News by the English Mail!

NAPLES.

The Independance reports the tenor of the second Anglo-French note presented to the King of Naples. The note, it is said, "insists" on an amnesty, and especially mentions the case of Poerio. If the King should persist in his policy, an Anglo-French squadron will appear in the Bay of Naples to protect English and French property in the event of a revolution. The King of Naples, it is said, is "disposed" to yield to these representations. Other reports represent him as preparing defences on his coasts, and refusing to yield.

FRANCE AND ENGLAND.

It appears to be the common opinion in Paris that the French and English Cabinets are at issue on several points, though no one supposes these differences can essentially affect the alliance. The investment of O'Donnell with the Grand Cordon of the Legion of Honour, and the marked attention paid to Count Morny by the Emperor of Russia, are not likely to please the English Government. The French Cabinet is said to have abandoned the project of an expedition against the Riff pirates, on account of Prussia displaying too strong a desire for the co-operation of England in an Anglo-Prussian expedition. The English Cabinet takes the same side as Turkey and Austria on the question of uniting the Danubian Principalities. The French Government is still undecided on this point.

RUSSIA AND SWEDEN.

A letter from St. Petersburg of the 2nd says—"It is generally reported that the relations of Russia and Sweden have been of late anything but friendly, and that the Swedish ambassador sent by the court of Stockholm to the coronation could not fail to have noticed the coolness which exists between the two states."

SPAIN.

Advices from Madrid, dated the 6th inst., state that O'Donnell is now completely aware of the intrigues which are on foot at the Palace against him. On this subject he has had an altercation with Marshal Concha, and their hostility is now openly manifested. The Infant, Don Francisco, father of the King, is one of O'Donnell's most active enemies, and it has been a question whether the government should not order him to leave Madrid. The King himself is narrowly watched. It is declared for a certainty that O'Donnell will never suppress the law for the sale of church property, nor allow Queen Christina to return to Spain.

Professor Morse, the inventor of the telegraph, and Colt, the pistol maker, were presented to the Czar of Russia, on the 17th ult.

Two Irishmen, named James Caldwell and John Malone, have been arrested at Cheraw, S. C., on a charge of being abolitionists. They were put in the hands of a Committee, to be sent to the free States.

St. Petersburg letters continue to revel in description of the glories of the special embassy to the approaching coronation. The diplomatic corps are to be conveyed "dead head" to Moscow. On the 2nd September a special train conveyed crown, jewels, sceptres, orbs, and different crowns of all the Russias. Treasures were exposed in open carriages, and immense crowds looked on in admiration.

Sir Charles Napier, in a late visit at St. Petersburg, was tendered by the emperor a suit of rooms in one of the crown palaces. He had made a bet that he would breakfast at Cronstadt and dine at St. Petersburg on the same day. It is further said that as these two pleasing operations have been effected by him between sunrise and sunset, he has won his bet.

THE TIPPERARY MUTINEERS.—The clearly expressed opinion of the country has been endorsed by the comparative leniency of the sentences which the soldiers of the Tipperary Light Infantry have been adjudged to suffer. The Duke of Cambridge has had an opportunity of inaugurating his present high command by an act of clemency, nor has he let the occasion pass. Even the officers who composed the court-martial at Nenagh exhibited a regard to extenuating circumstances not usually evinced by such tribunals. Of course, in strict accordance with military law, sentence of death could have been passed on every one of the accused. Such was not done, however, in even a single instance. It now appears by the sentences promulgated by General Chatterton the following day, that three men only were sentenced to transportation for life. The punishment her Majesty has graciously mitigated to ten years penal servitude. The sentences on two others of 21 years' transportation are commuted to six years' penal servitude. Two more are to undergo but four years' penal servitude in lieu of 15 years' transportation.

The man Burns, convicted of wilful murder, and sentenced by the Nenagh Court of Assize to be executed, will be transported for life. This is the heaviest judgment awarded on the whole body of criminals connected with the outbreak at Nenagh. The four militiamen sentenced to 15 years' transportation, will be subjected to penal servitude for four years each.

The announcement made by General Chatterton, that a board had been appointed to investigate any complaints the Tipperary Militia had to make respecting their clothing, &c., has given great satisfaction.

SIR CHARLES IN ST. PETERSBURG.—In St. Petersburg there is a story in circulation of a reply that Sir Charles Napier gave the Grand Duke Constantine. The latter, after letting Sir Charles see all the arrangements and the entire strength of the demands, asked him in a cheering sort of manner—"Well, Admiral, and why did't you come in?" To which Sir Charles replied by asking, "Pray, why did not your Imperial Highness come out!", ENTERTAINMENT OF A CRIMEAN OFFICER AT PRESTONPANS.—The safe return from the Crimea of Thomas Alexander, Esq. C. B., Inspector-General of Hospitals was celebrated with great cordiality in Prestonpans, his native town, on Tuesday last, when a number of the inhabitants and other friends entertained him at a public dinner. The presence of upwards of sixty gentlemen, and the enthusiastic welcome they gave Mr. Alexander, testified the hearty satisfaction with which his return and well-earned professional advances were regarded. The chair was filled by Robert Hislop, Esq., and, after spending a pleasant evening, the party seprated with sincere good wishes for the future well being of their distinguished guest, who shortly proceeds on duty to Canada. The entertainment was provided by Mr. Grant, of the Queen's Arms Hotel, and gave great satisfaction.

DECLINE OF THE BAR.—There are no less than 40 sets of chambers now to let in the Inner Temple, and 33 in the Middle Temple, and the entries of students are about one-fifth of what they were ten years ago. The calls to the bar have fallen off to a mere nothing compared to the olden time, for whereas the Middle Temple used to call a few years ago about 120 or 130 a year, 20 is now considered a fair average and even this number shows symptoms of decrease.
