Report on the LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY:

"We have visited the bottling stores of Greenlee Brothers, and have selected from the casks, samples of their Lorne Highland Whisky, and have subjected them to careful examination and analysis.
The samples were very fragrant, mellow, and of pleasant flavor, and possessed all the characteristics of pure and well-matured Scotch Whisky of the first quality."

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR.—Report has it that convicted runners, not very far from Charlottetown are boasting that they neither have paid the fines imposed, nor shall they do it, and that they will still continue the illicit traffic.
Whether it is so, or not, I know the impression has been circulated in the community.
If it is so, many interested would like to know why the fines are not collected? As the whole public is interested in it, would it not be a move in the right direction, to have not only the convictions, but the collections of the fines published? It is also said that certain parties who are suspected of being the runners and their friends of having laid, information have been threatened, and it is believed by many, will yet receive bodily injury. Now, why is this?
Is the rum fiend to dictate to the community? Is that the kind of morality that is required to be taught in this country?
And what other kind of morality is ever learned in a tavern? What is the first lesson taught but the violation of law and order? And what are the results of such lessons but loose morality, terrorism, anarchy? See it exemplified in the treatment received by a Minister of the Gospel at Mount Stewart, because he dared to lift his voice against these immoral teachings and tendencies. I would ask which are to be put down, the teachings and tendencies of the laws of God, or the teachings and tendencies of rum and the runner? and who are to do it? ATHELING.

Austria on the Watch.

The Montreal Gazette says:—That Austria is watching for an opportunity to get possession of a large part of the Balkan Peninsula seems to be generally recognized. For four years that Empire has been extending its influence over the navigation of the Danube and it has now virtual command over that river. Following the example of Russia, by fostering intrigues in other countries which should result to its own advantage, the Austro-Hungarian Government has managed to bring about the fall of the chief man in Roumania who opposed its aggressions. M. Stourdza, who has taken Bratiano's place, is the creature of the Austrians, and through him it is expected to complete the scheme of ambition which would make the Danube to its mouth an Austrian river. But that is only part of the designs of the Viennese statesmen. They want an outlet over territory which they would make Austrian, to the Ogran, as well as to the Black Sea, and in this desire they have the support of Austria's strong ally, Prince Bismarck has not been cultivating the Porte's friendship for nothing. He simply wanted to prevent Turkey giving itself away to any one of whom he did not approve.

Small Farms.

Few persons have thought it worth while to cultivate for profit small patches of land containing less than ten acres.
The cultivation of the many pieces of waste land within easy access of our market towns would give healthy and profitable employment to many of the struggling men and women that abound in our cities. Not many think of the great profit that can be made out of only a single acre of land if suitable crops are grown; take for instance cucumbers, from 80,000 to 90,000 can be grown to the acre; these can readily be sold at about $2 00 per thousand, but there are other crops that can be grown with greater profit, such as small fruits, herbs and vegetables. A quick wit will soon find out new paths in this as in any other business. The first man that grew mushrooms in a cellar for the New York market made a fortune.
Bee-keeping is another exceedingly profitable use a small farm which our people are just finding out. The report of the Bee-keepers' Association shows that during the seven years ending with 1876, the average yield per hive was ninety pounds weight. Twenty-five hives are allowed to each acre. Our readers, who well know the price of honey in the nearest market, can estimate the probable profit. Poultry raising is a business which, on a few acres, can be made to pay well. One woman we heard of who, beginning with ten dollars worth of eggs, in eight years possessed forty yards of the finest stock in the country, which yield her a competency.
Women as well as men could attend to this sort of work. Many of our small farmers are too desirous to enlarge their farms and frequently keep themselves and families poor by purchasing more land, and saddling themselves with debts that perhaps they are unable to wipe off during their lifetime, instead of devoting their time to growing crops that could be suitably and profitably raised on small farms.

Current Notes.

The French Minister of Agriculture has just placed at the disposal of M. Pasteur a further sum of 50,000 francs to continue his researches in connection with the contagious diseases of animals.

A College Point, L. I. despatch, says a tremendous storm, which has just ended, did $50,000 damage there, and $25,000 at Rockaway. The total damage at Long Island is estimated at $100,000.

Mr. Charles Gibb, of Montreal, a well-known horticulturist, is at present traveling in Russia for the purpose of examining the fruits of that country and ascertaining the possibility of transplanting the fruit-trees of Russia in the northern sections of the Dominion. His mission is one of importance to the whole country, and its results will be awaited with considerable interest.

The annual report of the English Post office mentions an extraordinary exhibition of confidence in the honesty of the service, which astonished even the employees of the Department. A £5 Bank of England note, without any cover whatever, was folded, addressed and stamped, and posted at Leeds. On being discovered in the mail it was enclosed in a registered letter envelope, and forwarded to its destination.

Over a grave in Brompton Cemetery, London, has just been set up a beautiful cross, on which appears the following inscription: "In memory of Elizabeth Jones, who died May 13, 1881, for 14 years the faithful servant and friend of Alexandra, Princess of Wales, by whom this monument is erected. Life's race will run, life's work well done, life's crown well won. Now comes rest. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

The Montreal detectives are evidently given to romancing. They state that fully twenty per cent. of the young female immigrants who land in that city are carried off to low brothels. Say that each steamer brings in eighty immigrants of that class—and that is rather under than over the mark. Then the weekly vessels of the Allan and Dominion lines alone contribute during a single season of navigation something like twelve hundred and fifty prostitutes to the criminal population of Montrea!
Credit Judous.

The Philadelphia Chief of Police has received a letter from the authorities of Hamilton, Ont., stating that a one-year old child had been abducted from that city on Tuesday last, and was believed to be with the kidnapper in that city. The abductor is a woman named Culhane, whose husband is a gambler in Denver, Col., and the police have reason to believe that instead of joining him the woman went to Philadelphia. A general alarm has been sent to the police.

A prominent stove manufacturer of Sackville while driving from Buctouche to Shediac last week had a narrow escape from mutilation or death. At Cocagne Bridge a furious bear with two cubs rushed from a place of concealment beside the road to attack him, and had almost reached the carriage when the horse he was driving fortunately took fright and ran away at a pace that left him behind. The bear, which was a very large one, was much enraged, and tragical consequences would have probably ensued, had she managed to get up to the wagon.—Post.

The Bishop of Algona has visited that portion of his diocesan flock living at Garden River. The right rev. gentl'man was well received by the natives, by whom he was known as "Kechemakeds Wekoc-nukya," the big black cat. Before leaving Garden River the pipe of peace was smoked, and the Bishop was named by an old chief "Tabahsega," or radiant light, while Mrs.
Sullivan was termed "Misquaboenoquo," rosy down. The Indians certainly set their white countrymen a good example, for when they confer a name they give one which means something pleasant. Red men when given English names usually receive ridiculous titles.—Mail.

Arabi's attack on Wolsley on Friday last was a repetition of the blunders made by the French general when fighting the English in Egypt in 1801. Before daybreak Menou attacked Abercromby, who was well entrenched on the sandy hills, and had taken Aboukir. Abercromby was actually engaging for a night attack to take place forty-eight hours later. It is very probable Menou would have beaten him off, for the walls and forts were at this time very strong. Abercromby could hardly believe it when he heard that the French had been so foolhardy as to leave their protection and march out. From the first, victory was certain, but the battle was hard fought. A feint was made in the darkness against the English left; but the attack was feeble, and the English held their ground all day by the side of the lake.
The French loss, including prisoners, was not much under 4,000 men; yet the whole action was over at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

A foreign letter of the Newark Daily Advertiser says: French women, often stig-matized as the most frivolous of their kind, are in reality the most thrifty—a virtue that frequently degenerates into an absolute parsimony. I saw a striking instance of making the best of unregarded trifles the other day, when dining with one who certainly has a reputation for prudence. A cherry pie had been on the table, and the mistress gave strict injunctions that all the stones were to be scraped from the plates and placed in her storeroom. I ventured to ask the reason, and was told that not only cherry, but plum, peach, and all manner of stones, whether cooked or raw, were invariably saved, gently dried in the oven, and kept in a great jar. "Then," said madame, "in the winter, when the fire burns clear and bright in the evening, I fetch a handful and throw them among the glowing coals. They crack and splutter for a moment, send up a brilliant flame, and the whole room is filled with a delicious odour."
