

International Prexy Of Lions To Visit Here

By ANNE BOND
The international president of Lions Clubs will be paying a brief visit to Charlottetown tomorrow and while in the province will kick-off a world-wide essay competition that is being held in connection with the 50th anniversary year of Lions International.

MR. LINDSEY

Mr. Lindsey, who resides in Lawrenceburg, Tenn., was elected president of Lions International at the association's annual convention in New York City in July 1966. He has been a member of Lions since 1946 and has never missed a meeting since joining the organization. During his 20 years in the organization he has served in many capacities at all levels of administration. Mr. Lindsey served as mayor of Lawrenceburg and in 1955 was named Tennessee's outstanding mayor. During World War II he served as a pilot and after the war continued his military service with the Tennessee National Guard, which he retired from in 1962. One of his chief interests is in the field of history, and he is a life member of the Lawrence County Historical Society for his outstanding contributions to its organization during his years as its president. He is also active in civic, social and religious work in Lawrenceburg, and was chairman of the Lawrence County National Foundation for 15 years. He is a furniture manufacturer, specializing in church and other institutional furniture. Mr. Lindsey and his wife Virginia have one daughter, Anne. Mr. Lindsey will be arriving in Charlottetown from Moncton, N.B. at 7:15 a.m. Wednesday, at 9:15 he will be holding a press conference and following this will pay an official visit to Lt. Governor W.J. MacDonald at Government House and call on P.E.I.'s premier Hon. Alex B. Campbell and Charlottetown's Mayor, Walter J. Cox. At noon Mr. Lindsey will be of the necessity to continue the quest for peace, and possibly stimulate these young people to strive for peace in the world. The contest will be organized with the co-operation of persons in the field of education and further details of the local club's contest will be forthcoming.

CONTEST WINNERS

On an international level, contest winners from each club's area will be judged on various levels — county, province, district, country and so on to the international level. Dwight D. Eisenhower, former president of the U.S.A., has agreed to serve as chairman of the judging committee on the international level and working with him in judging the final essays will be other prominent world figures.

The grand prize for the winning essay will be a $25,000 scholarship for academic or vocational training — as chosen by this here will be eight prizes of $1,000 to runners-up. In addition to the money the eight successful young people will be guests at the Lions International convention in Chicago next summer and at that time the $25,000 winner will be announced. There are 10 Lions Clubs with approximately 400 members in Prince Edward Island.

Nazi Sergeant 'Too Stupid' Court Told

FRANKFURT (AP) — Former sergeant Josef Erber was "too stupid" to be guilty of the murder of more than 125,000 men, women and children at the Auschwitz concentration camp, his defence lawyer, Fritz Sauer, claimed Tuesday. Erber, he said, had been indoctrinated through Nazi propaganda into following Hitler's orders and at most could be found guilty of aiding and abetting in murders.

ANGLICAN ARCHBISHOP ARRIVES

Dec. 14 in what is known as the second Auschwitz trial. Sauer submitted that Erber had never assumed a personal role to destroy Jewish industry, but had on orders and without thinking, aided in murders. He could be neither a murderer nor a willing accomplice.

PLAN MOSCOW MISSION — KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters) Malaysia is about to establish first formal contacts with Russia and will send a trade mission to Moscow in the near future. Prime Minister Tun Abdul Rahman announced Tuesday.

Wage Increases Said Ahead Of Production In Canada

By DENNIS ORCHARD
OTTAWA (CP) — Wage increases are climbing ahead of production increases in Canada. Data compiled from reports of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show the wage acceleration began catching up with productivity in 1964. It now may have reached the point where workers and executives are contributing less, dollar for dollar, to productivity than they did at the start of the current boom in 1961.

While DBS does not compile its own index of unit labor costs, a compilation of available DBS data tells the story. Taking the relationship of wages and salaries to industrial output as representing an index figure of 100 in the year 1961, these directions show: 1. A rapid growth in productivity during 1962 and 1963, boosting the index from 100 to 95.8 by February, 1964.

2. From early 1964, a boom in labor income which has increased markedly the ratio of wages and salaries to output; the index rose to 98.2 in the first six months of 1965, to 99 in the second half of 1965, and hit 99.9 in the first three months of this year.

GROWS FASTER — Economists here believe the acceleration will be even greater as new contracts won in the last four or five months show up in fresh labor-income figures.

It is a hard rule of economics that labor costs will be inflationary if they rise faster than productivity. In this kind of an index, minute increases represent acute pressures because wage bills make up 70 or 75 per cent of all production costs.

Causes and effects of the inflationary pressures will be certain fodder for more sharp debate among politicians this fall.

It seems equally certain that parliamentary debate will treat the subject in a much different vein than the Economic Council of Canada, which reports soon on a major study of wages, prices and employment.

FIRST SUCH ATTEMPT — It will be the first thorough attempt at the job, assessing such delicate subjects as the relationship of full employment to inflation, and the prospects of reducing the effect on Canada of U.S. economic conditions.

These are only two of the areas that do not admit easily of political candor.

The council also will survey anti-inflationary measures employed by European countries. Prime Minister Pearson has indicated readiness to rely heavily on the report.

Bananas Visit Said Unknown

OTTAWA (CP) — Neither the RCMP nor the justice department has any knowledge of Mafia lieutenant Joe Bonanno visiting Canada in the last year, the Commons was informed.

State Secretary J. H. D. Marsh also said in a return for Erik Nielsen (PC-Yukon) that "it is not the policy of the RCMP to disclose knowledge of individuals entering or leaving the country unless a charge has been laid or unless requested by another police force or relative."

Bonanno was deported from Canada in July, 1964, after trying to establish some so-called business enterprises in the Montreal area.

FISH SEEM LARGER — Refraction of the light in tropical waters magnifies fish and coral 25 to 30 per cent.

St. Catharines Plant Closes

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — McKinnon Industries Ltd. will cease production Thursday morning because of the oil strike.

A company announcement said the plant, which produces engines and parts for General Motors of Canada, will close down after Wednesday's 11 p.m. shift goes off duty at 7 a.m. Thursday.

About 4,700 production workers are involved.

A spokesman said McKinnon's had been building parts for the 1967 model cars for about two weeks. These parts had been delivered to Oshawa and General Motors had informed the company that no further shipments would be required until the rail strike was over.
