OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative party is indignant about two recent speeches of Trade Minister Howe.

John Diefenbaker, one of three candidates in the race for the Conservative party leadership, said in a weekend interview that the main points in the two speeches have been Progressive Conservative policy for many years.

"Mr. Howe has deliberately stolen the opposition thunder," the 61-year-old MP for Prince Albert, Sask., said.

Diefenbaker was referring to statements made by Mr. Howe in speeches last week in Chicago and Milwaukee, Wis.

CITES POINTS

He said two of the chief points made by Mr. Howe were that Canadians could not continue to buy more from the United States than they sell to that country and that Canadians should play a bigger role in American-owned enterprises in Canada.

"We have constantly made these two arguments in Parli-ment," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

"We expressed these views over and over again but our arguments were met by an attitude of complete indifference on the part of Mr. Howe and his cabinet colleagues."

TWO-WAY STREET

Mr. Howe said in Milwaukee that Americans took it for granted that Canada would continue to import from the U. S. annually $1,000,000,000 more in goods than Canadians exported to the U. S. He added that Americans should remember that Canada can buy only if it has an equal opportunity to sell.

"This is an admission by Mr. Howe of the justification of our criticism of a danger of having so large a proportion of our trade exclusively centred in the U. S.," Diefenbaker said. "Canada cannot continue to have a huge trade deficit with the United States without detrimental effect on the Canadian economy."

Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. Howe's statement "supports our stand for a British Common-

U. S. Government Is Watching The Price Of Hogs Closely

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. government farm officials are keeping a watchful eye this fall on prices and markets for agricultural products.

Their aim is to be ready to act quickly to shore up markets for any commodity which shows signs of weakening significantly.

They already have set up a broader list of price support and surplus disposal programs than at any time since President Eisenhower took office in 1953.

At the moment, administration officials are keeping closest tabs on markets for hogs — a major source of fall income in politically important midwestern states such as Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio.

HOGS AN ISSUE

Local leaders of both parties say outcome of the Eisenhower-Stevenson race for the presidency in some of these states may well be determined by what happens to hog prices before the election.

The administration also has been buying eggs and turkeys for several weeks in an attempt to raise poultry returns. It similarly is buying hamburger meat to help cattle prices and plums, cabbage and sweet potatoes to avoid vegetable and fruit growers.

These are being turned over to the government-sponsored school lunch program and to charitable institutions.

The agriculture department is pushing a program for the diversion of surplus potatoes into starch flour and livestock feed. Under the program, growers get government subsidies of 50 cents a hundred pounds on table stock potatoes diverted from regular potato markets.

In another step to bolster potato prices, the department has renewed important regulations aimed at restricting imports from Canada and other exporting areas.

DIVERT CATTLE

It also is co-operating with other agencies of the government to divert cattle from southwestern drought areas to farms and ranches in Mexico.

Ohio Evangelist Heard At Central Christian Church

Rev. Hugh F. Senisbaugh, minister of Lockland Christian Church Cincinnati, Ohio, began his current series of sermons in the roll of evangelist at Central Christian Church yesterday. He chose as texts for his sermons, two great questions which were asked in the scriptures concerning Jesus. The first was asked by Pilate and directed to the Jews: "What shall I do with Jesus who is called the Christ?" in the evening the topic was a question which Jesus himself asked his disciples: "Whom do men say that I am? Or who do ye say that I am?" The minister's reply was based on Peter's answer: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God."

The services were largely attended. Following the evening sermon, six persons acknowledged their belief in Jesus Christ as God's son and were baptised.

A Tribute To Donald Campbell O.B.E., M.D.

The following has been received from Dr. W.J.P. MacMillan O.B.E. I wish to write a few words in sincere appreciation of the life work of my dear friend and colleague, Dr. Don Campbell.

When my revered teacher at McGill, Dr. John MacRae, wrote that immortal epic "In Flanders Fields" his call for volunteers to grasp and hold high the torch of liberty, falling from dying heroes' hands, has been fully and nobly answered by thousands of loyal sons of the Empire. Thus, that great epic "In Flanders Fields" proved a wonderful rallying cry in two great world wars and among those who answered twenty-five years later and who served in Flanders Fields was Donald Campbell.

On the historic battle fields of Normandy Dr. Campbell, then Lt. Col. Campbell, Chief Surgeon in No. 7 Canadian General Hospital, did his noble work. This, to my mind, was the scene of Dr. Campbell's great sacrifice. That dreadful campaign resulted in many thousands of casualties and Dr. Campbell's sacrifice was in standing in the operating table until he dropped from physical exhaustion and after a few hours of sleep he was back operating on poor wounded soldiers. This glorious ordeal was the primary cause of the serious illness which eventually cost him his life.

It is not necessary to say that Dr. Campbell was an able brilliant and successful surgeon. He came to this City and that genial friendly disposition of the land of his birth made him a general favorite. Until forced to resign he gave many years of faithful service to veterans in our City Hospitals.

In this world there is no greater sacrifice than laying down one's life for others—that, in short, is Dr. Campbell's record.

I extend my sincere sympathy to Mrs. Campbell and daughters.

Beaverbrook Very Critical Of European Free Trade Proposal

MONTREAL (CP)—Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born British press baron, Sunday branded the proposed British-European free trade area as a "terrible danger" and a "disgrace to the Tory administration" of the United Kingdom.

In an interview, the 77-year-old publisher of the Express group of newspapers, Lord Beaverbrook said that the "unfettered Commonweal" trade he long has championed. He contended the new plan endangers Canada.

"Continental Europe, with its cheap labor and long hours, would easily take over Canada's position," Lord Beaverbrook said. "That would ruin the most suited market for Canadian exports — and that market remains Britain."

"Don't forget that Britain buys far more from Canada than she exports to the Empire. From Britain, it's a better market than the United States."

"TERRIBLE DANGER"

He called the proposed scheme "not only a terrible danger — it might prove fatal to the Empire."

Europeans would export more than goods to Britain, he said with vigor.

"They would export the unemployment that is chronic in several continental countries."

"Did he think the plan would be accepted?"

"That I don't know. All I'll say is that either the plan fails or, if it succeeds, Britain fails."
