MANICURING AT HOME.

One Branch of a Constantly Increasing Business.

Of the greatly increased, and still increasing numbers of persons who have their hands attended by professional manicures, a great number now have the work done at home. Among the customers at the large manicuring establishments there are almost as many men as women; those whose hands are cared for at home are nearly all women and regular customers. Operators are sent to them at any desired hour from the manicuring establishments, and there are now visiting manicures who devote themelves entirely to home work. The visiting manicure acquires the art in a manicuring establishment. An apt pupil can learn the work in two or three months. She then sets about building up a route of customers.

Women usually have their hands cared for once a week. They are not likely all to want the work done at the same time, and the visiting manicure endeavors to lay out a route that can be covered without loss of time and which will keep her constantly employed. More parents now have the hands of their children, both boys and girls, cared for by a manicure, beginning when the child is six or seven years old. In the case of children, the work is often done to cure them of the habit of biting the finger nails as much as it is to beautify them. It is sought to instil in the child a pride in the appearance of the nails, and thus to prompt it to preserve them in good order. The work thus begun is likely to be continued for purposes of beautifying. The number of people, men and women, who now have their feet attended to by the chiropodist, as they do their hands by the manicure, has also increased greatly. The work on the hands is done to beautify them; upon the feet, for comfort. It is now required by the law of June 3, 1895, that chiropodists shall pass an examination by a board of examiners of the Pedic Society of the State of New York. Some persons have their feet cared for at home, but much the greater number go to a manicuring establishment in which chiropodists also are employed, or to a chiropodist's establishment.

TOBACCO KILLED HIM.

Shocking Death of a Ten-Year Old Boy Who Had Used Tobacco From Infancy.

George Burroughs, ten years old, died a few days ago at his home near the city limits. It was reported that dropsy was the cause of his death. He had been treated for that complaint in the City Hospital and had only just been taken home when he became worse and died in a short time.

It is now said that he was a victim of nicotine poison. He had early acquired the habit of chewing and smoking tobacco. In fact, he had just about begun wearing knickerbockers when he began to use tobacco, and soon he could chew or smoke like a man.

The Burroughs family lived on the outskirts of the city. The family is quite large, there being five or six boys and an equal number of girls. The father and all the boys use tobacco to excess, having begun when quite young. It has been no uncommon thing to hear the children ask their father for a chew, which was always cheerfully given.

George exceeded the others in the use of tobacco, and when he could get it by no other means, he used to go around the streets picking up stumps of cigars and smoking and chewing them.

The desire for tobacco remained until the last moment. While he lay on his death-bed he begged for it, and during his entire illness he was not satisfied without it.

The undertaker who had charge of the funeral said the body was in a terrible condition. He arrived at the Burroughs home about two hours after the boy died, and said the body was badly swollen and discolored. He tried in every possible way to preserve the body for burial two days later, but on the day of the funeral it could not be looked at by the relatives.—N.Y. Herald.

A Toy for Baby.

Baby must be amused, and sometimes when you are busy you will be glad to give the little one something with which he can amuse himself for a while. Why not make him a pretty wool ball?

The material required to make this ball is three small skeins of Berlin wool of three colors, yellow, green and red, a piece of wadding eight inches square, a handful of hay and a pill box.

First row—Yellow wool, chain 5 and unite to form a ring, into this work 15 treble, join and break off.

Second row—Join on red wools and work two trebles into each stitch, join and break off.

Third row—Join on green wool, 2 trebles in the first stitch, 1 in the next, 2 in the next, 1 in the next, and so on to the end of the row, join and break off.

Fourth row—Join on yellow wool; work one treble into every stitch to the end of the row, then join and break off.

This completes one-half; repeat the stitches for the other half. Now to make up the ball take the two halves, and with needle and wool sew them together half-way round. Now take the pill box and peas to make a rattle, place this in a handful of hay, and firmly press it into a ball the size of an orange. Neatly wrap the wadding around it, gently press it through the opening and complete the sewing.

Champion Husband Beater.

To Brooklyn belongs the honor of producing the champion husband-beater of the east. Her name is Mrs. Amelia Rylin. Mr. Rylin's story is a very sad one. He is a sugar-house worker and apparently a strong and robust man. Mrs. Rylin is a woman of ordinary size, but of extraordinary spirit. These are some of the things Mr. Rylin says she does to him when the domestic machinery does not work smoothly.

She sits on the back of his neck and pounds his face against the floor.

She jumps up and down on his spine.

She "lams" him on the head with a poker.

She pours hot water on him.

She throws crockery at him.

She attacks him with warm stove lids.

She almost fractures his skull with coal scuttles, wash boards and frying pans.

She throws him down stairs.

She locks him in his room and starves him.

Law of Compensation.

Miraculous is the law of compensation. Just as soon as man becomes so advanced that life in Brooklyn was more than he could stand a genius invented the trolley car and the Brooklynite didn't have to live.

One Leg, a Crutch and a Wheel.

Everybody who happened to be on Madison avenue in the vicinity of Twenty-ninth street Monday morning viewed with undisguised interest and amusement a bicyclist who was spinning down the avenue at a lively rate. The wheelman had only one leg, but he was riding with all the assurance and ease of an expert, and he evidently could have "scorched" had he so desired. He had on a tasteful, quiet bicycling suit, and his one leg was neatly encased in half a pair of knickerbockers. Across the handle bars of the wheel lay a crutch. At Twenty-sixth street he alighted easily and gracefully, leaned his wheel against the curbing, adjusted his crutch and hobbled into a cafe. When he came out the people who had seen him dismount had gathered in a little crowd in the interest of science to see him mount his wheel again. It was a very simple performance. He gave a glance of mingled amusement and triumph at the crowd, put his foot on the step of his machine, grasped the left handle bar firmly with one hand, gave a vigorous push with his crutch and glided easily away. "That's easy," he shouted back over his shoulder to the crowd.

The people looked at each other in astonishment. "Well! well!" said the fat man who had been one of the most interested observers, "the cripple may throw his crutches to the winds. That scheme discounts a wooden leg."—New York Tribune.

A Garden Barometer.

One of the simplest of barometers is a spider's web. When there is a prospect of rain or wind, the spider shortens the filaments from which its web is suspended, and leaves things in this state as long as the weather is variable. If the insect elongates its threads, it is a sign of fine calm weather, the duration of which may be judged of by the length to which the threads are let out. If the spider remains inactive, it is a sign of rain; but if, on the contrary, it keeps at work during a rain, the latter will not last long, and will be followed by fine weather. Other observations have taught that the spider makes changes in its web every twenty-four hours, and that, if such changes are made in the evening, just before sunset, the night will be clear and beautiful.

THE IMPORTANCE OF A LIVER.

Thousands Suffer Because the Liver is Deranged—South American Nervine is the Great Panacea of the Day for a Diseased Liver and All Stomach Troubles, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervousness and General Debility.

When a well known author wrote his book entitled "Is Life Worth Living?" Mr. Punch, with shrewd, practical common sense, replied to the query "That depends on the liver." And undoubtedly it is the case that when the liver is diseased untold troubles follow. Dyspepsia, indigestion, sick headache, nervousness and general debility are all species of stomach trouble that come from this source. The practical question is, "What are you going to do about it?" That great discovery of the century, South American Nervine, with ten thousand voices says, "I will cure." We might easily quote the words of well known Canadian citizens to fill this entire page. Let one or two suffice. Mr. John Boyer, banker, of Kincardine, says: "I was very much troubled with indigestion, giving rise to those distressing feelings that can hardly be described in any language, but that are so common to the dyspeptic. I tried South American Nervine and it cured me. I have no hesitation in recommending it to any person affected with any stomach trouble." Mr. J. W. Dinwoodie, of Campbelford, Ont., the large railroad contractor, says "I keep South American Nervine always in the house, and I do not hesitate to say that it is the very best medicine I have ever taken, and most confidently recommend it to any one troubled with nervousness of whatever form and the attendant diseases of the liver and stomach that follow this weakness."

Mrs. A. V. Galbraith, of Shelburne, Ont., says: "South American Nervine cured me completely of indigestion. I never fail to recommend it to my friends."

It is not an experiment with any one who used this great discovery. It has been tested and proven over and over again, with the one result, that it provides a certain cure.

Infant Mortality.

Lactated Food Saves Babies' Lives.

The frightful rate of infant mortality in Canada shows plainly that there is something lacking in the knowledge of how to care for babies.

When a physician is called to attend an ailing infant he invariably finds that the infant must be better fed.

Too many infants are crammed with heavy indigestible foods that ruin the digestive organs. Too many are fed from day to day with mother's milk, impure and often diseased.

Mothers should endeavor to find out at once if they are using the proper food for their babies. If the babies are not healthy and not growing as they should, they ought to be fed at once on Lactated Food, which is as healthful as the purest breast milk and as cheap as the most ordinary food.

Lactated Food is a life saving diet for all infants and children and receives the heartiest approval of the best medical men.

Out of 240,000 domestic servants in London 10,000 are always out of employment.

KOOTENAY.

A ROMAN CATHOLIC PRIEST AT OTTAWA MAKES AN IMPORTANT INVESTIGATION.

Archbishop's Palace, Ottawa,
8th November, 1895.

Mr. S. S. Ryckman, M. P., Hamilton.

My Dear Sir,—In order to comply with your request, I visited no less than twenty-six persons of different ages and conditions residing in our city, who had used your medicine called "Kootenay Cure." Upon my enquiry, some informed me that after suffering atrociously for many years from rheumatism under one form or another, they had obtained considerable relief from the above-named medicine, and were using it yet with the firm hope and almost certainty that in the near future all the painful effects would disappear. Others told me that they had been cured completely, felt no more pains, could digest perfectly, sleep soundly, had regained their lost weight, so much so that they could be said to have resuscitated and to have been transformed into new men. I met with five cases of skin diseases, where the medicine had produced wonderful results, especially in one case of at least nine years' standing. In several cases of Rheumatism and Paralysis eminent physicians, after careful study, had pronounced the case incurable. As rheumatism is such a common ailment, and as doctors have always much difficulty in overcoming it, I think it is quite proper to make known such a remarkable medicine to poor suffering humanity. I am pleased to have the occasion of recommending it to the public of the capital. Wishing you further success in your undertaking, believe me, sir,

Yours respectfully,
(Signed) EUGENE GROULX.

ITS FAMOUS SPREADING.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba and the Northwest

WINNIPEG, July 27.—The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the Dominion in the spring are noticeable in the increasing amounts of the druggists' sales. There has been quite a run on the kidney remedy now so well known under the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The recovery from Bright's disease of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, through the use, an account of which appeared in the papers, gave a considerable impetus to the sale, and the remedy has become indispensible in many Manitoba households, its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and North West Territories.
