U. S. Steel

CLEVELAND, (AP) - The magazine Steel says today the steel market has more of a peacetime look now than in a long time. "You can tell that from the way demand for light flat-rolled steel is moving ahead of demand for the forms of steel, such as large bars and heavy plates, customarily in heavy need during war periods," Steel says.

The weekly summary of the metal working industry, says, however, this should not be interpreted as any drop in demand for defence steel. If the industry had not increased its capacity in the last three years, Steel adds, there would be little room for thinking in terms of additional steel for civilian purposes.
