ADVERTISING RATES

For small advertisements which are ordered for only one or two weeks the charge is cents per inch for the first insertion, and cents for each continuation. Rate cards are furnished on application at the office. Special contract prices at a reduced rate are quoted for advertisements four inches in size or larger, which are to run for three months or longer.

No special notices inserted unless paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line, and under no circumstances will such paid notices appear in the local column.

Special discounts made on all advertisements connected with Church Fairs, Bazaars, Picnics, etc. No notices will be inserted with the same unless the regular rate of 10 cents per line is paid.

That THE EXAMINER is considered by our Merchants and Manufacturers to be the leading newspaper in P. E. Island, and consequently the most valuable advertising medium through which to make their announcements public, is abundantly proved by the fact that in order to accommodate our advertisers we have been compelled to enlarge the paper to its present size.

THE DAILY EXAMINER is for sale by the following agents:—

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A NOTE OF WARNING.

SIR,—I noticed to-day that Pownal Street wharf is almost covered with casks of kerosene oil. There is a quantity of laths piled near—the ready materials for a big fire.

As country dealers have all been supplied, no doubt it is the intention of the lessees of Pownal Wharf to keep the oil on it all winter and retail it out cask by cask as required.

Are the City Fathers going to allow this? Are the agents for the insurance not going to take any action against it? As a resident in the neighborhood, I call upon the City Fathers to have this dangerous oil removed to one of the fields outside of the city.

The best part of Mount Stewart village was wiped out the other night by a fire. Let us take warning in time! The old adage says "an ounce of precaution is worth a pound of cure." Our truckmen will be glad of a job.

Why should two or three importers be allowed to endanger the town by storing kerosene oil on our wharves? They can, at small cost, erect rough sheds outside the city and have the oil carted out there.

The City Council and the Fire Department have power to act in this matter. And if not, they should apply to the Legislature for it.

RESIDENT ON WATER STREET.

Ch'town, Dec. 13th, 1894.

EQUITY NO. 1.

MR. EDITOR.—A copy of the Medical Act has lately come to my notice. I am somewhat surprised in perusing it to find such stringent laws regulating the practice of surgery, medicine and midwifery in this Province. The laws of our land are designed to protect the right and property of its citizens. At least we assume that this is the purpose of legislation. Taking this for granted, then let us try the Medical Act by this hypothesis.

On careful study of the law I find that it is in a great measure for the protection of a body of men who form a small fraction—but a fast increasing one nevertheless—of our population. The whole trend of the law seems to me to be for the purpose of securing to the medical fraternity absolute power in all things pertaining to the materia medica.

In fact the law is so stringent that fines and imprisonment await those who would attempt to alleviate the pains of their fellow mortals, "except in the case of cancer," in which there is a margin left for a person who can cure this fell disease by some external application. Oh, the charity of these men styled the Medical Council of P. E. Island! for we understand that it was at their earnest request this act was passed by our legislators.

What a caricature on liberality! "A person may cure cancer within the meaning of this Act." Yes, he may cure cancer, which disease the medical men themselves regard as incurable. What a farce! This is the only disease they allow to be treated by persons apart from the profession. This act has not been the product of a day, but for years clause after clause has been introduced at the urgent request of the insatiable "Medical Council," until now the people of this Island find themselves as thoroughly at the mercy of these followers of Aesculapius as ever were the plebians the serfs of Ancient Rome.

I believe laws should be on statute books to check fraud and deception, but the people surely know where to draw the line, I think that the prople of this Province are as wide awake to their own safety as can be found anywhere. The Scotch English and Irish are not noted for their ignorance and gullibility. They can detect fraud and deception as quickly as most people, and far be it from them to be the victims of imposture. No, they know enough to understand who prescribes medicines that do them good and medicines that do them no good. They then should be the choosers of their physicians. It is for them to say who shall and who shall not prescribe for them in their distress.

But in the present state of affairs they may not do so. They must call in a man to minister to their infirmities who has learned to use the scalpel in one of the few colleges recognized by the Medical Council, and who conforms to the regulations of that all wise body. More anon.

SR. MACLINS.

A SUCCESSFUL LIFE.

Success cannot be measured by fame, wealth or station, writes Edward W. Bok in an article on what constitutes a successful life for man and woman in the October Ladies' Home Journal. The life of the humblest woman in the land, if well lived, is as successful as is that of the woman who, with greater opportunities, is enabled to make the results of her works reach farther. Some of us must live for the few, as others again must live for the many. But both lives are successful. Each of us in this world influences some other being, and it is the quality of our influence, and not the number we influence, which makes our lives successful in the eyes of God. We may believe that we go to our graves unknown and unsung, but not one of us goes out from this world without leaving an impression, either for the good or the bad. And the kind of impression we make while we live, and leave when we die, is the difference between successful and unsuccessful living.

The Chinese have the following names for European countries and America:—France is called Fa-Ko, "the land of lawfulness;" Germany To-Ko, "the virtuous country;" England Ying-Ko, the "blooming land;" America Mel-Ko, the "beautiful and;" and Italy I-Ko, the "land of justice."

THE BLOOD is the source of health. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla to keep it pure and rich. Be sure to get HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

A young man who had no previous experience in raising plants invested about $1,000 in greenhouses in a village on the Hudson eighteen months ago, and has made all his expenses and is several hundred dollars to the better by cultivating mushrooms and violets for the New York market.

The scientists of a European expedition now in Ecuador, have been making analyses of ashes which fell 150 miles from Dotopaxi at the time of its last eruption. They have found them to consist mainly of feldspar, quartz, manquetite and specular iron ore. One sample yielded silver at the rate of 200 grains to the ton.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

THE FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The 84th annual report of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions was issued at Boston a few days ago. In Tiflis and Erzeroum, Eastern Turkey, there has been great deprivations because of famine, robbers, mal-administration of the Government, etc., yet the situation is hopeful. The evangelical and educational work in Western Turkey is flourishing. The Armenian and Greek congregations are strong and prosperous, except in one or two sections, where government opposition is strong. One missionary reports that in forty years nothing was seen like the revival in the North China mission. Japanese thought concerning the missionaries has undergone modification within the past few years. The diets of 1893 and 1894, until dissolved by the government, for this reason took measures for the strict enforcement of the treaties which allowed foreigners no liberty outside treaty ports. The irkson e passports regulations are rigidly applied to foreigners, who are virtually unable to go into the interior. All foreigners not under bona fide contracts for work are excluded from the interior. During the year New England contributed more than half the total income of the board, which was $705,182. Canada donated $6,454.

HIS CARESSES CAME TOO LATE.

Old Ripley Henryer is a well to-do farmer with a skinflint tenderness, whose life has been passed without an emotion except what may have been engendered in getting money together and holding fast to it.

When his father died a quarter of a century ago, his mother concluded she could not get along without him, so she quickly followed the same way, and Ripley, coming into the possession of the homestead, felt the necessity of a cook and washerwoman. Then he prevailed upon Hetty Mercer, an affectionate and pretty girl of the neighborhood, to assume those duties, first making her his wife.

It is possible that he said nothing to her of the obligations attendant upon the wifely relations, but that made no difference as to results. Ripley was strong as an ox, and, a hard worker himself, he had no use for lazy people and no excuse for those who were weaker than himself.

As time passed little Henryers, one, two, three, five in all, came into the family fold each one adding to the wife's cares, and meantime Ripley added to his acres.

The number of hired men increased, but in all the years it never occurred to him the mother of his children might need help in her department. Hired girls were "scarce and awful high," as he put it when one of the neighbors reminded him of his remissness.

Hetty bore her yoke in silence and might have been contented even but for the man's utter lack of sentiment or affection. She had never felt the gentle pressure of his hand, and he had never kissed her in his life. She grew old fast, faded and drooped, and finally even the stolid, sordid husband saw the necessity of calling in a doctor.

When the latter was leaving the house he called Ripley aside and said:

"Suppose you show your wife a little kindness. I think a bit of affection will do her more good than medicine. She's in a bad way and may die."

The selfish fellow was frightened at the prospect of losing his cook and faithful housekeeper, and after some deliberation he entered her bedchamber and awkwardly approached her side, then stooped over and kissed her pale, cold brow.

The poor woman, who for 25 years had been dying for sympathy and love was so started at this exhibition of feeling on the part of her husband that tears of thankfulness gathered in her eyes and then rolled down her cheeks.

The lubberly fellow started back at sight of this evidence of weakness and blurted out:

"Gosh! Hetty, you needn't mind it. I didn't mean it. Doc. he sed it mebbe'd make you feel better."

Then the tears dried quickly enough, and the woman turned her pallid face toward the wall.

When Ripley came back an hour later, all the kisses in the world could not have brought moisture to her eyes. The office of cook and laundress was vacant in his house.—Chicago Tribune.

WHEN A MAN IS A SUCCESS.

Let a man in business be thoroughly fitted for the position he occupies, alert to every opportunity and embracing it to the fullest possibility, with his methods fixed on honorable principles, and he is a successful man, writes Edward W. Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal. It doesn't matter whether he makes one thousand dollars or a hundred thousand dollars. He makes a success of his position. He carries to a successful termination that which it has been given him to do, be that great or small. If the work he does, and does well, is up to his limination, he is a success. If he does not work up to his capacity then he fails, just as he fails, too, if he attempts to go beyond his mental or physical limit. There is just as much limit on one side of man's limit line as there is on the other. The very realization of one's capacity is a sign of success.

Caused by Inflammatory Swelling

A Perfect Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"It affords me much pleasure to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. My son was afflicted with great pain in the joints, accompanied with swelling so bad that he could not get up stairs to bed without crawling on hands and knees. I was very anxious about him, and having read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, I determined to try it, and got a half-dozen bottles, four of which entirely cured him." MRS. G. A. LAKE, Oshawa, Ontario.

N. B. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently, on the liver and bowels. 25c.

The Art

of never forgetting is acquired by learning to remember the right thing at the right time. For instance, should you have any uneasiness at the stomach at any time, think of Adams' TUTTI FRUTTI. It gives immediate and permanent relief.

See that no imitation is palmed off on you.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified by pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.
