Robertson (lieutenant), Miss Marlene Huestis for the Second Company consisting of 27 Guides and Mrs. Eldom Hickey (captain) and Mrs. Cliff MacGuigan (lieutenant) Miss Joan Burns (company leader) for the Third Company with 28 Guides. Miss Margaret Wedge (Brown Owl) and Miss Ann Clow (Tawny Owl) for the 30 Brownies. The Guides throughout the year earned many badges, including their first aid for first class work, ably taught by Sister St. Leo. The Guides helped during the mission and, on raisin and cookie day and assisted the Red Cross by collecting cans distributed throughout the town. The League gave a donation to the Girl Guide camp held during the summer.

The following donations were made during the year by the League: Kinsmen Christmas tree, St. Mary's Academy, Sisters of the Precious Blood, spiritual director, T. B. League, Knights of Columbus orphanage tea, League of Mercy tea, Sacred Heart program, Missionaries of Mary, Sisters of Martha, Acadian fund and Rustico parish.

Masses were said in honor of the patron saint, Our Lady of Good Counsel, the living and deceased members of the League, for the men of the parish who made the supreme sacrifice in both wars and a wreath was placed at the monument in their honor.

The League served refreshments to the cast of the St. Patrick's Play and sold tickets for the diocesan lottery and the lottery for the Charlottetown Hospital.

It was the unanimous opinion of the members assembled that a great deal of credit should go to the retiring president, Mrs. Linkletter, who had worked so untiringly for the League at all times.

Rail Strike Threatens To Add To British Troubles

LONDON (AP) — Conservatives and Socialists mobilized today under the shadow of silent London newspapers and a threatened country-wide rail strike to fight it out in the general election May 26.

Politicians fired a few early shots in the election campaign, but attention centred on spreading Labor unrest and how it might affect the vote.

The Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen called a walkout for May 1 to support demands for higher wages. A strike for higher pay that silenced London's 23 nationally-circulated newspapers was in its 24th day with no sign of a break. With the government's cost-of-living index at a record high level other wage claims were pending.

Prime Minister Eden called for a new mandate Friday night to govern as Winston Churchill's successor. Lord Woolton, Conservative party chairman, said Saturday:

"The party organization is ready to go into action, and will work with enthusiasm to insure the return of a Conservative government with an increased majority."

The Labor party chairman, Dr. Edith Summerskill, said Eden's 11-day-old government "is not too happy about the economic position and has decided to have an election before the position worsens."

The Communist party, which holds no seats in parliament and polled only 21,640 votes in the last election, issued a statement saying "Now is the time for the working class and Labor movement to rally their forces in a gigantic effort to get rid of the Tories once and for all."

A walkout by engineers and firemen of the nationalized railways would paralyze the country's rail network at a time when its economy already is threatened by tumbling gold and dollar reserves.

The engineers' union, which has 79,642 members, is demanding a wage increase of eight shillings. Present average earnings are £9 15s weekly. The dispute came to a head when a government-appointed tribunal rejected the demand Friday night.

The union claimed increases granted earlier this year to 400,000 other railway workers had resulted in a "very serious dwindling" of wage differentials for the skilled men who run the locomotives. Other railwaymen now get from £7 15s to £9 15s, depending on the grade.

The strike which has blacked out London daily and Sunday papers with circulations totalling 50,000,000 hinges on a demand for a pay raise of 58 shillings, sixpence a week by 700 maintenance men and Communist-led electricians. They now average £15 a week with overtime.

The newspaper publishers offered the strikers from 10 to 12 shillings a week more.

Prime Minister Eden has called a cabinet session for Monday when it is expected the labor disputes will be discussed.

Attlee Cancels Canadian Tour

EDMONTON (CP) — Elmer Roper, Alberta CCF leader, announced Sunday that Clement Attlee has cancelled his speaking engagement here Tuesday night in order to return to England to prepare for the May 26 parliamentary elections.

Mr. Roper said he was notified by telegram from the former British prime minister in Vancouver where the Labor leader, on a CCF-sponsored speaking tour of Canada, delivered an address Saturday night.

When notified of May 26 election date Friday, Mr. Attlee said he would probably have to cut short his tour. It was not known whether he would also cancel his address in Victoria, scheduled for today.

Prompt Response From The RCMP

Again yesterday, the Red Cross had to rely on the ever-ready co-operation of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police when an emergency call was received at noon requesting blood for a patient who was hemorrhaging severely at the Western Hospital. By three o'clock the patient was receiving the much needed transfusion.

That the Mounties, who have been noted for their emergency service at any hour of the day or night, were quick to respond on yesterday's errand of mercy was pointed out by a Red Cross official last night who made reference to the courtesy and cheerfulness with which the mission was accomplished. "Their co-operation in this instance, along with the humanitarism of the donors, was responsible for the saving of a life — that of a mother in the Western Hospital."

The Red Cross official said that although Prince Edward Island is now in debt some 2,000 bottles of blood to the Maritime Depot at Halifax, the needs of Island patients are being met at the rate of 250 bottles per month from the blood supplied by donors in Nova Scotia. However, Islanders will be given the opportunity of replacing some of the indebtedness when the next series of clinics will be held here during the week of May 30th.

China's Premier Takes No Chances On Flight

By ROBERT HEWETT

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Red China's Premier Chou En-lai took no chances and authorities all along the way co-operated 100 per cent Saturday in seeing that he reached Indonesia safely for the Asian-African conference.

Chou may have been staging a little show to back up Peiping's charges that Chinese Nationalist and U. S. agents were plotting to assassinate members of Red China's delegation to the Bandung meeting.

The charges were the outgrowth of an Air India plane crash in the South China sea last Monday. It carried eight Communist Chinese delegates who died. The Reds asserted the plane was sabotaged by agents of Nationalist China and the United States.

TOOK OWN GAS

Caution was the word for Chou, who brought his own aviation gasoline along from Gunming and refused refuelling facilities in Rangoon offered by the British-owned Burman Oil Co.

The Chinese did permit the plane to be loaded with 500 gallons of gasoline to be used on the return flight from Indonesia, but only after the Communists made tests to determine if it had been diluted with water. The Chinese said the tests were made to assure having "evidence" of any "acts of sabotage."

Chou stopped for 36 hours in Rangoon where he conferred with three other prime ministers—Nehru of India, U Nu of Burma and Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

All that time Chou's plane — chartered from Air India—was under guard at the hangar of the Burmese air force.

He departed from Rangoon in the strictest secrecy in the dead of night. At the request of the Chinese embassy no dignitaries saw Chou off.

DINED PRIVATELY

Chou had planned to stop at Penang in northwest Malaya and continue directly to Jakarta. But bad weather forced the plane to land at Singapore's Kailang airport.

There Chou and other members of his delegation were surrounded immediately by police and plainclothes men, and escorted to the airport's air-conditioned room reserved for important personages. Police sealed off all entrances to the airport buildings. Instead of going to the dining-room for lunch, Chou and his associates ordered it sent to them.

Indonesian troops armed with automatic weapons cordoned off the Jakarta airport just before Chou's arrival. Reporters and photographers were barred from its buildings. When a reporter asked why all the precautions, an Indonesian government spokesman said:

"Maybe if that plane had not crashed this would not have happened."
