

N.H.L. Opens New Season On Two Fronts Tonight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The National Hockey League, after the greatest off-season trading in its 38-year history and coaching shifts that affected half of the six teams, opens its new season on two fronts tonight.

At Detroit, the Red Wings—with only nine players left from last season's Stanley Cup champions—meet the Chicago Black Hawks, given a thorough overhaul after finishing in last place for two straight years.

The other premiere is at Montreal where the Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs, lone holdouts against the wholesale player trades, will whittle one contest off their 70-game schedules.

New York Rangers get rolling Friday night at Chicago and Boston Bruins see action for the first time the next night at Montreal.

WINGS REVAMPED

Detroit won the NHL title by two points over Montreal last season and went on to take the Stanley trophy by downing Toronto and then the Canadiens. But general manager Jack Adams spotted signs of wear and tear.

One of the biggest shakeups sent agile Terry Sawchuk, the league's all-star goalie, to Boston Bruins. Other swaps with the Bruins, Chicago and New York involved 18 players.

The new-look Chicago team—even their uniforms have been altered—will be directed this season by canny Dick Irvin, returning to the Black Hawk coaching job after a 23-year sojourn with Toronto and Montreal.

The Hawks picked up forwards Tom Leswick, Glen Skov and Johnny Wilson and rearguard Benny Witt from Detroit. Irvin hopes they will bolster Chicago's poor defensive record last season.

FAMILIAR SQUADS

Montreal and Toronto, in the main, are going with the squads that took them into second and third positions, respectively, in the 1954-55 campaign.

With Hector (Toe) Blake replacing the departed Irvin, Canadiens are standing pat with their high-scoring forwards and capable rearguards. Montreal counted 228 goals in regular play—best mark in the league and 24 more than Detroit.

The retirement of centre Tedder Kennedy after 13 seasons is the big change in the Maple Leaf lineup.

Muzz Patrick, now general manager of New York Rangers after last season's coach, figures the return of high-scoring Wally Hergesheimer, a stronger defence and deeper bench strength will lift the blue-shirts from their fifth place position of last year.

Boston, which finished fourth, figures Sawchuk's acquisition will mean a difference of 10 or 11 victories this season. He'll be replacing slowed-down sugar Jim Henry and Rookie Johnny Henderson, who shared netminding duties in the last campaign.

Former Boxing Champ Dies Down And Out In Montreal Rooming House

MONTREAL (CP)—Leo Paradis, a homeless down-and-out, died Tuesday.

Even his roomies in a 50-cent-a-night on St. Dominique street never knew that Leo Paradis was Leo (Kid) Roy, once the idol of Montreal fight fans, a chunky brawler who held both the Canadian featherweight and light weight Canadian championships and fought the world's best.

When he retired from the ring Kid Roy was still well off. He invested money in two taverns.

Roy was fond of gambling. Friends said he was also one of his taverns' best customers. His business ventures flopped and Roy began to drift. For a while he worked as a waiter in east-end rooming-house.

In the heyday of his fighting career Roy never cared who his next opponent would be or how much the match would mean financially. Roy's potent left hook was his big weapon in the ring.

Largely with it he won the Canadian featherweight title from Curly Wilsbir in 1923 and later the lightweight title from Chris Newton.

Kid Roy died in bed in a musty, windowless room. His estate: $1 which he owed as room rent; his one and only suit of clothes, a worn pair of boxing shoes, a few faded photographs that bespoke better days, and two pairs of socks. He shared the room with two other drifters.

He is believed to have died from a heart attack. His body was found when a friend, Leo Cleroux, called to visit him.

Pocket Rocket To Play Tonight

MONTREAL (CP)—Les freres Richard—the 34-year-old Rocket and the 19-year-old Pocket Rocket—will be tossed at Toronto Maple Leafs tonight when Montreal Canadiens open the new National Hockey League season at the Montreal Forum.

Canadians' management announced Wednesday night that Henri, brother of the famous Maurice, will make his NHL debut with the blue-blanc-rouge team.

The 157-pound little centre, who is still eligible for junior hockey, will play three games on lend-lease basis. Then the management will decide whether Henri will be signed to a contract and made a full-fledged professional and regular member of the club.

Henri, an established star with the Junior Canadiens, comes up to the big time with every indication of clicking right from the start. He is a good scorer and has many of the skating and shooting mannerisms of his older brother. During the training camp practices and in exhibition games Henri showed speed and ability.

One thing that has made the management hesitate about turning Henri professional yet is his light eight. At 157 pounds he is about 25 pounds lighter than big brother Maurice. But it is known that Henri has felt he is ready for a whirl in top company and Maurice has been inclined to string along with the youngster.

Brklacich To Pilot Beavers

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Steve Brklacich, 25-year-old playing coach with the Charlottetown Islanders last season, will pilot the 1955-56 Saint John Beavers in the Atlantic Coast Senior Hockey League.

Brklacich, president of the Citizens Hockey Club, George E. McInerney, said the husky defenceman has been given full responsibility for lining up a team and will bring several players with him when he arrives here Oct. 20.

The squad is expected to hold its first practice session two days later. The four-club loop of Beavers, Moncton Hawks, Fredericton Capitals and Amherst Ramblers will get into action Oct. 20.

Most of the players expected here were reported practising with teams elsewhere in Canada. No names have been released but it was said four or five are former Islanders. Brklacich has received authority to scout training camps in western, central and eastern Canada.

Players Begin Scattering After Dodgers' Final Ball

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Nobody threw a ball Wednesday except owner Walter O'Malley and the "ball" he threw for his Brooklyn Dodgers finally quieted down in the wee small hours.

Happy Dodgers were scattering to the far corners of the land to wait for the mailman to deliver their first winning world series cheques. It will be months before they lose the warm glow of that first hard-fought victory.

New York Yankees, who accepted defeat as calmly as they have greeted 16 series triumphs, also lit out for home to pack their bags for the exhibition tour of Japan, starting Saturday.

Some of the Dodgers were going to jump right into more baseball in the winter leagues or the exhibition circuit. Don Newcombe, the 20-game winner who failed in his only series start, was co-captain with Willie Mays of a group getting ready for an exhibition tour.

AMOROS GOES HOME

Sandy Amoros, the speedy little Cuban who made the game-saving catch on Yogi Berra in Tuesday's finale, was headed for home. He will play with Mike Gonzales' Havana club in the winter league which opens its season Friday.

Don Zimmer, the Dodgers' part time second baseman, expected to play with the Santurce team in Puerto Rico.

Johnny Podres, pitching star with two "big" victories for the Dodgers, will be home Saturday for a big party at Mineville, N.Y.

Nashua Favored To Win Today

By JOE CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Nashua will be an odds-on favorite today when he meets three rivals in the 63rd running of the famous Lawrence Realization at Belmont Park.

The $25,000-added Lawrence is a mile and five-eighths test for three-year-olds, and will be the longest distance Nashua has been asked to travel in his spectacular career.

The big bay colt from the Belair stud of William Woodward, Jr., also must pack his greatest weight, 130 pounds, and concede plenty to the opposition.

Breckinridge Long's Westward Ho, winner of the Discovery handicap, has 122 pounds; Thinking Cap, who took the Travers stakes for the Christiana stable, has only 114.

Nashua, winner of seven $100,000 races this year, is expected to go off at 1-5 or shorter with Eddie Arcaro aboard.

Ted Williams Is Undecided

BANGOR, Me. (AP)—Ted Williams says he hasn't decided yet whether he'll be playing baseball again next season.

During a brief stopover Tuesday on a flight from a New Brunswick fishing trip—the Boston Red Sox outfielder said:

"You know, it's funny. At the end of every season it's the same thing. You swear this will be your last one, but, heck, when spring rolls around you get itchy again. Honestly, I just haven't decided yet."

Mild Storm In Intercollegiate Football Ranks

TORONTO (CP)—A mild storm blew up in the senior intercollegiate football ranks Wednesday over the eligibility of import quarterback Gus Braccia who sparked Queen's University to a 30-10 victory over McGill Redmen Saturday.

Braccia, a graduate of a four year physical education course at Temple University in Philadelphia, was enrolled in first-year arts at Queen's. Under Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union rules a student transferring from another university must sit out a year unless he is entering a higher course.

Officials of University of Toronto Blues question whether Braccia, who previously tried out with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four, has entered a higher course at Queen's. They said they are not planning an official protest but feel an explanation on Braccia's status is due.

Queen's officials said "there was no question of his academic requirements for admission being in order."

At Montreal, McGill coach Larry Sullivan said he feels the matter is up to league officials. He added that he didn't think Queen's would have played Braccia if they had thought he was ineligible.
