CAN the Patriot point out how and where the EXAMINER attacked the private character of Hon. Thomas W. Dodd? and what charges the EXAMINER has preferred against the Government that we have not advanced facts to substantiate? The Patriot's wild and baseless charges have evidently been made to effect a purpose.

WE regret to learn that Mr. M. J. Fitzgerald, Manager of the Union Bank at Montague Bridge, had his left arm broken near the shoulder, by falling through a hatchway in the store of Austin C. McDonald, Esq., yesterday. The arm was immediately set, and Mr. F. is now doing well.

At the Stipendiary Magistrate's Court, this forenoon, Michael Whelan, rigger, was charged by Michael Malone with the larceny of twenty-five fathoms of rope. The charge was withdrawn and the case dismissed. Mrs. Catherine Valley appeared in answer to the charge of keeping a number of rambling and plundering goats. There being no grounds for the charge, the case was dismissed.

WE share the regret of many contemporaries at the retirement from the Press of Mr. Martin J. Griffin, editor of the Halifax Herald. Mr. Griffin is one of the most facile, vigorous and brilliant writers in Canada. He goes to Ottawa as Private Secretary to the Minister of Justice; and he is, we learn, to be succeeded by Mr. Stewart, one of the original promoters of the Herald and a frequent contributor to its racy columns.

THE steamer Worcester sailed for Boston this evening with a cargo consisting of 862 barrels of mackerel, 1,647 bags of potatoes, and 65 boxes of eggs. She had on board the following passengers:—George Headstrong, John Buchanan, Ham. G. Power, Mary McDonald, Miss McDonald, Miss Flora McDonald.

THE Cape Breton Advertiser reports the following from North Sydney:—"A young girl residing on the line of railway between the latter place and Sydney Mines, who has been afflicted at times with fits, was recently attacked by one in which she remained from Saturday till Tuesday morning, when she expired. The body was taken up, washed, dressed and laid out, and the neighbors were notified of her demise; but in the course of a few hours she came back to life, and is now quite recovered, and, strange to say, has not since had a fit. In conversation with our informant, she alleged that during her trance she conversed with her mother, who has been dead for some years."

ON Wednesday evening a seaman named Brooks was engaged at work on the mizzen top of the barkentine George Peake, which is lying at the Railway Wharf. Shortly after 5 o'clock he was about to descend, and when he placed his feet in the futtock shrouds, one of the rattlins broke and he fell to the deck. It was discovered that his right leg was broken near the thigh and his body and head terribly bruised. He was conveyed to the Marine Hospital on the Intercolonial Express wagon. During the conveyance he lay insensible; blood flowed from his mouth, and it was thought he would expire on the way. He was attended at the Hospital by Dr. Blanchard, who bound up the wounds and did all in his power to revive him. The poor man lay in a very painful condition all night, and died at an early hour this morning. He was about twenty-five years of age and a native of Sweden.

THE inquest on the body of Henry Cunningham, who died suddenly in the General Public Hospital St. John, was finished on Wednesday afternoon. The deceased had only been released from the Penitentiary on Friday last, where he was serving a two months' term for drunkenness. John Slater gave evidence that he had known Cunningham for four or five years, and that he was a habitual drunkard. Dr. T. J. O. Earle testified that he made a post mortem examination of the body of Henry Cunningham on Tuesday morning. He was branded on the chest with the letters B. C. and D. which in the army would mean "Bad Conduct" and "Desertion." The lungs, heart, liver, kidneys and stomach were all affected. The heart had undergone through degeneration. The chest was full of fluid. Death was probably accelerated by drinking. The jury returned a verdict that the deceased "came to his death by the use of strong drink and want of proper care."
