

Council Recess Is Extended

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John has extended the 1963 recess of the Roman Catholic ecclesiastical council by four months, telling the prelates to return in September instead of May from a recess that begins Dec. 4.

The Pope's decision for a nine-month break was announced at today's closed council session in St. Peter's Basilica, where 2,200 bishops examined a thesis exploring possible roads towards Christian unity.

There was no announcement when the second phase would end but sources said it would certainly not run beyond mid-December 1963.

The postponement was decided at the request of many bishops from distant countries.

The council fathers went into detailed examination of a thesis called Ut Unum Sint (That they be one), which deals with Catholic-Orthodox relations and is the first council document exclusively on Christian unity.

Fluoridation
Recommended

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Health Minister McGrath said here his department recommends fluoridation, but is not prepared to make it compulsory.

The McGrath said in a statement that since it has been proven medically that "fluoridation does no good . . . and no harm." His department recommends it.

However it was up to individual communities to use it in their drinking water and the government should not have to make it compulsory.

No Newfoundland communities are using fluoridation.

CORRECTION

In the Island Propane Gas Limited advertisement this week, in Monday's Patriot and Tuesday's Guardian, the brand name of the appliances was omitted and should have read: gas ranges made by Frigidaire . . . gas dryers made by Inglis.
