THIS is one of the best Farms in the Province.
It is situated about two miles from Charlottetown on the Highway Point Road, comprising 120 acres of land, about 90 of which are cleared, the rest covered with hard and soft wood. The land is rich and of the best quality. There is not a bad acre on the Farm. There is a never-failing spring, surrounded by a spruce grove, in the center of the Farm. There is a very comfortable dwelling house, with outbuildings. A large tract of land has been planted. If not sold, the Farm will probably be let for a few years.

IRISHTOWN HALL.

The Conservative candidates, Messrs Ferguson and Blake, spoke to a crowded meeting in Irishtown Hall on Friday evening last.
Messrs. Davies and Welsh, either that they look upon Irishtown as too unimportant a place wherein to squander their energies, or because they look upon the electors of that locality as already assured to them, failed to put in an appearance—a slight which was deservedly resented, and will on March 5th be effectually venged.
The grists were not, however, wholly without champions. The orator from the Patriot office—Hon. David Laid—was again on the scene. A local orator—Mr.
John Cann—also appeared personally in Mr. Welsh's behalf. Certain it is that a bitter contest could not have been produced. Mr. Cann seemed, indeed, to have received a "double baptism" of the worthy Commodore's spirit. His speech was characterized by the same vigorous and surprisingly original, the same untrammelled and ex-cursive fancy, the same incoherent and excessive rambling, the same reckless and unfounded assertions as have made the Commodore famous.
Mr. Blake was the first speaker. His gentlemanly bearing, together with his wide and excellent reputation as a business man, and, above all his sound and convincing arguments, secured him an attentive hearing. He showed that the tunnel scheme was first mooted by the Conservatives and had found in them its chief advocates, and made Laurier's insincerity in the matter plainly apparent by showing how entirely he ignored it in his speech in Charlot-tewtown, and again when importuned by the Guardian concerning it. The question of unrestricted reciprocity he also dealt with, showing the many objections to it in so plain a manner that he who ran might read.
Mr. Laid attempted to distinguish between unrestricted reciprocity and commercial union, but this process of hair-splitting was too delicate to be attempted with success. He attempted to ridicule Mr. Blake's opinions on farming, and as a specimen of his own profound knowledge of the subject, made the commonly reasonable suggestion that with unrestricted reciprocity farmers could grow more potatoes and exchange these for American corn and thus make a fortune by hog-raising.
Mr. Ferguson was at his best. His closely knit and concise sentences, his conclusive argument, made short work of Mr.
Laid's "airy and unsubstantial nothings." After convicting Mr. Laid of various inaccuracies in his remarks relative to the tunnel, he proved conclusively that unrestricted reciprocity once adopted direct taxation and annexation must inevitably ensue.
His speech was a model of vigorous and logical reasoning and was evidently of "convincing and converting power." It showed to an intelligent and a loyal people, a people without any yearnings after annexation, the true unwisdom of that policy which under the specious names of unrestricted reciprocity and commercial union is luring them to loss of independence and national existence, to political and civil serfdom.
The meeting closed with three rousing cheers for Ferguson and Blake—no uncertain indication of the favorable opinion entertained in Irishtown of the principles they profess and of the support which Irishtown will accord them on the 5th of March.

Blake's Silence Commented On.
Some Strong Statements.
LIBERALS HAVE NO ASSURANCE That They Will Get Unrestricted Reciprocity.
TORONTO, March 23.
At Inverary, last Thursday, B. Eden, the Grit candidate, whom Kirkpatrick defeated last election, speaking of Mr. Blake's retirement, said:—
"Hon. Edward Blake had been paid $25,000 by the C. P. R. to keep his mouth shut, and that was why he was silent." Kirkpatrick—"I deny that statement.
It is a disgraceful thing to say of an honorable gentleman." Bowen—"I can prove it. I did on Mr. Cartwright. Sir Richard's son, who was present, to prove it." Mr. Alex. Cartwright was coming forward to substantiate Bowden's statement.
Upon Kirkpatrick's insisting upon the production of proof, Mr. Cartwright said:—
"I have written proof." Alex. Cartwright, Sir Richard's son, also made the somewhat startling announcement that the Liberals had no assurance that they could get Reciprocity. "The question is quite problematic," he said.
It is generally understood that Blake's letter has been kept back out of regard for Mowat, who is supposed to be in the Car with his indiscretion will acid heart

Theory vs Facts.
"The Tories say that Britain is our natural market for all these articles. That is not the farmer's experience."—Toronto Globe.
Possibly, but then it is the experience of the Trade and Navigation returns for 1889.
To wit:
Great Brit. in. United States.

Cattle..... 4,992,161 488,246

Apples..... 1,277,577 230,108

There is no questioning these facts which are worth considering more to the farmers than the alk of men and journals panting for offices.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.
Facts About the Egg Trade SIR,—A Farmer's Son should learn something about the egg trade before boring the public with any more of his nonsense.
His case is a hard one when he must go back to 1880 (10 years) in order to find a depressed English egg market. Why, a few months back will show his own Eldorado—the United States market—in a state of glacial and demoralization. Another fact? Eggs 20 years ago sold in the New York market at an average price of 39 cents per dozen. Year by year the United States markets have grown weaker until in the year 1889 the average price in New York was only 13 cents per dozen.
Compare this with the incomparable English markets which have been growing stronger year by year until the average price in 1889 is almost 17 cents per dozen, with a market not to be glutted by a small increase of receipts, like the Boston or New York markets, now flooded by the over-production of the West-ern States.
Apart from the English market which "A Farmer's Son" and his annexation gang delight to depreciate we have a rapidly developing home market for our eggs, as well as for our other produce. The egg production in Canada is on a rapid increase, and in spite of this the export of eggs decreases yearly, at the rate of nearly a million dozen annually, and it is fair to assume that the demand for home consumption is increasing to the extent of from two to three million dozen per annum, the natural outcome of Sir John's excellent protective system.
"A Farmer's Son" says I took "6s per long hundred as the average price." He should don his specks and read again, for I said nothing of the kind, but I did say that eggs from P. E. I. realised "nearly twice that price" in the London market, and they were quoted as high as 35c per dozen, our currency, in 1890. He further writes, "every store-keeper now ships to Boston." Who does he expect to believe him? Again he says the business must be run "at a loss on the cost of the egg case" if he will take the trouble to learn the price of egg cases such as are used for the English trade, we will take back his statement. I have no notion of waiting for free trade, nor have I any expectation of living long enough to see its fruition, although I am young yet.

As for the "P-stores New," "Uncle Sam's Territory" and the "Suer ft," which he makes such glowing reference, I have only to say that it is a subject upon which we should speak with the greatest caution.
Taking into consideration the antecedents of the inner circle, and the fact that the last effort of a rogue is to bolster up a false-credit, his questions might impudently intrude into his own domain.
