It was just two short years ago that Philco introduced to refrigeration a true "down-to-the-floor" refrigerator. Not just a refrigerator with a full-length door... but one that did away for the first time with all waste space, made full use of every inch for real refrigeration. Immediately it was recognized as the most beautiful, most useful, most efficient refrigerator ever designed.

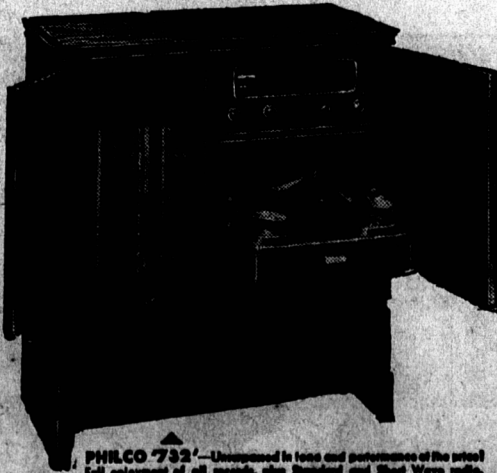

Now, for 1951, in almost every price class, Philco gives you the long door design that uses every inch right down to the floor for real refrigeration... maximum storage capacity with no wasted space. It gives the housewife the opportunity to own a big refrigerator in a minimum of kitchen space. It makes the "short waisted" refrigerator obsolete and out-of-date.

It's the modern style women demand today for appearance, for utility, for value... the most wanted of all refrigerator designs. And it's yours to own, in a wide choice of 1951 Philco refrigerator models;
