We are the original manufacturers of portable Vapor Baths. We have, during the last ten years supplied thousands of our Baths to physicians, hospitals, sanitariums, etc. and we are now, for the first time, advertising them direct to the general public.

IN BUYING A VAPOR BATH Get one with a steel frame that stands on the floor. If a manufacturer does not show you a cut of a frame without the covering you may take it for granted that his "steel frame" is a wire hoop that rests on the shoulder of the bather.

Get one that is covered with proper material. Insist on seeing a sample of material before ordering. We make our own covering material and print it with a handsome "all over" pattern of Niagara Falls.

Get one with a thermometer attachment. Don't get a bath that is too hot or not hot enough will be of no benefit to you.

Get one that you can return and have your money back if not satisfactory in every way.

Send for sample of material and interesting booklet that will tell you all about Vapor Baths.

Vapor Baths are an acknowledged household necessity. Turkish, Hot Air, Vapor, sulphur or Medicated Baths at Home, &c. Purifies system, produces cleanliness, health, strength, prevents disease, obesity, Cures Colds, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, LaGrippe, Malaria, Eczema, Catarrh, Female Ills, Blood, Skin, Nerve and Kidney Troubles. THE DAILY EXAMINER

DECEMBER 23, 1888.

A FEW POINTS TO BE NOTED.

THAT was a somewhat rotatable representative company which sat down to luncheon yesterday in the spacious and beautiful saloon of the steamship Gaspesia. First of all, there were the prominent men of the old guard—those who carried on trade and shipping and public business in the days of sailing vessels and weekly mails—Hon. L. C. Owen, Hon. Daniel Davies, Commodore Welsh, Charles Palmer, Esq., W. E. Dawson, Esq., and others, combining wealth of experience with keen appreciation of the progress of the age and the needs of the day. Then there were such men as Professor Anderson, Hon. Senator Ferguson, Premier Farquharson, Hon. B. Rogers, Mr. Myrick, of Tignish, and others just past the middle age, and still intensely interested in the business that is now going on. After them, the younger men who are pushing forward by their energy those enterprises which makes it possible for an ocean steamship to take in cargo at Charlottetown during the Christmas season. Messrs. Aitken and Rattenbury, Messrs. Matheson and Toombs, Mr. Horace Hazard, President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Benjamin Hartz, President of the Merchants Bank of P. E. Island, Mr. J. M. Davison, Manager of the same, Mr. Edward Bayfield, President of the P. E. Fruit Grower's Association, Mr. John Robertson, of Inkerman Farm, our leading horticulturist, together with United States Consul Vail, Stipendiary Magistrate Hazard, Attorney General McDonald, A. A. McLean, Q. C., Mr. T. C. James, Manager of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company, His Worship Mr. Mayor Warburton, Mr. Large, Chief of our Fire Department, the editors of the leading newspapers, including Mr. McCready of the Guardian, Mr. Brennan of the Summer-side Journal, Mr. Nash of the Patriot, and Mr. Cooton of THE EXAMINER, and many others, too numerous to mention,—the whole presided over by Captain Montague Yates, General Manager of the Canadian Steamship Company—a Charlottetown boy—one of the successful Islanders—Mr. George Longworth, Local Manager, and Captain McKinnon of the Gaspesia.

Seventy-six persons may, at the same time, take their seats at the table of the saloon in which the luncheon was given; the adjoining staterooms are large and comfortable; all the cabin appointments of the Gaspesia are those of a first-class steamship. Captain Yates assured the guests of his company present, that if sufficient encouragement were given, the Gaspesia, or vessels superior to her, would continue to make Charlottetown a port of call.

The value of steamship accommodation between Charlottetown and Great Britain having been sufficiently demonstrated, it is worth while to consider the means by which the boon may be obtained in perpetuity. In this connection the first point to be noted was well brought out by the President of the Board of Trade, viz. the necessity of standing together and limiting our patronage as much as possible to the line which patronizes us. People when they become rich and independent can perhaps afford to give their orders here and there and everywhere—to "scorn the base depends by which they did ascend"; but it is the policy of those who are still struggling to help those by whom they are helped. As it is with individuals, so it is with communities. This is a growing and struggling community; ocean steamships are essential to the community's development;—let us, therefore, continue, in a reasonable way, to bring our trade to the ocean steamships which come to P. E. Island direct from Great Britain and take our products direct to the markets there.

A fear has been expressed that steamships going to Milford Haven will not be as suitable for our purposes as those which make Liverpool or London or some other of the great ports their destination. The fear may be well grounded, or it may not. Premier Farquharson and others who spoke yesterday expressed the opinion that shippers to various points in England would, probably, have greater satisfaction by way of Milford Haven than by any other way. The point to be noted in this connection is that a practical experiment is about to be made and that the question will be decided.

Much that was said yesterday concerning the importance of unity of action and mutual co-operation on the part of our farmers and merchants has already been expressed by THE EXAMINER. The great and evident need of the community is some one to do for Prince Edward Island in particular that which Professor Robertson is doing for Canada at large. If our Provincial Government were worth anything at all it would long ere this have anticipated this need, have cut down expenditures in the land office and elsewhere, and have appointed a live man as Commissioner of Agriculture and Trade. Such a man would find ample employment, first in directing the energies of our people towards the production of those things which will bring in most money, and secondly in opening up the British and other markets, and gaining definite and particular information such as is required by shippers—thus giving the people knowledge and confidence and enabling them to unite and co-operate upon the main things instead of disputing and wasting energy over matters of secondary importance. A gleam of hope appeared yesterday when Premier Farquharson said that the Government would consider the advisability of sending a man to England to gain information. But this was lost in the reflection that the measure proposed is but partial, and would necessarily be ineffective, and that the Liberal party in this Province contains no man able to do satisfactorily the work that is to be done.

In this connection, the remarks of Dr. Anderson as to education are particularly appropriate. In Denmark, as the Dr. pointed out, the young men first become educated, and then they devote the powers of their minds, so developed, to the development of the chief resource of their country, viz. agriculture. There educated agriculturists sit in Parliament and direct affairs, using the powers of the State to advance the interests of agriculture,—the consequence being that the products of little Denmark occupy the first place in the British markets, and Denmark stands high in the estimation of the world. But in Prince Edward Island which is, like Denmark, an agricultural country, we educate our young men and women, and they, for the most part,—the brightest and best of them,—go to the States! That this Province has progressed in spite of the drain, is but a proof of the native ability of its people. But how much greater our success would have been if we had proceeded on the lines followed in Denmark!

Captain Yates spoke truthfully when he said that "the British market is the most particular market in the world." Therefore, if our farmers and merchants wish to succeed in the British market they must, above all things, be careful that the quality of the produce they send to it is excellent. We know that this Island is capable of producing beef, mutton and pork, cheese, butter and hay, apples and other fruits, horses, etc., all of the choicest quality. Better soil and climate are not found in any part of the world. If only we do our parts as honestly and well as we can, the results must be satisfactory.

OUR RESPONSIBILITIES

In the course of a recent speech at Lindsay, Ontario, the Hon. George E. Foster said that the citizens of Canada and of the Empire should recognize and feel their responsibilities. These responsibilities he classed under these heads:—"First, we must hold fast to an absolute integrity." "Secondly, we need an enlightened public spirit." "Thirdly, we need improvements in political ideas." Progress must, he declared, be constructed of moral and religious fibre; public spirit is its motive force; and high ideals its guide. We have integrity, but we must hold fast to it. Ideals are beginning to shape themselves before us. But what we most need is an enlightened public spirit. This is a real lack in Canada. We are but poor men if we do not preserve our heritage from the past and transmit it intact and strengthened to our successors. Let every man and woman be a politician, if not a partisan. There are magnificent opportunities in Canada for public spirit, not only in national and provincial affairs, but in municipal matters. Once you have an intelligent public spirit diffused through this country you have struck the knell of public corruption." These words of Mr. Foster have the right ring. We hope that they will be heeded by all Canadians, particularly by the young men.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Why were those stamped road orders from East Prince floating around in December? The Patriot intimates that it is in a position to state the facts,—but it declines to do so! What, then, is the inference?

It is understood that the Kaiser will visit King Humbert in Rome next spring, according to a promise made when embarking at Venice for Palestine. The Kaiser will then inaugurate the Throne Room of the German Embassy, which has been sumptuously decorated. Needless to say, the principal ornament is a full length portrait of Wilhelm II, of Germany.

Referring to the Provincial Government's connection with East Prince election the Patriot says:—"There has not been the slightest deviation from the proper procedure during the said election." Will the Patriot dare to say the personal canvass of a Provincial Premier in a Dominion election is "proper procedure" in accord with the Liberal principle laid down by McKenzie and Blake?

Lord Roberts has given his opinion as a military man concerning disarmament. He says: "It would, no doubt, be eminent ly satisfactory if we could make certain that war would never be required at all, and if the Tsar's beautiful idea of general disarmament could be realised. But he confessed he did not see how such an end could be attained until all the nations of the world agreed to rest content with what they had got; never to strive for anything more; to forewear the acquisition of territory under any pretext or for any purpose whatever, either for the interests of commerce or their own aggrandisement; and to be satisfied with allowing the uncivilised parts of the world to remain under the sway of brutal and barbarous government."

ESTEMED EXCHANGES.

Mail and Empire: Mr. Sifton struck a chilling frost in his visit to the West. A banquet was to have been given at Brandon; but it failed to materialize. It was to have been a free affair. So many, however, declined to attend that it was not thought advisable to proceed with it. Instead of this function, a reception was held. It was very poorly attended, and chiefly by officials. Mr. Sifton received a highly complimentary address. But the address accompanied him to Brandon on the train.

THE WEATHER.—Strong winds or moderate gales from south and west in western portions, clearing and mild. Sunday: fresh to strong westerly winds.
