Information Wanted.

To the Editor of the Examiner:
SIR,—Can you inform me what duties have been performed by the "Inspector of Taverns"—an officer appointed by the authority of the License Act of 1878. His powers are great. He is to examine and report on the way in which the Act is carried out, to prosecute for all breaches of the law, to enter any premises where he has reason to believe that liquors are illegally sold, to subpoena any witnesses he may think proper, to report quarterly to the Provincial Secretary what he has done, and to draw a salary of not less than four hundred, or more than six hundred, dollars a year.
Can you inform me who the Inspector is; what is his salary, and what he has reported to the Provincial Secretary as the result of his work during the past year?

Our Washington Letter

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 7, 1878.

It is acknowledged that Senator Conkling is as strong a politician as any of which the Republican party can boast. The gentleman, himself, has no mean estimate of his abilities, although he is too sensible and too much of a gentleman to be a braggart. A finer looking man is rarely seen. He has kept especially quiet during the last year, because of his antipathy to Mr. Hayes, as is generally supposed. He has, as yet, taken no public notice of the wide-spread reports concerning his expression of private opinion in relation to Hayes, &c., and says he does not intend doing so. He declares his belief in the existence of a scheme to draw him out that he may embarrass himself by speaking upon the present political complications in the Senate, but says he shall not allow such a scheme to succeed. As a matter of course, the recent disclosures, or confessions, or whatever you choose to call them, relating to the electoral affairs in Florida, have created much excitement here. There is but one thing fully demonstrated by them—that there exists somewhere, in somebody, the very blackness of darkness, infamy and meanness too vile for expression; but where, or in whom, does not yet appear. The attempt to defame and blacken, on the one hand, can scarcely be less despicable than the very deed done—if done it was—on the other.

To-day has been mentioned as a time for broaching the question concerning the President's title in Congress. Should the decision be reached that Mr. Hayes was not elected, would that not make Wheeler President? And if Mr. Wheeler should resign also, would that not place the President pro tem of the Senate, or the Speaker of the House in the Presidential chair? The Tariff Bill appears to make no progress whatever, and hon. Fernando Wood is in the dumps accordingly.

Mr. Brown and the Catholic League.

[From the Toronto Mail.]

Those Irish Catholics who in 1871 covenanted with Mr. Brown to give him votes in barter for representation in the Legislature and a share of the public patronage, are now realising what it is to come out at the small end of the horn. They kept their part of the compact faithfully. It was the Irish Catholic vote that gave Mr. Brown Ontario in 1871 and 1872, and enabled him to hold his winnings in 1874 and 1875. But he, the party of the second part, has failed to fulfil his contract. He accepted the Catholic votes with profuse thanks, but having seen his friends safely in power in the Province and the Dominion, his intercourse with the League chiefs became less and less cordial and to-day he treats them as if he owed them nothing. Of the morality or patriotism of the agreement of 1871, it is not necessary to speak at this time of day. Be the bargain what it may in that light, it was nevertheless a bargain; and if we cannot fully sympathise with the Leaguers in their betrayal, it is impossible to do otherwise than condemn Mr. Brown's ingratitude and breach of faith. For the political support he obtained from the League on certain conditions, he has returned no sort of value. The Irish Catholics have had no representative man in the Dominion Cabinet as promised. With a vast majority at his back, Mr. Brown has passed over the League almost contemptuously, and given vacant portfolios to men much less worthy of the honour and less fit for the position both morally and intellectually.

JOHN DONOVAN, of this town, fell in the hold of the bark Lizzie Cameron on the 15th ult., while that vessel was detained at Cariboo Cove, and sustained very severe internal injuries, which resulted in his death on Monday last. The captain, recognizing his condition, sent him to Charlottetown in the S. S. Prince Edward, from whence he came home on Wednesday night, having received no medical treatment in the meantime. His sufferings were very severe for two or three days previous to his death, which took place on Monday morning at nine o'clock. He was 38 years of age, and leaves a wife and two small children.—K. A fellow who wanted to be married asked the preacher to "carry the noose to Mary."

Immense Loss of Life and Destruction of Property.

NEW YORK, May 3.—A terrific mill explosion and fire (including five flouring and one planing mill) occurred in Minneapolis, Minnesota, yesterday, by which at least seventeen persons lost their lives and it is feared a greater number have perished. The loss of property was enormous. A rough calculation places it at a million and a half dollars, of which a million will fall upon the milling interests. The loss throughout the city by breaking of glass, etc., will amount to $10,000. Five flour mills and a planing mill were destroyed, besides adjoining property, including 87 out of 147 runs of stone in the city.

The Will of the late M. J. Cochran, of Halifax, contains the following bequests:—
$4,000 to his sister Margaret, the interest to be paid to her, and at her death to the ladies of the Sacred Heart.
$1,000 to His Grace the Archbishop, to be devoted to religious and charitable purposes.

$400 to Rev. Canon Power.
$200 to Rev. Alex. Melsaac.
$100 each to Revd's Messrs. Danahar, Daly and Murphy.
$400 to St. Vincent de Paul Society.
$200 to Society for Relief of the Poor.
$200 to Charitable Irish Society.
$1,000 to Wm. Walsh, formerly book-keeper of Jas. Cochran & Son.
$200 to Rose Kehoe, and $100 to John Dwyer, servants in testator's family.
$6 a week to be paid to Lawrence Morrissey during his lifetime.

The balance of all his estate to be invested, and the interest paid to his sisters, Mary Cochran and Annie, wife of Senator Miller; at their death to his cousins, Thos. and Mary Cochran; if they should die before the two sisters, the legacy to go to the Archbishop of Halifax; but if they should be twenty-five years old when the legacy would be due to them, then to revert to them absolutely. The will was signed 13th April, 1878, and Messrs T. E. Kenny and M. Dwyer are executors.

THE New York "Herald" says that, all denials to the contrary notwithstanding, Beecher's legal advisers are now engaged in sifting evidence of a conspiracy between Tilton and Moulton, which will shortly come before the Courts. The object of the conspiracy was, it is said, to levy heavy blackmail on the wealthy congregation of Plymouth Church, and to ruin Beecher besides. Another "mutual friend" will shortly appear on the stage and tell the whole story.

SCRAPS.

If spring poetry doesn't let up, there will be a general strike among waste-basket.

A little six year old says the eagle on Bland's new silver dollar "looks like a hen tryin' to light on a hot stove."

"How do you make Maltese cross?" was the question before the institute. And one of the school-marms answered, "Tread on her trail."

An old Grecian philosopher advises all men to know themselves. That's suggesting to a good many to form disreputable acquaintances.

A baby in a basket was found in the corner of a rail-fence in Pennsylvania the other evening. It is supposed to have been left by Miss Stake.

"Can you assist me?" asked a tramp, poking his head in a hotel parlor, the other day. His application was granted. The porter assisted him down the stairs, three steps at a time.

"Doctor, what do you think is the cause of the frequent rush of blood to my head?"

"Oh! it is nothing but an effort of nature. Nature, you know, abhors a vacuum."

A gentleman just returned to this country from a tour in Europe was asked how he liked the ruins of Pompeii. "Not very well," he replied; "they were in shocking bad repair."

The peculiarity of the fly is that he always returns to the same spot; but it is the characteristic of the mosquito that he always returns to another spot. Thus he differs from the leopard, who does not change his spots. This is an important fact in natural history.

Rev. Mr. Jasper, colored, of Richmond, Va., who has just preached a sermon to prove that the earth is flat and the sun revolves around it, was asked by a reporter to illustrate his notion. "Why," said he, "suppose you were in a cart. When the cart turns round, you do, too, don't you? Now, the horses on the earth don't turn round, and ain't it more expedient to suppose that the earth turns round?"

An honest farmer once led his two turkeys into his granary, and told them to eat, drink and be merry. One of these turkeys was wise and one foolish. The foolish bird at once indulged excessively in the pleasure of the stable, unsuspecting of the future; but the wiser fowl, in order that he might not be fattened and slaughtered, fasted continually, mortified his flesh, and devoted himself to gloomy reflections upon the brevity of life. When thanksgiving approached, the honest farmer killed both turkeys, and by placing a stone in the interior of the prudent turkey made him weigh more than his plumber brother. Moral: Dom vicinus vicinus.
