SPORTS FRONT

SPORT NOTES

WORLD HEAVYWEIGHT champion Sonny Liston was slightly miffed at the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association banquet recently. Liston was seated in the second row at the head table along with such notables as New York's Mickey Mantle, Robin Roberts of the Baltimore Orioles, Manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies, national jockey champion Ron Ferrara and All-America end Dave Robinson of Penn State. Seated in the front row was Harold Johnson, light heavyweight champ.

The heavyweight ruler felt he was slighted with second row treatment, until, it was explained, the first row was for those merely taking a bow and the second row for speakers. Apparently he was annoyed because Johnson was in the first row.

When Jake Plante's claim that some nets in NHL centres weren't of regular size we remember reading a story of gamemanship supposed to have been practiced by the late Lester Patrick when he was coaching New York Rangers.

If Rangers were ahead going into the last period of a game at Madison Square Garden, the visiting team suddenly found it virtually impossible to control the wafer.

A refrigerated puck slides along the ice and is easy to manipulate, but a warmed up puck is just the opposite. According to the story, Lester used to have one set of pucks in the refrigerator and another in the oven. Late in the game those lively ones were put into play to protect the Rangers' lead.

More Of The Same

PREPARATIONS are well underway for the Canadian Schoolboy Curling Championship, which will be held in Guelph, Ont., later this month. It marks the high point in a school sport which has grown in popularity during the past few years. The event is the only annual sports competition drawing representatives from schools in all 10 provinces.

This may be Montreal's Jean Beliveau's last season in the NHL. Asked if he was now ready to shoot for Nels Stewart's 324-goal record as the highest-scoring centre in history shortly after he had scored his 300th, Beliveau smiled at the loaded question.

"There's not much chance," answered Gros Bill. "With only 24 games left to play this season, I would really have to go some and I am not as sharp around the net as I used to be."

Beliveau is working on the last season of his second five-year contract with the Canadiens. He says "I have thought seriously of my hockey future. It all depends on a lot of things. A lot of goals the rest of the schedule may help me make up my mind."

New York hockey star Andy Bathgate, asked if he found any one goalkeeper tougher than the others, answered "They're all tough. Maybe Glen Hall gives me the most trouble. That guy's been robbing me blind. I thought I had him beat in Chicago the other night with a perfect shot. It was a bullet, low and just inside the post. I don't know how he did it, but he managed to get the tip of his skate on it and deflect it outside the post."

He added: "Come to think of it, he's been doing the same thing to me for years. I used to think he was lucky but now I'm beginning to wonder if I shouldn't start to give him a little credit." Hall, the most durable eager in the NHL, is leading in the Vezina trophy race and has a sizeable lead over second place Jake Plante.

YESTERDAY we had a note about three City golfers travelling to Pinehurst, North Carolina for a few days of golf and mentioned that enroute they would pick up Jack Fenton in Massachusetts. Instead it should have been Connecticut.

In Prince Street School ice sports last Friday night one event was missed. Donnie Currie and Vaugha Horton tied for first place in the straight race for eight-year-old boys. Donald Stevenson finished third.

Pius Callaghan returns to work this morning, so this is our last column. Glad to have you back safe and sound Pius.

Nicholson, Seel Unbeaten After Two Days Of Play

Two rinks, both from out of town, remain unbowed after two days of competition in the provincial Silver 'D' bonspiel being staged at the Charlottetown Curling Club.

An RCAF Summerside rink skipped by Ferne Seel and the Mary Nicholson quartet of Moncton have yet to taste defeat but there are seven other rinks, with only one setback, still in contention.

Included in the group that has suffered one setback is the defending championship rink skipped by Elizabeth MacDonald of Charlottetown.

Five of the seven rinks are from the City Club, one from Summerside and one from Alberton.

Nine more rinks fell by thy wayside yesterday for a total of 14 eliminated.

Ferne Seel's rink stopped the Marion MacDonald foursome 10-7 in the 3 o'clock draw. The MacDonald quartet had played the role of giant killers on the opening day of play when they had handed setbacks to the Elizabeth MacDonald and Pauline Burden rinks, both former bonspiel winners. The MacDonald foursome appeared on their way to another victory against Seel and after nine ends were leading 7-5 but the westerners came up with a 4 in the tenth and added one in the final to rack up a 10-7 victory.

Last night Seel coasted to an easy 12-4 win over the Sybil MacLellan rink.

IN REAL BATTLE

The Nicholson foursome, 9-6 winners over the L. Turner rink of Alberton earlier in the day, found themselves in a real battle in the night play against the Doris MacDonald rink of Charlottetown and faced virtual defeat until the last rock had been tossed. Their margin of victory was a slim 9-8.

The Montague foursome piled up a 7-2 lead in the first five ends and appeared on their way to an easy win, but their opponents made a magnificent comeback, counting 2 in the sixth, 1 in the seventh and 2 in the eighth to put the rinks on even terms at 7-all.

In the ninth Nicholson scored two to put her in front 9-7, but the MacDonald rink wouldn't concede defeat. In the final end they had a chance to count three, depending on the outcome of the final rock but skip Doris MacDonald was too light and as a result scored only one to bow to her Kings County opponent 9-8.

The main contest today will be this evening at 9 o'clock when the two undefeated rinks Nicholson and Seel meet.

Here is part of the schedule for today's play:

3 p.m. — P. Burden vs. L. Turner; D. MacDonald vs. I. MacLellan; S. Dye vs. M. MacDonald.

9 p.m. — E. MacDonald vs. winner Turner vs. Burden.

Laver Not Discouraged By Poor Start As Pro

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rod Laver, the world's No. 1 amateur tennis player until he turned pro last month, isn't discouraged by his poor start now that money rides with every stroke.

The 24-year-old Australian, first player to win tennis' grand slam-U.S. British, French and Australia, titles—since America's Don Budge in 1938, has won but two of 16 pro matches.

Here to talk about the world of professional tennis which opens in Boston Friday night before moving to Philadelphia Saturday, Laver said he was just as keen about pro competition as when he decided to quit the amateur ranks.

"I didn't know what to expect in pro play," said Laver, whose indoctrination to pro tennis was like sending a rookie pitcher in to face Willie Mays with the bases loaded.

Laver started out his pro career against countrymen Ken Rosewall and Lou Hoad, two of the best racquet men around.

BLANKED ROOKIE

Hoad blanked the rookie. Laver did manage to win two matches from Rosewall, who defends the pro tennis title in the current tour of 50 matches involving six pros in addition to Laver and Rosewall, Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, Andre Gimeno, former Spanish Davis Cupper and Luis Buchholz of St. Louis, and Chile's Luis Ayala will match strokes for more than $100,000 in prize money—$35,000 to the winner.

Laver, admittedly red haired native of Rockhampton, Queensland, said he couldn't be discouraged because he realizes that Rosewall and Hoad each have six year of pro experience. He says he knows better than anyone, he'll have to learn the hard way, and it may be a long time before he wins more than he loses.

"I'm not definitely not going to change my game, because I lost a few," he says.

Carver Scores Five Goals As Royals Down Combines

Allie Carver, who once scored 10 goals in an Island Senior League game for Parkdale Royals, flexed some of his old time brilliance for the same Parkdale club last night at the Sports Arena as the Royals fashioned a 10-6 come-from-behind victory over Prince County Combines. Carver scored five goals with a great shooting display.

The Combines were leading 4-1 with less than five minutes to play in the second period when the Royals caught fire, and they tallied nine times in the last 25 minutes of play to win going away.

The smooth-skating Parkdale right winger scored one goal on a deflection, one in an open net, two on close-in drives, and his other came on a beautiful breakaway lead pass from Buck Whitlock, with Carver threading the needle from 25 feet out.

Carver's two goals late in the second period, nine seconds apart, tied the score at 4-4, and he added three more in the third period onslaught.

Apps Arsenault, who triggered the second period uprising by poking a rebound under Thane Nann, scored what proved to be the winning goal at the 12.17 mark of the third period with a hard shot that dribbled through Mann's legs.

FATTENS LEAD

Buck Whitlock fattened his scoring lead with a pretty goal on Angie Carroll's passout and collected four assists for a five-point night, with the line hitting for six goals. Angie Carroll was held scoreless and had two assists.

Jim MacLeod scored once on a fast break down the right wing and rearguard Junior MacLeod fired the other in the first period on a screened drive from the point.

Benny Grady, making his first appearance of the season on Charlottetown ice, opened the scoring in the first period with a 30-footer, using his wings as decoys as he cruised over the blueline, and Alan Andrews converted Vance Harris' pass to give the Combines a 2-1 lead before the first period ended.

In the second, Vance Harris made it 3-1 with a screaming slapshot while Royals played shorthanded, and Andrews flipped in a rebound two minutes later to make it 4-1 before the Royals caught fire. Andrews fired his third goal of the night early in the third to give Combines a short-lived 5-5 tie, and then picking Benny Grady conned his second on a solo dash in the third period, which made the count read 7-6.

TEMPERS FLARE

Tempers flared in the free-wheeling third period, and just as the siren went to end the game Eustace Reeves tangled with Greg Deighan, and a brief flurry followed in front of the Combines' bench, with Reeves having words with coach Gord Cutcliffe of the Prince County team.

Combines' goaltender, Thane Mann, heaved his stick at some unruly spectators back of his net in the third period, and in the first period defenceman Ralph Josey went into the stands to do battle with some hecklers, and was tagged with a 10-minute misconduct penalty by referee Don Whelan for his antics.

The Royals led the way in the penalty parade, picking up eight minors and one misconduct, while the Combines were not assessed a single penalty. Josey picked up four minors and a misconduct.

Royals, leading the league by a wide margin, entertain the RCAF Eagles here Thursday night in the next league action

NHL Playoffs Open March 26

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — National Hockey League owners said Tuesday the Stanley Cup playoffs will start March 26.

The NHL governors, holding their midwinter meeting here, also said dates for the 1963-64 season would be Oct. 9 to March 21.

The league officers lifted restrictions for the balance of this season only on loaning of players to minor league affiliates. They said it would give the clubs a chance for roster changes.

Steps were taken toward arranging an inter-league draft with the American Hockey League, but NHL officers said details would be worked out later.

Clarence Campbell, league president, said attendance reports filed by clubs through January show an increase of 135,000 over last year at the same time. He said this amounted to 1,000 persons per game more than last year, when a league attendance record was set.

CFL Vulnerable To U.S. Leagues

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—John Barrow of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, selected as the outstanding lineman in the Canadian Football League last season says some National and American Football League clubs are offering players in the CFL cash bonuses and large contracts to play out their options and sign with them for the 1964 season.

He said in an interview Tuesday that players are dissatisfaction with the CFL on a pension plan, a players association and injury protection insurance makes the CFL teams vulnerable to raiding by NFL and AFL clubs.

A CFL official said the league will look into the raiding matter, possibly at its annual meeting in Hamilton next week. The spokesman said that "when a man is under contract, it is illegal, in my opinion, to induce him to break that contract."

(U.S. match of football league officials declined comment.)

PLAN COLLEGE

TORONTO (CP)—A new general arts college will be established by the University of Toronto in Scarborough, 15 miles from the university's central Toronto campus, President Claude Bissell announced Monday. Harvey Is Target Of Abuse In N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—"It happens to most outstanding players near the end of their careers," said Maurice Richard, referring to the fact that Doug Harvey, last year's hero, is the target of verbal abuse almost every time he skates on to the ice in Madison Square Garden.

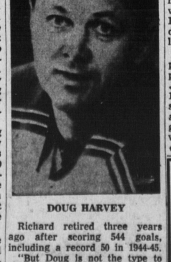
"Harvey was a great player. He is still a good player. The fans should take into account his past record and not boo him," said Richard in a telephone interview from Montreal. Richard is the National Hockey League's all - time leading scorer and Harvey's former teammate with Montreal Canadiens.

Harvey, 38, whose coaching and defensive wizardry led New York Rangers into the playoffs last season, signed a $30,000 player-only contract after relinquishing the coaching job. He also has special permission from the team's management to travel to his Montreal home between games.

As a result, the seven-time winner of the Norris Memorial Trophy as the circuit's outstanding defenseman has missed most of Rangers practice sessions. New York is in fifth place in the NHL.

SHOULD PRACTISE

"The arrangement is not a good one," Richard said. "He should be practicing like the rest of the team and not get special privileges. Toward the end of my career, I wanted to ask for special permission to miss the practices. But I never had the nerve."



DOUG HARVEY

Richard retired three years ago after scoring 544 goals, including a record 50 in 1944-45.

"But Doug is not the type to worry about the booing," Richard continued. "Besides, it happened to Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggio near the end of their baseball careers. It happens to me, too, in the last year or two.

"Maybe the high salaries have something to do with it. But I don't think it's the real fans doing the booing. It's only a few who don't stop to think. A fellow like Harvey who has been a star for such a long time doesn't deserve such treatment."
