

Admiral Landymore Predicts Finish Of Canadian Defence

HALIFAX (CP) — Dismissed Rear-Admiral William Landymore predicts that unification of the armed services will bring an end to effective defence of Canada.

In his strongest attack against unification since he was dismissed by Defence Minister Hellyer for publicly opposing the plan, the former sea operations chief says "the minister's heading rush to full unification" presents a potential danger to the country's defence.

Admiral Landymore's remarks are contained in a 23-page brief which he prepared for presentation to the Commons defence committee. He released the brief here because "it is clear... that the committee will not be re-convened prior to the second reading of the unification bill."

He said his prepared testimony would be "irrelevant" after second reading of the bill in the Commons—approval in principle of legislation which would merge the army, navy and air force into a single force.

"The public has been duped into believing unification is the end and all of integration," the admiral says in his brief. "I predict it will be the end of effective defence for Canada and I don't envy you (the committee) your task of explaining your mistake if you support it."

searching inquiry. Demand to know the full implications. Demand to see a complete study of the plan before it's undertaken, before it becomes law.

3. "Should you be unable to see your way clear to halting unification altogether—before proceeding with the final legislation, I urge you to treat all your servicemen fairly and with consideration and include as a condition of the legislation that all serving personnel be allowed the right to decide whether or not they will join the unified force."

Admiral Landymore says the volunteer manpower of the armed services "is our greatest resource."

"Whatever your opinions on the merits, or otherwise of unification, believe me when I say our greatest resource is shrinking in numbers to the point where the operational effectiveness of our services will be impaired for years to come and that this shrinkage is largely due to misplaced enthusiasm for the unification experiment of unification."

The brief, written in both English and French, concludes with the words:

"If I have failed to impress you with the potential danger to the country's defence of following the minister's heading rush to full unification, then I have failed in the most important duty it has been my privilege to discharge."

The admiral says "the experiment of unification has been embarked upon without a full study of its implications."

"Everyone I know who has one way thinking on the subject has come to the conclusion it would be a mistake to unify now; that even five years from now might be too soon—and furthermore that never is probably the solution."

Woolworth Heir Is Found Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — James (Jimmy) Donahue, one of the heirs to the Woolworth millions, was found dead Tuesday in his mother's swank apartment on Fifth Avenue. He was 51.

Authorities listed the death as apparently from natural causes. Donahue was the grandson of the late dime store magnate Frank W. Woolworth, who died in 1919 at the age of 77. Donahue inherited a reported $15,000,000 from his grandfather's estate when he was 25 years old.

Donahue was a first cousin of another Woolworth heir, Barbara Hutton.

MOVE SAID 'FOLLY'

He said "it is not too late to call a halt to the folly."

The brief calls on the defence committee to:

1. "Demand that all processes of unification, however unimportant they may appear to be, be halted immediately. A delay for careful study may mean avoiding a catastrophe.
2. "Start a thorough and

CLAIMS SAID WRONGS

He says claims that the middle-ranks support the unification plan amount to "sheer conjecture for certainly no one in the commands has been asked his views. In Halifax... officers of all ranks made it perfectly clear this was not their point of view."

"Every aspect of full unification seems to be to be less effective, less economic, destructive in morale and amounts to a change for the sake of change."

— Here's how to work it: A X Y Z L E A A X E is LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Giant Ont. University Is Rapped

TORONTO (CP) — The concept of a giant institution to absorb all 14 of Ontario's provincially-operated universities has been rapped by university leaders.

The overwhelming reaction came after published reports Tuesday that the proposal would be a key recommendation of the three-man provincial commission on university affairs.

Headed by Dr. E. W. T. Spinks, president of the University of Saskatchewan, the commission's report was sent to the

1. Double. It is obvious that partner has some values despite his failure to bid over a diamond because, otherwise, the opponent would not step at such a low contract. Whenever the bidding dies at a low level, the last player to speak has to decide whether to give up by passing, or whether to fight it out for the part score or game, as the case may be.

The last player is said to be in the balancing position. He may pass when his hand so indicates, or he may decide to contest the auction. If he overcalls or doubles, his partner should remember that the bid is made in the protective seat and might therefore be substandard. The double in the present case, though light, is clearly indicated. It would be wrong to bid a heart or a spade, or to pass.

2. Pass. There is a limit to how far the protective principle can
