kelly, sister of the groom. She wore a dress of light blue over ivory taffeta with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

Best man was Alfred Gallant, Quebec City, brother of the bride. Ushers were Clifford Doucette, brother of the groom, and Clifford Arsenault, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a two piece dress of white and mauve silk with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a pink dress of lace trimmed crepe with matching pink hat and pink and white corsage.

The reception was held in Egmont Bay hall with over 200 guests in attendance. A three tier wedding cake and cut flowers centered the table.

The officiating clergyman proposed the toast to the bride, with the room giving the response. Speakers included parish priest Monsignor J. N. Poirer and Rev. Wendall McIntyre. Congratulatory messages were read by the best man.

The newlyweds will reside at Duncan Heights, Sherwood.

Nuns Adopt New Fashion

NEW YORK (AP) — A new fashion look among nuns was given its first public showing here.

The Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul have abandoned the traditional Normandy peasant style garb with its white ruffled starched cornetta headpieces.

In its place the Roman Catholic order's 45,000 nuns now will wear a modern one-piece tailored dress and short, blue, shoulder-length coils.
