Conservatives Of Fifth Kings Hold Meeting
Mr. Allister Stewart, Georgetown, was elected president of the Progressive Conservative Association, Fifth District of King's at the annual meeting held in the Council chambers at Georgetown last night. Other officers are vice president, John MacGuigan, Sturgeon; and secretary, Cameron Reid, Murray Harbour North. Elected to represent the district on the county association were Dan MacLean, De Gros Marsh and Reid Underhay, Bay Fortune. Mr. MacLean will also represent the district on the provincial executive.

Mr. R. R. Bell, provincial leader, addressed the meeting, which was attended by a large number. He congratulated the meeting on forming an excellent district association, and on choosing such a capable president. It was the duty of the president to have every poll functioning properly, and everything in readiness when the election was called. It was possible, he said, that a federal election would be held next year, and preparations should be made in ample time. It was incorrect to state, he said, that the province at the present time was booming, in that although the farmers as a whole may have taken in more money, the cost of production and marketing had also risen enormously during the past number of years.

It was also possible, he said, "that we are sending more money out of the province, for farm machinery, feeds and taxes, than is taken into the province. The debt on the province is increasing," he continued, "and we have no new natural resources developing to balance it. It was his opinion that the present government had not instituted an agricultural policy, a road policy or an education policy. He urged young men and women to enter politics, to become interested in the affairs of the province and the nation, and to assist in the work of government. At this time, he said, the party was organizing with a view to presenting a policy to the people and thus to help the development of the province.

Major John A. MacDonald, M.L.A., also congratulated the officers, and pointed out that each district should have an association so as to keep in contact with the polls and also to have get together to discuss the problems of the day. He said the Progressive Conservative Party was a strong and vital force and is returning with greater strength. The Maritime Provinces, he stated, were the last stronghold of Liberalism, but even here the difference in the popular vote of the two parties was becoming less. He urged the people to become interested in current affairs so that the party would be in constant touch with the people and prove worthy of their trust.

Mr. Charles MacQuaid, provincial secretary, stated that federal nominations would be held this fall in each county, and agreed with Mr. MacDonald that there must be a definite policy for the election. He also showed that the district association can offer many suggestions in framing this policy since they are in closer contact with the people in the different districts and know what they are thinking.

Other speakers included Reid Underhay and Temple MacDonald, P.C. candidates in the last election; Claude Delaney, Howard MacDonald and Dan MacLean.

A resolution committee including John MacGuigan and Howard MacDonald brought in a resolution endorsing the leadership of Col. George Drew and Mr. R. R. Bell. This resolution was carried, unanimously.

Successful Teachers' Convention At Uigg
A highly successful teachers' convention was held at Uigg School on Sept. 4 and 5. The president, Mr. John Hughes, principal of Montague Memorial School, opened the first session at 9:30 a.m. on Sept. 4. The following committees were appointed: Resolutions, Mr. Joseph Keenan, Georgetown; Miss Annie Keenan, Georgetown; Nominations, Mr. James MacBeth, Iris, Mrs. Gertrude Whiteway, Murray River; Question Box, Mr. Stan Mooney, Newtown Cross, Miss Katherine Millar, Sturgeon; Press, Miss Eileen MacKenzie, Montague, Miss Helen West, Montague.

Mr. Hughes then welcomed the seventy-eight teachers to the sessions of the convention.

Much concern was expressed at the unexplained absence of the Chief Supervisor, Mr. Malcolm MacKenzie. The time was exceptionally well spent, however, in group discussion of questions passed by the Teachers' Federation. The first topic discussed was the non-availability of the course of studies before the opening of school in the fall term. It was the general opinion of the group that if the course of studies was available from the Dept. of Education before the closing of the school year in June that teachers could more efficiently plan their next year's work and that students would be able to purchase their texts in advance.

Latin Discussed
A lively discussion followed on the subject of Latin in the schools. The fact that Latin is taught in the city schools and in Convents throughout the Province, and that a second foreign language is very frequently required for university work, and that the beginning course in Latin as now offered at Prince of Wales College is quite advanced, shows the unfair disadvantage under which rural students are placed when they enter Prince of Wales College. The suggestion was made that if Geography, Hygiene and Canadian History were taken from the Grade X curriculum, if the Junior Entrance examination plan were returned, that there would be time for Latin on the Grade X curriculum again. Of the seventy-eight teachers present only four showed that they were not in favor of Latin being taught in all schools.

A heated discussion of the present Grade VIII examination led to a frequent expression of the false value of this test. Many considered it a most unfair test of the year's work. Much resentment was voiced against the Dept. of Education's attitude of secrecy with respect to questions asked on the examination. It was generally believed that if a student passed this examination he should be graded although this in itself is not the only standard. Mr. Brehaut, the local supervisor, stressed the view of the Dept. of Education that these examinations are meant to serve only as a guide.

Successful Teachers' Convention At Uigg
A discussion period followed in which the feasibility of rotating centres for rural convention was brought to light. It was felt that a newness would be added to each convention and that larger centres might be more suitable for the accommodation of parents and other interested citizens who might care to attend various sessions.

Mrs. Phillip Ross, principal of Vernon School, gave a highly informative demonstration on conversational language. She urged every teacher to be a teacher of English and to present a good form of spoken English to students. Localisms should be discarded. After discussing the most common errors, Mrs. Ross suggested that pupils be encouraged to listen carefully and critically to good speakers.

Question Period
During the question period which followed, teachers expressed the desire to have a new Teachers' Aid in operation. In the study of Social Studies it was felt that the textbooks prescribed continued to give rise to difficulties.

A practical talk on the teaching of Arithmetic was then given by Mr. Louis Herring, Murray River. A desirable psychological atmosphere is necessary in the teaching of Arithmetic, the speaker stated. Students' confidence and interest are stimulated in such an atmosphere and this will in turn help in the building of good citizenship. Mr. Herring listed many helpful suggestions to be used in teaching Arithmetic.

The second session was called to order at 9:30 A.M. on Sept. 5 by Mr. Hughes. The minutes of the previous session were read and adopted.

Miss Mona Clay of the Dept. of Health and Welfare gave an interesting lecture on the teacher and the mental health of her pupils. Miss Clay pointed out the importance of a teacher knowing some of the emotional needs of her pupils. The most important of these are the need to be successful, the need to belong, the need for affection, the need for self-respect, the need for economic security, freedom from fear, and freedom from intense guilt feelings. Miss Clay also laid emphasis on the fact that each individual child has a unique problem. It is essential that a teacher first understand a child and then aid him to understand and live with the symptom of his particular problem. Good mental health or happiness is essential to success.

Mr. Malcolm MacKenzie, Chief Supervisor of the Department of Education led a discussion on the Course of Studies and textbooks available to the schools this year. Considerable concern was aroused by the revealing of the Minister of Education's disapproval of resolutions in regard to the study of Latin being made by teachers in various conventions this fall. Mr. MacKenzie answered pertinent questions on all phases of the course of studies.
