Combining Grades Working Well In California School

By GENE HANDSAKER
T O R R A N C E, Calif. (AP)—Grades and grandpas may have had it better than they knew at the little one-room red schoolhouse.
A public school here has combined three grades into one classroom and is delighted with the results. So are the pupils and parents.
Instead of the traditional grouping of children into classes based on age, Walleria School has five primary classes made up of first, second and third graders combined, and four intermediate classes of intermixed fourth, fifth and sixth graders.
Administrators say the mixed grades are absent of the usual temperamental attitudes, arithmetic, reading and language. Young kids learn from the older, the older are stimulated to assume leadership and responsibility.

Bedeque United Handicraft Van At Irishtown

A most successful handicraft course was conducted recently in Irishtown Community Hall while about twenty-five ladies took advantage of this opportunity of learning to do interesting things with their hands. Several ladies from the neighbouring district of Spring Valley, also attended when weather and roads permitted.
Miss Bertha DesRoches and Mrs. Owen Boston capably instructed the ladies in dress-making, leather work, stenciling, smoking, cushion making, etc. These two girls had many good ideas and suggestions to offer the homemakers during the ten day course.
On achievement day the assistant supervisor, Miss Bingham, inspected the handiwork and praised the amount and quality of the articles completed. She was introduced to each of the ladies by the president of the Women's Institute, Mrs. Robert Staver.
Miss DesRoches and Mrs. Bingham were presented with gifts in appreciation and lunch was served following the program.

Bedeque United Men Meet

North Bedeque United Church Men's club appointed a visiting committee in each church in their regular monthly meeting Wednesday evening, December 11th, in North Bedeque Church hall with Allison Profit, the president presiding.
