LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Park Roadway.

SIR,—The committee of citizens asking for the opening of a roadway in front of the Government farm, to Victoria Park, states in their petition that they "cannot conceive of any more laudable or praiseworthy mode in which the Jubilee of Her Majesty could be celebrated by the loyal citizens of Charlottetown than in the opening of such a much wanted and convenient access to the public park." They also state in their petition that they have heard with pleasure of the intention of the City Council to appropriate a sum of money towards the celebration in Charlottetown of Her Gracious Majesty's Jubilee, and wind up by expressing their belief that any such monies should be devoted to the building and maintenance of such roadway or esplanade.

Now, Mr. Editor, we ask how can the small sum voted by the City Council in aid of the jubilee celebration, so highly commended by citizens generally, be devoted towards the building of this roadway? The roadway committee must know that it is utterly impossible to commemorate Her Majesty's Jubilee by a "public celebration" without funds. Therefore the appropriation in question must be left to the committee of the City Council, to be devoted to the jubilee celebration, or if taken from them for any other purpose however laudable, it will be diverted from its legitimate and loyal object, namely, to aid in a celebration worthy, not only of the citizens of Charlottetown, but also of the Province, which bears the name of Prince Edward Duke of Kent.

Yours loyally,
April 25, 1887. C.

The "Closure" Rule.

The "closure" rule, as finally adopted by the British commons, reads as follows:—"That, after a question has been proposed, a member rising in his place may claim to move 'That the question be now put,' and unless it shall appear to the chair that such motion is an abuse of the rules of the house, or an infringement of the rights of the minority, the question 'That the question be now put,' shall be put forthwith and decided without amendment or debate. When the motion 'That the question be now put,' has been carried and the question consequent thereon has been decided, any further motion may be made (the assent of the chair as aforesaid not having been withheld) which may be requisite to bring to a decision any question already proposed from the chair; and also if a clause be then under consideration, a motion may be made (the assent of the chair as aforesaid not having been withheld) that the question, 'That certain words of the clause defined in the motion stand part of the clause, or that the clause stand part of, or be added to the bill, be now put.' Such motions shall be put forthwith and decided without amendment or debate. Provided always, that questions for the closure of debate shall not be decided in the affirmative, if a division be taken, unless it shall appear by the members declared from the chair that such motion was supported by more than 200 members, or was opposed by more than 100 members. Provided always that this rule shall be put in force only when the speaker or chairman of ways and means is in the chair."

The Fisheries Dispute.

One by one the fabrications set afloat by American politicians and their Canadian allies that the Dominion and English cabinets are not in accord as to a settlement of the fisheries dispute, are utterly and completely exposed. The Colonies and India of the 8th inst., referring to Sir Henry Holland's speech at the Imperial Conference, says:—

"Sir Henry Holland has once for all demolished all the rumors that have been current about the alleged obstinacy of the Canadian government in its negotiations with the cabinet of London and Washington. The question is not one of that series of questions of more general interest which the conference is invited to discuss, but even if it had been it is doubtful whether it could properly have been brought forward pending negotiations between the powers interested. As Sir Henry Holland stated, it would have been manifestly inexpedient for him to do more than state that Her Majesty's government are in communication with the government of the United States, but he was able to add his expression of the hope that the negotiations may result in an equitable and satisfactory adjustment of the difficulties, and he went on to recognize the readiness with which the Dominion government have shown to meet the views of Her Majesty's government, and to facilitate an arrangement of this question." This statement should have a beneficial effect on the negotiations, by making it patent to the world that England and Canada are of one accord on the subject.

St. Augustine, Fla., which seriously suffered from fire the other day, was settled by the Spaniards in 1565, and is the oldest town in the United States. The Catholic cathedral, which was destroyed, stood in the Plaza de la Constitution, and was built in 1793, in the Moorish style. The belfry contained a bell in each of its four niches, which with the clock made a perfect cross. One of the bells bore the date of 1652. The cathedral fronted on the plaza, in the centre of which stands a monument erected in 1812 to commemorate the Spanish Liberal Constitution. Fronting on the plaza are also a Methodist, a Baptist and a Presbyterian church. The old Spanish "Governor's Palace," now the Post-office, is also near by.

Evidence as to the age of trees always requires careful examination. The Lumber Trade Journal says that many surveyors and lawyers know that the concentric rings are not to be taken as evidence of the lapse of time, and it gives the following as the result of an examination of pieces of wood from trees the age of which was known: Pig hickory 11 years old showed 16 rings; green ash, 8 years, 11 rings; Ky. coffee tree, 10 years, 14 rings; Burr oak, 10 years, 24 rings; chestnut, 4 years, 7 rings; peach, 8 years, 9 rings; chestnut oak, 24 years, 18 rings.

EVERYTHING in mens' furnishings can be had at the lowest price at D. A. Bruce's.

Tree Planting.

Says the Annapolis Sentinel: Next to house cleaning, tree planting has become part of the work on hand in spring. We have repeatedly called attention to the subject and we are pleased to note that considerable improvement has been made in this line in the last few years. In many of the school grounds of the country, steps have been taken to improve the surroundings by planting ornamental and shade trees. The spring is the best time to do such work and it is to be hoped that proper attention will be given to it.

There is great talk about the Queen's jubilee. If people through the country cannot build memorial halls or erect monuments to celebrate the event they can, at least, plant a few trees which will beautify the landscape and at the same time be a reminder of the jubilee of our good and gracious Queen Victoria. Teachers can do much by cultivating a taste for beautifying the surroundings by planting trees, and it is to be hoped that the season for planting useful and ornamental trees will not be allowed to pass without much being done in this line.

Suicide of a Naval Hero.

An Annapolis, Md., despatch of April 29, says: Lieut. John W. Danenhower, of Arctic fame was discovered at 10 o'clock this morning dead in his quarters at the Naval Academy, with a bullet hole in his right temple. He was found lying on a rug in front of his fireplace, with a tag tied to his button hole, saying: "Send to my mother at Washington." Although he had had mental troubles since he returned from the Arctic regions, what immediately led to the suicide is thought to have been the recent grounding of the Constellation on its way to Norfolk, which he had charge of, and for which it is supposed he had a fear of being court-martialed. Furthermore, he was very intimate with young Robert W. Gatewood, who committed suicide a few days ago on the steamship Carolina, and whom he saw in death. It is supposed that his death suggested the mode to him. His wife, formerly Miss Sloan, of New York, is away with her parents. Lieut. Danenhower leaves two children. He was about 35 years old, and an intelligent and polished officer.

The Coercion Bill.

The coercion bill is the cause of a bitter agitation throughout Great Britain. Mr. Chamberlain has been touring through Scotland, and his language has been of the most inflammatory character, and amid cheers and hisses he has strongly denounced the opponents of the bill. Sir George Trevelyan, one of the Unionist leaders, though holding to his views on Home Rule, has issued a manifesto against the bill, in which he says, "no true Liberal ought to entrust such powers to them." John Bright, though expressing sympathy with the Irish people, says, "it is this sympathy which makes it impossible for me to consent to hand over to this rebel conspiracy the government of five millions of the subjects of the Queen, of whom I cannot doubt two millions are loyal and content with the union with Great Britain." Notwithstanding the defiant attitude of the Irish members of Parliament, the bill, though it may be delayed, will, from appearances, pass Parliament by a large majority. What then will happen no one can foretell.

Contempt of Court.

An editor has been found guilty of contempt of court. In this case it was an Ontario editor and a police magistrate's court. Editor Panton, of the Milton Champion, was called as a witness in a Scott case, and on being asked "Did the defendant give you anything to drink?" refused to answer. He was committed and imprisoned a day and a half for contempt, and then liberated. At an interview subsequent to his release, Mr. Panton avowed his intention of again refusing to answer the question if it is again asked him.

The Milton editor shows a genuine delicacy peculiar to the profession. The invitation to take something he considers a purely confidential communication. Besides there is the larger question whether the justice was not guilty of a contempt of the press in asking such a question. What editor can be supposed to know anything about actual violations of the Scott act, any way? If justices will go on asking such inconvenient questions of newspaper men the relations between the bench and the press will become more and more strained.—St. John Telegraph.

Boston Markets.

April 20, 1887.
FISH.—There is a dull market for all kinds of pickled fish. Mackerel are held fairly steady, but there is little or no demand for such as are receivers' hands. We quote Nova Scotia No 1 at $14, and extras at $15 to $17 per bbl. No 2 are scarce and held at $13 to $14. Large No 3 are steadier at $8 to $8.50 per bbl. The receipts of mackerel for the week closing Friday were 489 bbls, of which 407 bbls were from the Provinces. Imports from Provinces since January 1 foot up 14,226 bbls against 9,625 bbls same time last year.
POTATOES.—The market for potatoes sustains a firm tone, with a good demand.
EGGS.—The market has ruled fairly steady, with sales of Western at 13c., and Eastern at 13 1/2 and 14 cts. per dozen.

The Champion.

Mary Ann James, a colored lady now living in Portland, Maine, is said to be the oldest person living. She was born in Annapolis, N. S., in 1776, and is consequently 111 years old. Dr. H. Merrill, of Portland, writes to Annapolis to have the record searched so as to verify the old lady's statement, but there are no records so far back as 1776, consequently her statement will have to be taken. The doctor says her looks indicate Indian blood.—Annapolis Spectator.

ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM has gained a reputation which places it in the front rank of curative agents. It has been in the market about twenty years. It is now recommended by the best physicians because it cures coughs and colds every time. Price 50 cents. Trial bottles 10 cents. dy wy
