DECAPITATION.

Life Said to Remain Long After Head is Severed.

"The executions in Paris during recent years have revived the old question whether death instantaneously follows upon the severance of the head from the body," says the Massachusetts Medical Journal. "Dr. Cinel asserts that decapitation does not immediately affect the brain. He says that the blood which flows after decapitation comes from the large vessels of the neck, and there is hardly any call upon the circulation of the cranium. The brain remains intact, nourishing itself with the blood retained by the pressure of the air.

"When the blood remaining in the head at the moment of separation is exhausted, there commences a state, not of death, but of inertia, which lasts up to the moment when the organ, no longer fed, ceases to exist. Dr. Cinel estimates that the brain finds nourishment in the residual blood for about an hour after decapitation. The period of inertia would last for about two hours, he thinks, and absolute death would not ensue till after the space of three hours altogether.

"If, he adds, a bodiless head indicates by no movement the horrors of its situation, it is because it is physically impossible that it should do so, all the nerves—which serve for the transmission of orders from the brain to the trunk being severed; but there remains the nerves of hearing, of smell and sight, and he concludes that the guillotine does not cause instant death. If this be true, could any other form of death be more merciful?"

Digging For Fish.

The natives of Kottiar, in Africa, are in the habit of digging every year, in the summer, the dry banks of the Verger river for fish, which they dig out by hundreds, just as they would potatoes. The mud lumps are broken open and the fish, perhaps 8 or 10 inches long, will always be found alive, and often frisky, as if just removed from its supposedly native element—the water. In the dry beds of several African rivers a similar practice is often pursued. A kind of mud fish buries itself while the bottom is still moist, and remains there all the summer, waking up when the rains commence again.

Sandy's Criticisms.

A young Scotchman went to a London school of music, where he learned to play the violoncello fairly well. On his return to his native village he gathered his friends together to hear his new instrument.

When he had played one or two tunes, he looked up expectantly. After a slight pause his old grandfather spoke.

"Eh, man!" he said, "it's a mairy there's na smell wi' it!"—Liverpool Mercury.

His Opportunity.

"I'd like something to eat," said the frazzled pilgrim at the kitchen door. "I'm that tired and hungry I don't know which way to turn." "I'll show you how to do that," encouragingly replied Farmer Haycraft, picking up a dull ax and leading him in the direction of the grindstone.—Chicago Tribune.

There Are Others.

Barber (fishing for a compliment)—Did Mr. Stubbies say anything about his visit to my place? Victim—I think he did. He said there was something unique about your shaving.

Barber (delighted)—Did he, now? Victim—Yes; he said that while in the chair it was borne in upon you in the strongest manner that you were being shaved. After you left it was impossible to realize that you had been shaved.

Java's Fire Island.

One of the greatest wonders of Java, "the fire island," a large lake of boiling mud, is nearly two miles in circumference, and in the center immense columns of soft, hot mud may be seen continually rising and falling, like great black timbers thrust forth and then suddenly withdrawn by a giant's hand. Besides the phenomena of the columns, there are two gigantic bubbles near the western edge, which fill up like huge balloons and explode on an average three times per minute.

Strangely Wounded.

"Some of the applications for relief sent to the local committees by sufferers from bush fires are strangely worded," says the Melbourne Argus. "Here is an extract from one by a widow: 'I have in family four dairy cows, two pigs, a horse and three children, all these being by my first husband, and two goats in full milk and a baby by my second husband. All of the animals was lost in the fire.'"

Our "Holy City."

One of the serious things told in Mark Twain's "Along the Equator" is that formerly all that people in India knew of the United States was the name of George Washington. Now they know also the name "Chicago, the holy city," where the congress of religions was held in 1893.

A Limit to Trust.

"She said she would trust me forever with her heart." "Well, that was satisfactory." "Yes. Then we fell out about who would carry the pocketbook."—Detroit Free Press.

"Nothing seems to please you," she said bitterly.

"I confess," she replied, "that you do not exactly meet my approval." After he had inwardly digested that he was inclined to be even more bitter.—Chicago Post.

Such a Language!

Now, the gallant riders rough, Having got their hard won dough, Soon will hear the zephyrs soug As they lie beneath the lough. Far away from mane and hough, Close beside the rippling lough, But they mustn't catch a cough, No, nor dose it a lough. And—but, say, this is enough. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Easy Job.

"I understand you want to hire a housemaid." "That must be a mistake. I do all my own work." "Too bad. It would be just the sort of place that I'd like."—Leitner Wolf.

A Lament.

Leafless and brown are the trees, And the wild waste rocks are brown, Which the wind green sea so stealthily Comes creeping up to drown, And the sky is cold and pale, And the northwest wind blows chill, And now upon the scene he'll soon appear— The plumber, with his bill. —Up to Date.

Give Them Credit For This.

"There's one good thing about these concealed people." "What's that?" "They don't come around and wear you out because they've got the blues."—Chicago Record.

A Suggestion.

A bounty on the fierce wolf's head The States should all restore; Then maybe people won't object To have him at their door. —New York Journal.

Speaking of Clocks.

You cannot always judge by appearances. A clock appears to be terribly modest, with its hands always before its face, but you'll find that there's a deal of brass in its composition.—Boston Transcript.

DEADLY CATARRH

has fastened its relentless grip upon some member of nearly every family in the land. Competent authorities estimate that from eighty to ninety per cent. of the entire population of this continent suffer from some form of this repulsive and dangerous malady. If you or any of your family suffer either from recognized catarrh or from the lingering colds which mark its early stages—don't trifle with it. It is the precursor of consumption and death.

Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder

never fails. It is the remedy of all remedies, endorsed by the most experienced and eminent nose and throat specialists of the day, and having a record of a multitude of radical, permanent cures of chronic cases which had been declared incurable. It also cures cold in the head, influenza, hay fever, loss of smell, deafness, sore throat, tonsillitis, asthma and all similar diseases. It is delightful to use.

"I have had chronic catarrh ever since the war," says J. C. Taylor, of 210 N. Clinton Ave., Trenton, N. J. "I had despaired of ever being cured. I used three bottles of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and my catarrh has entirely left me." Rev. C. E. Whitcombe, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Hamilton, Ont., was a great sufferer. He used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and now proclaims it a safe, simple and certain cure. The Lord Bishop of Toronto, Can., recommends the remedy over his own signature. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart relieves heart disease in 30 minutes. Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills—20c for 40 doses—are the best. Dr. Agnew's Ointment relieves in 2 day eczema, tetter and all skin diseases. Cures piles in 2 to 5 nights. 35c.

Sold by Dr. S. W. Dold and Geo. E. Hughes, Druggists
