

Happenings of The Week

Mr. W. Chester S. McLure, M.P. and Mrs. McLure have returned from Ottawa to their home in Charlottetown.

The Rev. Canon E. M. Malone and Mrs. Malone arrived home last Friday from Halifax, where they spent the winter. At present Mrs. Malone is the guest of her sister, Miss Janet Hezan, while Canon Malone is in Toronto attending a Synod committee meeting.

The members of the Charlottetown Choral, a mixed choral group which is directed by Mr. William K. Rogers, were entertained by Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Macmillan Wednesday evening for their annual meeting. Films on musical topics, records and a sing-song were greatly enjoyed by the members, after which delicious refreshments were served.

The Dorcas Group of the Baptist Church entertained at afternoon tea on Wednesday at the Villa Waters in honour of Miss Joyce Irvine, whose marriage takes place at the end of the month. The guest of honour was presented with a lovely table lamp and a piece of sterling silver in her chosen design.

Mrs. E. W. Sanson of Fredericton is a guest at the Charlottetown Hotel.

Mrs. F. G. Hutchison left by air Thursday morning for Calgary, from where she is going by train to Vancouver, B.C., for the Dominion Girl Guide Commissioners' Conference. She stopped over in Montreal Thursday, where she visited her daughter, Miss Katharine Hutchison, and will make several stop-overs on the way home, returning in about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Leigh-Spencer of Salt Springs Island, B.C., with their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frank Leigh-Spencer and young child, of Saint John, N. B., visited Charlottetown last week-end, guests at the Charlottetown Hotel.

Mrs. Hooper Horne and daughter, Miss Margaret Horne, arrived home last week for the summer from St. Petersburg, Florida. They travelled to Moncton by plane, from where they motored home with Mr. Ivan Horne.

Mrs. Erskine MacNutt left last Saturday for Montreal, P. Q., Grimby and Toronto, Ont., where she is visiting with her sisters for two weeks.

Miss Barbara Rupert entertained at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening for Miss Joyce Irvine. The "patient", an assortment of lovely gifts, covered with a white sheet, was wheeled in by young Miss Diane Rupert, dressed in a nurse's uniform, much to the surprise and delight of the guest of honour. The hostess was assisted by the Misses Marilyn and Janet Rupert and Miss Irene Giddings.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Macmillan arrived home Monday from Ottawa, where they spent a brief visit while Mr. Macmillan was attending meetings in connection with the Air Force Benevolent Fund.

Miss Wayne MacDonald entertained at her home last week at a square dancing party in honour of Miss Marjo McGuire, who with her sister, Joan Marie, left last Friday for their new home in Amherst, N. S. Delicious refreshments were enjoyed by the guests, and presentation was made to Miss McGuire of gifts from the hostess and a number of friends present.

Miss Jean Tweedy and Mrs. Clive Cudmore held a kitchen shower last evening at the home of the former in honour of Miss Joyce Irvine.

Mrs. Harry Biden of Amherst, N. S., was the guest this week of her brother, Mr. Harry James and Mrs. James.

Last Friday evening Mrs. Stephen Trainor was very pleasantly surprised when a large number of friends gathered for a housewarming at her home on Highland Ave. After the reading of a nicely composed address, appropriate gifts were presented to Mrs. Trainor. A social evening followed, during which a delicious lunch was served by the ladies. This happy occasion coincided with the 42nd wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Trainor.

The Brighton Group of Trinity United Church held their closing meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. B. Bell, when Mrs. J. T. Irwin, who with the Rev. Mr. Irwin is leaving Charlottetown, was presented with a farewell gift.

Her friends will regret to learn that Mrs. C. W. Milton, Fitzroy St., is a patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital.

Messrs. David Clark, Ian Kennedy, Johnny Squarebriggs and Hillson Carr have returned to their homes after successfully completing their year's work at Horton Academy, Wolfville, N. S.

Miss Ethel Trainor, Green St., entertained at a bridal shower last evening in honour of Miss Sheila Praught, whose marriage to F/O John Bradley takes place early in June at St. Dunstan's Basilica.

Mr. Emery P. Wood of Edmonton, Alta., arrived here by air last Wednesday for a week's visit. Mr. Wood, the son of the late Mr. J. Bamford Wood of Alexandria, visited his mother, Mrs. Wood, and his aunt, Mrs. J. Heber Gordon. It is twenty-five years since he last visited the Province, but during that time both Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Gordon have visited him in Edmonton. Mr. Wood's wife is a sister of the late Mr. Sterling MacKay of Summerside, while he himself is a cousin of Senator J. Walter Jones. He left by air for return to Edmonton Thursday morning, after a most enjoyable visit, when his many relatives and friends were delighted to welcome him back to the Island.

Miss Phyllis Cutcliffe was guest of honour at a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. William Dundas. The gifts wrapped gifts were opened by Miss Cutcliffe and the accompanying verses were read by Miss Audrey Cutcliffe.

Miss Elizabeth Martin of Halifax spent the holiday week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Martin.

Among the friends who have entertained in honour of Miss Phyllis Hughes, R.N., a bride-elect of June, is Mrs. Carl Green, who held a tea in her honour last Saturday afternoon. Miss Eileen MacDonald presided over the tea table, and assisting in serving was Mrs. Eldon Green. Miss Hughes was presented with a lovely gift from the hostess. On Tuesday evening Mrs. Carl Hughes and Mrs. Gerard Allen, R.N., were hostesses at Mrs. Hughes' home in Emerald at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Barbara and Master Billy Trainor presented the gifts.

DOROTHY DIX'S COLUMN-

"Off With The Old Love"

Serviceman's Girl Friend Becomes Enamored Of Sanatorium Patient

DEAR MISS DIX: While here at a sanatorium I met a fine young man, and as time passes I love him more and more. Two months ago he proposed to me, and I accepted him. Now for the problem! Before I met Ray, I was going with a school chum, and we were on the verge of becoming engaged when I became ill. He has always been very nice to me, is now in service, and I am sure he expects to marry me when I am discharged from the hospital. I realize now that I never really loved Peter, and that Ray is the one for me. How can I break the news to Peter without hurting him?

TRUTH MUST OUT

ANSWER: It would be impossible for you to tell Peter you love someone else without hurting his feelings. However, the longer you postpone the ordeal, the harder it will be on all three of you. If Peter really loves you, he is going to get a terrible shock to both his heart and pride. No matter how gently you break with him—and you are virtually breaking an engagement—this requires direct action. As soon as he is home again, which you intimate will be shortly, let him know that you wish to see him at once; tell him of your change of heart.

Of course it's always possible that he, too, may have found another girl, in which case a happy ending is assured for all. And just as a postscript—are you sure you really love Ray, and that your romance hasn't blossomed from a mutual sympathy in each other's illness? It would be well for you to go around in the outside world again before making definite marriage plans.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 15 and would like very much to write to a serviceman. However, my mother doesn't approve of the idea. Should I abide by her wishes, or write to one anyway?

ANGELA K.

ANSWER: You most certainly should abide by your mother's wishes in this matter. While I think writing to servicemen is a nice thought, and I often give addresses of boys to girls who want them, I do so with the proviso that the girls should discuss the matter with their parents before writing. But I am opposed to the practice for girls of your age.

DEAR MISS DIX: My daughter Ruth married ten years ago, and has a girl nine years old. Eight years ago Ruth obtained a divorce and lived with me for three years. Then she remarried but left the child with me. Now my daughter is going out west to join her husband at his base, and wants to take the girl with her, but I feel I can give the child better care here. The stepfather isn't too fond of the youngster, and I'm afraid she won't be properly treated.

GRANDMOTHER.

ANSWER: The child certainly belongs with her mother and, since

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee Q. When a hostess notices that a certain guest is eating very little, should she call attention to it? A. Never. Perhaps the guest is not feeling well, or is on a strict diet. It is better to say nothing unless the guest offers an explanation. Q. If a young man who does not have a car invites a girl to a dance, and this girl does own a car, would it be all right for her to suggest that they use it? A. Yes, this is quite all right. Q. Is a "dinner coat" the same as a "tuxedo"? A. Yes, in fact, "dinner coat" is the preferred term.

ELLEN'S DIARY

By An Island Farmer's Wife

This week, the passing of which is attended by starry candles of the night and merry bow of moon saw a saga of another seed-time being written by farm-folks; a story of risings when the bright voices of birds were chanting their matins and in many places, of returnings, when the robins and swallows had long before gone to their rest.

It is an old tale, and most familiar to those of us who know well the attendant endeavours of the season, yet it is ever new and interesting in its advent. Along the fields these days go the happy tractors, dragging in tow the disc or other harrow, or maybe it is a sprayer or hiller, to weave upon the warp of red earth some fetching new design of the cropping. Along too, within our sight, plods a farmer on measured paces after his team. Patterning his acres more slowly, but effectively, too, to come all in good time to his seeding.

In faith, we plant and sow... and await then the pleasure of a Heaven, "whose goodness faileth never..." Here a farmer puts by a current disappointment over blighted plans of last year in regard to his plantings, as again with high hope he commits his potato-seeds to the cool cradle of soil; there in anticipation of favoring early sale, another fashions smoothies and sows an acreage of turnips, and close by, the seeding is of grain.

And over, and all about, on valley and height is the exquisite charm and beauty of the May month as it ripens toward its fullness. The sky in its fresh-cleaned blue, over-arches a world made entirely new. Now field-flowers dot the meadows and blossom shyly by stream-side; wild pear trees in the hedgerows open their delicate blooms. And the days slip away... "fit ere you can point their place."

In faith we sow and plant; Another bestows the nurturing favors of sun and shower and "giveth the increase."

"Lord of the seasons, from Thy hand, Come all good fruits and favors known, Help us in faith to till the land As stewards of Thine own.

Help us to see and feel and know, Thy bounty in the seeds we sow, Thy increase harvested.

To serve in love and sow the seeds Of kindness in our neighborhood, To help to banish harmful weeds And strive for what is good.

That whatsoever we may do Throughout the swiftly passing days May by Thy favor blessings strewn.

And to Thy Name, the praise," Until Monday - - - Diary - - - Good-night . . .

SUGGESTIONS FOR MIGRAINE SUFFERERS

Migraine headache (one-sided headache) results from widening and stretching of the arteries of the head, chiefly those on the "outside" of the skull. I am quoting Drs. Robert M. Marcusson and Harold G. Wolff in Postgraduate Medicine. It may be hard for some migraine sufferers to realize that this heavy painful headache does not occur inside the skull as many are sure they are afflicted with a brain tumor inside the skull.

While any of the arteries of the head can be affected and produce headaches, it is those in the region of the temples that are most commonly involved.

"The migraine headaches may vary from a dull one-sided headache to a pounding, prostrating pain involving the whole head." A mild or moderate headache can be relieved by two aspirins (acetyl salicylic acid) and a cup of strong coffee or other common headache remedy. Morphine or other narcotics should be avoided except cocaine.

In a number of articles dating several years back, I have recorded the original research work of Dr. Mary O'Sullivan in the use of ergotamine tartrate in the successful treatment of migraine. It is of interest to learn that this drug is still the chief standby giving quick relief. Thus Drs. Marcusson and Wolff state:

"When the pain is severe and the headache cannot be relieved by the usual pain-relieving remedies, the drug ergotamine tartrate (Gyn-ergin) in doses of 0.25 to 0.5 mg., which narrows the painfully stretched arteries, given as soon as possible after the onset of pain, will usually cause the headache to

Loo-Haslam Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Loo are seen leaving St. Elizabeth's Anglican Church at Springfield, immediately after their wedding on Thursday afternoon, May 14th. The bride, before her marriage, was Margaret Joyce Haslam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Haslam, of Springfield. The groom came to Prince Edward Island from Holland about two years ago, with other members of his family who came here to take up farming. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Loo, now living at Springfield.—S. (Photo by Wolton).

Cook's Corner

EGG MOUNDS IN SAVORY SAUCE

Biscuit dough (using 2 cups flour), 6 soft-cooked eggs, peeled, 1/2 cup fat, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 3 cups cooked tomatoes, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Roll dough about 1/4-inch thick. Divide into 6 parts and wrap around eggs. Prepare tomato sauce of remaining ingredients. Pour hot sauce into a shallow baking dish, place wrapped eggs in sauce and bake in hot oven, 400 degrees F., until biscuit is browned. Serves 6. Hard-cooked eggs, or deviled eggs, may be used if preferred.

EGGS BAKED IN CHEESE SAUCE

1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups milk, 1/2 cup grated sharp cheese, 4 eggs. Prepare a sauce of the butter, flour, seasonings and milk. Add cheese and stir until melted. Pour cheese sauce into greased baking dish and let cool slightly to thicken. Make 4 hollows in sauce with back of spoon and break 1 egg into each. Season the eggs, cover and bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. until eggs are firm. Serves 4. Individual ramekins or custard cups may be used instead of large baking dish.

Morning Smile

Same Habit

"How sweet of you, darling, to back that horse in the 3:30 race because it had the same name as mine."

Silly to Hear

The telephone rang and kept on ringing, but the new typist made no move to answer it. "Why don't you answer the phone?" asked the boss irritably. "Well, I will if you like," replied the typist, shrugging her shoulders, "but it seems to be for you; none of my friends know I'm here."

How Can I!!!

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make an effective cockroach trap? A. Fill a pie plate, or similar container, half-full of sugar water. Place this on the floor and slant several sticks, each about 3 inches long, from the floor to the edge of the vessel. The roaches will crawl over and drown.

Q. How can I easily clean gloves? A. Use a flannel cloth which has been dipped in sweet milk and rubbed over a cake of pure soap.

Q. How can I hasten the setting of jelly? A. The setting can be hastened by placing the mold in a basin containing cold water in which salt has been dissolved.

Canadian Consumer News

The annual meeting of the Toronto Branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers held last week was evidently a very enthusiastic one. Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., the National President, brought the cheery news that progress was being made at the federal level in the labelling of textiles and the sizing of garments and that manufacturers were bringing out an improved type of jar tops.

These are three projects that C. A. C. has been working on for years and hats off to our National Executive if they are finally getting somewhere on these complaints. They are headaches to all of us whether we live on P.E.I., Newfoundland or in British Columbia. I think the sizing of our clothing is perhaps the most annoying. How often do you hear something like this:—"My boy is only two but he can't even get into a size four suit"—or "Last month I took a size 16 dress and believe it or not yesterday a 14 fitted me perfectly." What many women still don't realize is that you may take a size 14 in one manufacturer's make, but in the same dress department may need a 16 or even an 18. If you have your hands on the product of another manufacturer.

One of the blessings resulting from the Second World War was the introduction of standard sizes in civilian clothes in England. Today more than 90 per cent of British manufacturers use the same standard of sizes (even though it is not a compulsory measure).

A Canadian mother, returned last summer from England with clothing for her three children, all of it a perfect fit. In making her purchases she had supplied nothing more than the weights, heights and

Lampshade Hats Back In Style

PARIS (AP)—The lampshade hat is back again. It has appeared in the past, but never in such numbers as the Jacques Fath mid-season fashion collection.

It looks rather heavy, too, after such a long spell of airy preched-on-top models, with its deeper crown and the big brim sloping downward at a direct slant. It is worn straight on the head and the brim shades the eyes flatteringly. Hair in back usually is combed up softly.

Some of the hats are quite large, like one of white openwork, stiffened and crisp-looking, with a brim softening half the face. It looks very well, too, on a tall manniquin in a molded black summer dress cut wide and shallow at the neckline, with sleeves slightly puffed from shoulder to a narrow cuff well above the elbow.

The Fath show was a sort of mid-season climax, since his was one of the few leading fashion houses to put on a full-scale collection for mid-summer.

Suitcoats were more comfortably cut at the waistline than those currently worn by smart Parisiennes. Some of the coats were indented only slightly at the waist.

Besides the lamshade hats, there were almost as many pill-boxes out with a difference. These new ones are bigger crowned coming down in some models almost to the eyebrows. They are straight and rather severe-looking. Some were trim-trimmed, and some of persian lamb.
