S'ide High School Girls Show Own Fashion Creations

SUMMERSIDE — Looking lovely in fashions of their own creation, more than 100 Summerside High School girls last evening modelled feminine fashions they had made as part of their sewing training in the Home Economics Department during the present school term. About 300 persons attended the teen fashion show, the ninth annual that has been presented by the students, under the direction of their instructress and her assistants Mrs. Allison MacLean and Mrs. Davis Lidsone. A musical program was presented as part of the show, and featured choral singing, piano and vocal solos, and folk songs by various school students. The fashions modelled by the girls included skirts, blouses, slacks, jumpers, dresses, suits, and party dresses. The girls attending Summerside High School commence their sewing training in Grade 8, and by the time they reach Grade 12 have become very proficient in the work, as was attractively demonstrated last evening. The mistress of ceremonies was Miss Joan Parlee, and fashion commentators were Mary Woodsie, Loretta Bryant, Kathryn Logan and Marjorie Shaaks.

Feature Event For Kensington

One of the feature attractions of the season will take place at the Kensington rink tonight (Friday), Monday, and, if necessary, Tuesday night, when William Blakeney's Kensington Bombers go against the New Annan Beavers for a best out of three game series in the third round of the P. E. Island intermediate "C" playoffs. Neither team has lost a game to date, Kensington taking Hampshire and Bedeque in straight games, while New Annan beat out Dunstaffnage and Kinkora in two straight games in each round. The Bombers, considered the

Mr. MacKinnon spoke briefly of the APEC food show at Moncton and reported that Island products displayed at the show looked well indeed among those displayed by the other provinces. ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Frank Chafe, Newfoundland representative of the Canadian Labor Congress, charged Thursday that Premier Smallwood is staging "a political pantomime" in his stand in the strike of loggers against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company. Mr. Chafe said the people of Newfoundland are being asked to act as judge and jury on the act of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) without "a single scrap of evidence to support charges that the union is endangering the Newfoundland economy."

Corner Brook PC's Oppose Party's Stand On Strike

By IAN MACDONALD. Canadian Press Staff Writer GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—The Corner Brook branch of the Newfoundland Progressive Conservative party—second largest on the island—announced Thursday it opposes the party's stand in connection with the strike of pulpwood loggers here. At the same time, suspended leader Sterling Thomas sought reinstatement from President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress. These were the latest developments in the bitter and violence-marked strike of 1,200 loggers of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) against Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company. WONT BACK SMALLWOOD The Corner Brook group wired conservative opposition leader Malcolm Hollett it was "dissociating itself entirely from the stand taken by the four opposition members of the provincial legis-
