Leod, N. McKay, Allan McLeod, A.
Sterling, J. G. Cameron, A. Raulston, Wm.
R. Frame, Wm. Grant, James Carruthers, A. S. Stewart, Malcolm Campbell, E.
Gillis, John McLeod, A. B. McLeod, A.
W. Mahon and W. H. Spencer, and Messrs.
John McDonald and Angus Bruce, Elders.
Elders' commissions were read and sustained from the Kirk sessions of Bodeque, Zion Church, Summerside, Tryon and Boushaw, Cavendish, Belfast, Cardigan and Dundas, Strathalbyn, Wood Islands, St. Peter's and Brackley Point Roads, and Georgetown and Montague appointing Charles Craig, Hon. D. Laird, John Clay, D. Matthewson, John Simpson, Daniel McLaren, John McMillan, John McKenzie, Donald Beaton, Kenneth Henderson, M. D., and Alex. Smith, respectively, to represent them in Presbytery and Synod during the current year. Their names were added to the roll, and Kenneth Henderson, M. D., and Donald Beaton being present, took their seats accordingly. Dr.
Pollock, Dr. Murray, Rev. D. McGregor, of Amherst, and Rev. Mr. Craig, of Ontario, being present, were invited to sit in the Presbytery as corresponding members.
Rev. George McMillan was chosen Moderator, and Rev. J. M. McLeod re-elected Clerk for the ensuing year.
The resignation of the elders comprising the session of Valleyfield and Brown's Creek was tendered and accepted, and Messrs. James Nicholson, Donald Beaton and Daniel McLaren appointed assessors to act with Rev. A. S. Stewart, interim moderator in the election and ordination of elders in that congregation.

The following congregations were named as requiring aid from the Augmentation Fund, viz:—Richmond Bay East, Richmond Bay West, Tignish, Tryon and Bon-shaw, Cove Head, West Cape and Bay Fortune. Rev. Messrs. McKay and Mc-Millan were instructed to visit Richmond Bay East and West; Rev. Messrs. McKay and A. B. McLeod to visit West Cape; Rev. Messrs. McKay, Carr and Fisher to visit Tignish, Montrose and Elmdale; Rev. Messrs. Scott and Archibald to visit Tryon and Boushaw, Rev. Messrs.
Carruthers and McLeod to visit Cove Head, and Rev. Messrs. McKay and Gillis to visit Bay Fortune and Souris, with the view of stimulating these congregations to make increased efforts towards becoming self-sustaining. These committees were instructed to report at a meeting of the Presbytery to be held in St. James' Hall on 25th inst., at 11 o'clock a. m.

Read an extract from minutes of the General Assembly, granting leave to this Presbytery to retain on their roll the name mittee were appointed, viz.: On obituary notices, Rev. Messrs. Frame, McKay

Messrs. McKay, John McLeod and Frame, and Mr. James Carruthers, of Bodeque; Statistics, Rev. Messrs. J. M. McLeod, Spencer and Fisher.

Rev. Mr. Mason having met with a serious accident which must necessarily disqualify him for active services for some time, the following supply was provided for his pulpit, viz.: Rev. Geo. McMillan, 9th, Rev. Wm. Scott, 23rd, and Rev. Wm.
P. Archibald, 30th August; and Rev.
James Carruthers 1st Sabbath of September. Rev. Messrs. Carruthers, Frame and the Clerk, were appointed a Committee on Supply.

Mills Blames it on Vail.

(From the Halifax Herald.) There is one member of Parliament who does not blame the Government for the increased sessional indemnity. This is Mr.
David Mills, who, by his 139 speeches on the franchise bill, did more to prolong the session than any other member was able to do. David Mills is the editor of the London, Ontario, Advertiser. He has his name in big letters on the top of the page, so that there is no question about the identity of the writer. Now Mills says that the Ontario Grits wanted no salary.
"Many of Mr. Blake's followers from Ontario were opposed to accepting the extra $500, but a few from some of the other provinces took a different view, and it was not thought desirable to resist the proposal."

'Had the party been unanimous in their opposition, we should have been pleased.
A small number favoured the increase, and it was not desirable to place them in a false position by opposing the government proposition. They would have been so placed had this been done.'

This is like Mills. He cannot shift the blame from his party. He knows they agreed to the appropriation before it was recommended. He knew the party settled the thing among themselves, and gave the government to understand that they would go in for the vote.

But Mills wants to get out of it, and so he blames Vail, and Kirk, and Davies, and Weldon, and Robertson. Because these men "from the other provinces" wanted the extra $500; therefore the whole party went with them.

We take the liberty of disbelieving the statement. We do not doubt that Vail et al pressed hard for the extra sum, but we have an idea that Mills did not resist Vail's pleadings with much firmness. At any rate he took his $500 as heartily as Vail took his, and so far as known neither of them has given his $500 to agricultural societies.

Dr. Walsh was on Sunday consecrated as Archbishop of Dublin by Cardinal Moran, along with a number of other prelates.

In Want of a Platform.

DIVISIONS AMONG BRITISH POLITICAL PAR-TIES—LORD RANDOLPH BROUGHT TO TIME —THE CHURCH ESTABLISHMENT AND THE LAND LAWS IN DANGER.

Although the electoral campaign is about to open, both political parties are still in search of a definite programme of party action. The developments of the past week have disclosed an immense rupture in the Conservative party, caused through the discontent of the old Tories, who constitute the vast bulk of the party. They believe the present Conservative leaders have been going too far in the hope to propitiate the Parnellites and secure them as allies. Remonstrances have been sent to the Marquis of Salisbury from nearly all the provincial Tory election agents. These remonstrances, added to the protests of the Conservative members of Parliament, have been the subject of Cabinet discussion.
The result is that Lord Randolph Church-hill has submitted to party discipline. He has agreed to take a humbler role and has engaged to go before his angry and disappointed party colleagues in Liverpool and explain to them and attempt to justify his relations with the Irish Home rulers.
He has also consented to go on an election-tour under the direction of the Marquis of Salisbury. Lord Randolph is stubborn, however, and has not surrendered unconditionally. He has secured the consent of his more aged party managers to advocate a Conservative policy, which will embrace local government reform and reform in the British land laws. It is true that these terms are very general, but it may be safely predicted that, having committed his party to a general advocacy of local self-government and law reform, Lord Randolph will, in his own time, secure the adhesion of the young Conservatives to a decidedly particular and radical application of the same principles. He will then, it is thought, trade, that is, he will merge his following with that of Mr. Parnell and Mr.
Chamberlain, snap his fingers at Lord Salisbury and the "old fogies," and go in for the leadership on his own account.
Lord Randolph was in his seat till past midnight on the 31st ult., preserving an air of aggressive confidence amounting to defiance of the Standard's attack. He received a constant ovation from his associates.

THE LIBERAL EMBARRASSMENT.

Bad off politically as the Tories seem, the Liberals appear to be in a worse condition.
They have, it seems, small prospects of securing unity of conduct among their clansmen in the coming elections, and small prospects still of agreeing on a party cry.
Mr. Brett, Secretary to the Marquis of Hartington, Mr. Gladstone's minister for war, caused more or less political excitement the other day by writing a public letter deploring the lack of party unity among Liberals, and insisting on the necessity of the party joining in a formal declaration of policy. It is now said that Mr. Brett's action was undertaken with the design of drawing Mr. Gladstone out and inducing him to speak, but the Grand Old Man refuses to formulate a policy for his distracted party, despite the constant representations of his colleagues that it is time to proclaim the principles on which he means to appeal to the new electorate. Mr. Trevelyan, who was the Liberal chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, Mr. John Morley, and a large number of other Radicals of their school, have outlined a political platform, which they urge the Liberal party to adopt. It demands the disestablishment of the church in England and Scotland, home rule for Ireland and reform in the feudal land laws. The Democratic Radicals accept this platform.

Special Purity League.

SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION AT A CONFERENCE AT ANTWERP.

A conference of British and Continental federations for social purity has been called to meet at Antwerp on the 16th of next September. The programme arranged for the consideration of the conference, includes agitation for the repeal of the Contagious Diseases Act and the abolition of the system prevalent in continental countries of regulating immoral houses. Mrs.
Butler, one of the leaders in the British federation, has published a letter in which she declares that the English Government gives a quasi-sanction to the protection of persons guilty of the crimes exposed by the Pall Mall Gazette, and that on this account it is especially necessary that there should be a public agitation of the whole matter, so that the public may be afforded light on the nature of the motives for the long continued opposition in high quarters to a repeal of the act giving control of the professionally vicious to officials who can be managed and the opposition to the criminal amendment raising the age of consent in girls from thirteen to eighteen years. Outspoken denunciation of several members of Parliament by name, for their obstruction in this particular reform, will, it is thought, be made in the Antwerp conference.

Mr. Gladstone in a letter says that personally he would have been glad if the age of protection of girls had been raised to 18.
Mr. Stead and others interested, met and appointed a committee to arrange a demonstration in Hyde Park in respect to the protection of girls. Rev. Dr. William Thompson, Archbishop of York, on the 2nd inst., addressed an audience of men and denounced the "conspiracy of silence" by which it had been sought to weaken the Pall Mall Gazette's revelations. He said this was not a party question, it was the duty of the whole nation to stamp out this rampant and horrible vice.

The last time General Grant signed his name was a few days before his death, when he put it on the back of a cheque for $1,000, which he had received from the Century Publishing Company four or five days before.
