Forecasts Prever tion Of Alcoholism In Few Years

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — With sufficient further research efforts by more scientists, it appears possible to prevent alcoholism "in the near future" by nutritional means a Texas researcher said Friday.

Dr. Roger J. Williams of the University of Texas said in a report prepared for the 124th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science:

"If there is an exercise of reasonable diligence, scientists should be able within a very few years to put into the hands of the public the tools whereby alcoholism, said to be our fourth most important disease, can be effectively prevented.

"Both the detection and treatment of alcoholism-prone individuals before they become alcoholics appear to be possible in the near future."

Dr. Williams declared that, in the past, progress against alcoholism "has been hampered by those who are sure that alcoholism is merely a 'psychological' disease, and have therefore neglected the physiological and biochemical aspects."

"Anatomy, physiology, biochemistry and psychology are all intertwined in the disease," he said.

BASIS FOR BELIEF

Declaring there is "a very substantial basis" for his optimism about future possibilities, Williams offered these points:

1. Over the last decade extensive animal and human research by workers in his laboratories "has pointed to crucial differences which fake an individual alcoholism-prone."

"These differences," he said, "relate to the appetite-regulating cells and tissues in our brains which in some individuals, due to inadequate nutrition, are highly susceptible to alcohol poisoning. Complete nourishment always makes cells and tissues more resistant to poisoning, and this is the remedial route which is clearly indicated."

2. In "many" individual instances, in the experience of his laboratories, the alcoholic craving "has, as if by miracle, been completely abolished" by the use of nutritional supplements.

But Williams indicated his belief that the specific nutritional needs would vary among alcoholics.

3. "Progress" has been made by Williams and his associates "toward detecting alcoholism prone individuals before they become alcoholics" by means of studies of blood characteristics and of blood and urine chemistry.

Christmas Service Held At The Sacred Heart Home

At the Sacred Heart Home, Charlotetown, the midnight Christmas hour passed sweetly.

As a prelude to the drama of old at the altar a choice selection of Christmas numbers was played by Mrs. Kathleen McGuigan in her own inimitable way.

Father B. Gillis was at the organ.

Rev. Kenneth McPherson sang the mass with the sisters in the choir and Rev. Leo Herrell gave as usual an inspiring message from the gospel story of the day.

The serenity and quiet of the chapel filled to capacity, its beautiful crib and choice flowers and lights for altar, and crib were just "a little bit of heaven" for young and old in this haven of rest.

NOTED BOTANIST

George Lawson, botanist and chemistry professor who died at Halifax in 1895, was an expert on water lilies.

Expect Air Traffic Climb

MONTREAL (CP) — There is "real hope" that 1958 will bring an air traffic increase higher than the steady 15 per cent of past years, director-general ir William P. Hildred of the International Air Transport Association says in a year-end statement.

One assurance is the planned introduction of economy class flights on the North Atlantic and the "continuation of other tried and proven promotional fares and rates throughout the world system."

Next year would be challenging as well as busy with airlines preparing for the imminent introduction of large numbers of turbine-powered airliners into service. Their arrival as "heralds of the scores of hundreds" due in 1959 and 1960 underline the fact that "a relatively few months remain before the problems of the jet age become critical."

Their demands were much more expansive than other craft but these could be met with the help of governments and international organizations. Much work has already been done, Sir William said.

"Joy of the Heart"

If joy and happiness seem hidden from us it is not hidden by distance but by nearness. It is buried in our own hearts'—deep, deep in the hearts inmost recesses.

One of the gifts of Christ to His disciples was joy. "These things I have spoken unto you that My joy may be within you and your joy complete".

In the Old Testament we find the same song of happiness. "I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, my soul shall be joyful in my God".

The Geta in distant India bore witness to eternal joy "for persons free from desire, or hatred, for persons who have controlled their mind and have realized the self everywhere is found bliss". Buddha taught that misery and fear were caused by error and that knowledge and truth conferred a complete and undying joy even here on earth.

Baha'u'llah counsels "My first counsel is this: Possess a pure kindly and radiant heart, that thine may be a sovereignty ancient, imperishable and everlasting".

Extract from literature Baha'i Faith.

Freemasons In New Temple; Officers For 1958 Installed

St. John's Lodge No. 1 and Victoria Lodge No. 2 of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons met in joint communication at Freemasons Temple 204 Hillsboro St. last night for the installation of officers by M. W. Bro. C. G. Lord, Grand Master of Masons in P. E. Island.

The occasion marked the first major activity by the Masonic fraternity in their recently completed new quarters made necessary through the devasting fire which destroyed the Masonic Temple on Grafton Street on the morning of Dec. 13, 1955.

St. John's Lodge which was established on Oct 19, 1797, has an unbroken history of 160 years. The lodge was organized by the officers of three Militia Companies sent from the New England States to garrison Charlottetown.

The first candidate initiated in the newly organized lodge was Governor Edmund Fanning who received the Entered Apprentice degree on Nov, 14, 1797 and in due time was raised to the degree of Master Mason. He was eventually elected Worshipful Master of the lodge and installed in office on St. John's night Dec. 27, 1801. He held the office for four years.

Cherished among the archives of the lodge is the Holy Bible Square and Compasses presented by Governor Fanning in 1799 and used in ceremonial observances for many years.

The history of Victoria Lodge No. 2 is recorded for one hundred years having been established in 1858. Their Centennial will be celebrated during the coming summer.

The Installation of officers was preceded by the Annual St. John's Day banquet held at the Y. M. C. A. with F. A. VanIderstine, P. M., as Toastmaster. Following "O Canada" and Grace, the Toast to the Queen was proposed and "God Save the Queen" sung.

The traditional toast- "The Craft" was responded to by the Most Worshipful Grand Master, C. G. Lord and the toast "The Saints John" was responded to by M. W. Bro. Rev. E. C. Evans.

Mrs. Olive Mingo, Convenor and Mrs. Helen Herring her associate accepted the thanks of the assembly on behalf of the ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star for the splendid turkey dinner provided.

The officers for 1958 are:-

TOKONOMA

In many Japanese homes is found the tokonoma—a tiny, indented alcove or closet, where members of the family may spend moments in daily meditation and devotion.

As Christians we also need quiet moments for personal meditation and prayer. Whether or not we use a tokonoma or special place, is not so important.

Wordsworth voiced our needs when he said:

"The world is too much with us, late and soon.
Getting and spending we lay waste our powers . ."

It is ironical that we as Christians have fallen so far behind the pagans in our personal devotions. Whether we acquire the habit of sitting quietly alone, thinking, or whether we read a portion of the Scriptures or use printed devotional helps, we will find our dedicated moments a special precious time.

At The Bible House in Charlottetown will be found a variety of devotional booklets—with scriptural references and meditations for each day of the year.

What better New Year resolution than to establish a spiritual "tokonoma" in 1958.

M. C. A. Crash Victims Buried In Prospect Cemetery, Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The 79 victims of an air crash at Issoudun Que., were buried Friday in prospect cemetery.

The remains were brought here in 13 caskets by train from Quebec City.

The 73 passengers and six crew members were killed when a Maritime Central Airways plane bound for Toronto from the United Kingdom crashed in a swamp last Aug. 11.

Graves were arranged in a rectangular design so that a memorial may be placed in the centre of the lot. Under present plans, it will be dedicated at a non-denominational service to be held in late April or early May.

MOST FROM ONTARIO

The victims were war veterans and relatives returning from a trip to Britain. Most of them came from the Toronto and Hamilton areas. The remains were interred from a common grave near the crash scene at the request of relatives.

The plane was chartered by the Imperial Division of the Canadian Legion. Due to the extensive work involved in the burial, it was considered by Legion officials that a service Friday would have been an imposition on the emotions of next-of-kin.

The burial was witnessed only by the staff of the funeral parlor which handled the arrangements; by officers of the Toronto Burial Board; F. T. Briggs, president of Maritime Central Airways; E. Mullin, Toronto representative of MCA; and officials of the Canadian Legion, including Glen Owen dominion president of the Imperial Division; John Peacock, immediate past president of the Imperial Division; Robert Gillies, Ontario president of the division, and Mrs. Ada Pearson, second vice-president of the division.

Rev. S. G. West, chaplain of Branch 31 of the Legion, officiated at the burial.

Important Series of Farm Meetings Designed To Assist P. E. I. Farmers

It was announced today that a special series of rural meetings, designed to assist farmers of Prince Edward Island, will be held in ten different communities between Tignish and Souris, commencing February 10th.

Prime purpose of these meetings is to discuss the low cost of making the average farm 100 per cent productive, and to show the people ways and means of fulfilling such a project, and companies in a position to do this work for hire.

In attendance at these meetings will be the Maritime representative of the Caterpillar Tractor Company, leader in the construction machinery field, a machine originally designed for agricultural applications . . . also a representative of the Rome Disc Plow Company from Cedartown, Georgia; also, representatives from various chartered banks to explain and discuss financing under the federal plan for this purpose.

These meetings will be held at ten agricultural centres from Tignish to Souris. If people in your community are interested in having one of these winter evening meetings in your area, arrangements can be made by contacting Donald Gordon at A. Pickard Machinery Limited, Malpeque Road, Charlottetown.
