THE NEWS OF THE DAY.

Carefully Collected by "The Examiner's" Reporters.

Hog cholera is raging in Wabash Co., Indiana.

The Duchess of Argyll is now in a more hopeful condition.

Princess Christina drives out daily, but she is still in delicate health.

There are firms in New York and Philadelphia who hire out clean cuffs and collars.

King Milan has granted an amnesty to all political prisoners concerned in the rising of 1883.

In Chicago the other day a landlord shot one of his boarders for joking about the butter.

A courtship of twenty years has just ended in the marriage of the couple at Branchfort, N. J.

The annual income of Claus Spreckles, the sugar king of the Sandwich Islands, is placed at $5,000,000.

It is estimated that half a million boxes oranges, worth a million dollars, were destroyed by the recent freeze in Florida.

John Armstrong, a Bismarck, Dakota, farmer, was frozen to death on Wednesday night; he leaves a wife and three children.

McCabe, a Canadian in Dakota, who was twice tried for poisoning his wives, has fallen victim to a mixture intended for his last wife.

Gloucester fishermen are experimenting with a machine which splits and "gibs" mackerel quicker and better than human hands can operate.

A rector in South Carolina, the missionary collection falling upon a stormy day, gives notice that it will be repeated on the first fine Sunday.

Six men have been arrested at Ireland, charged with being connected with a band who rifled mail bags on the 15th inst., in search for writs of ejectment.

General Viscount Wolsley says the statement that the Government has offered him command of the forces in Ireland is entirely without foundation.

Farmers in Wales are demanding a permanent reduction of 25 per cent. in rents, fixity of tenure, and compensation for making improvements on their holdings.

The Czar of all the Russias has entered the ranks of the vast army of amateur photographers, and he thinks of putting his captured Nihilists to slow torture by displaying his first experiments in their cells.

A spring of black ink has been discovered in Arkansas, but as it is not intoxicating, and therefore unfit to drink, the Arkansas don't know what to do with it.

It is understood, says the Halifax Herald, that Detective Skeffington will sever his connection with the I. C. R. this month, and that the office will be abolished.

The mean death rate among the rich classes of England is 55 years. The mean death rate among the poor people is 41 years. That is, rich people live fourteen years longer than poor.

The ship Hugo, from Liverpool to New York, reports that on Jan. 5, at 1 p. m., she passed a large ship on fire; had burned near to the water's edge; nothing to be seen of the crew.

Emperor William has given his sanction to Prince Bismarck's applying the national gift on the Chancellor's 70th birthday to the foundation of a school for the training of teachers.

More people die in one year from trichinosis than in twenty years from hydrophobia. Yet, says an exchange, the owners of hogs pay no tax, buy no muzzles, and have no hogs shot down.

The Irish Exchequer Bench has ruled that the national league is not illegal, as it exists in every county in Ireland without secrecy and has been tolerated by the government, who know its objects.

The Irish local government bill will be delayed until the English bill is settled. Although promised in the Queen's speech, the Irish measure may not appear during this session of parliament.

Queen Victoria retains the fondness for children that was such a marked feature of her early years, and she keeps a record of all the bright sayings and doings of the little ones that come to her notice.

John Magee, who on Wednesday pleaded guilty to the charge of attempting to procure money from the Prince of Wales by writing threatening letters, has been sentenced to seven years' penal servitude.

M. DeLesseps will remain a fortnight at Panama. He declares his task there is a far easier one than was the construction of the Suez Canal. He says the Panama Canal will be completed by the end of 1888.

An old man living near Athens, Ga., will not entertain any preacher at his house unless he is clean shaven. He is a strict member of the Methodist church, and will not countenance or listen to any minister who wears a beard or moustache.

Figaro says that a Yankee maker of sewing machines has offered Mme. Patti $1,000 for each appearance, in addition to her regular salary, if she will sit at one of his sewing machines, instead of at the spinning wheel, while singing the King of Thule.

A company has been organized at Amsterdam to drain the Zuyder Zee, covering an area of half a million acres. It is about 80 miles long and about 30 miles wide. It is navigable by vessels of considerable size, and forms the harbor of Amsterdam.

A negro named Hines, accused of murder in Cincinnati, was taken to the side of the murdered man's coffin and the lights suddenly turned up. To the remark of, "That is a horrible sight Hines," by the police captain, he coolly replied, "Deed it is, sah."

The Brantford, Ont., clergymen, fearing that Sabbath desecration is gaining ground in their midst, have resolved "to uphold the sanctity of the day by refusing to attend Sunday burials. They denounce Sunday driving for pleasure and bands of music playing on the streets.

Sheriff Degman, of Colfax County, Kansas, was killed Tuesday in jail at Schuyler by a prisoner named Lapour, who struck him over the head with a heavy club. At a late hour, a large crowd of men took Lapour from the jail and hanged him to a neighbouring tree.

Seymour Bushe, a young barrister of Munster, whose elopement on Nov. 2 with the wife of Mr. Gerald Richard Brooke, of Summertown county, Dublin created much excitement in fashionable circles, has been indicted in the sum of £5,000 in a crim. con. suit brought against him.

Any other contestants to the contrary, the most ancient English family is undoubtedly the Howard family, whose head is the Duke of Norfolk. In real alone this Duke gets an annual sum of £219,265; about £1,000,000 a year. His only son, the Earl of Arundel, is a deformed imbecile.

The Reichstag has adopted a resolution introduced by Herr Windthorst, declaring the expulsion of the Poles from Prussian territory unjustifiable and incompatible with the interests of German subjects. The Conservatives and National Liberals opposed the resolution. None of the ministers were present when it was adopted.

The Montreal Times states that the deficit on the Intercolonial Railway for the last fiscal year was $73,000 only, and not $400,000 as stated in a Montreal paper some time since. For the six years for which the present government have been responsible for the operation of the road the net deficit will thus be in round numbers, $140,000, or $23,500 per annum. Quite a difference between this and the annual deficits of $400,000 and upwards which were the rule under the government of McKeezie and Brydges.

The Garia correspondent of the Mercury says: A terrible accident happened at Garia on the 23rd ult. The facts of the melancholy affair are as follows: Joseph Smith with his two sons, John and William, left home about ten o'clock in the morning and proceeded down the bay in a boat. The father was bound to the telegraph office, and after rowing about a mile landed William on a small island, leaving him there for the purpose of killing harbor seals. On the same evening Thomas Francis and Thomas Whittle left home and rowed to the same island; Francis remained in the boat but landed Whittle who walked across the island with his gun looking for birds or seals. On coming to a certain place he fancied he heard a strange noise proceeding from the bushes, and getting frightened, he called out to Francis to row in, there was something on the island. While Francis was rowing in he heard a gun fired. Whittle met him in the landwash; he seemed much frightened and fell down on the ground, saying to Francis, that after calling him he saw something with fur on it in the bushes; fearing it would run after him he fired at it. A dog came out of the woods, and he saw it was Smith's dog. He then thought he must have fired at a man, not knowing what it was. Francis immediately went to the spot and found William Smith dead, with twelve shots in his head and one in his body. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon Joseph Smith and his son returned for William, and was horrified at finding him dead. The poor fellow was but 22 years of age, and was a great help to his father and family.
