TARTE IN PARIS.

In the House of Commons, a few days ago, Mr. Monk, of Jacques Cartier, a French Opposition member, brought on an interesting discussion of Mr. Tarte's conduct in Paris and London. He read the report of Mr. Tarte's recent speech in London in which he told the English people that Britain might at any moment call upon the French-Canadians to defend the Empire, and that the French-Canadians were perfectly satisfied and contented under British rule; and he read the report of the interview in Paris in which Mr. Tarte said that he had protested in vain against the course taken by the majority in Canada in sending troops to the Transvaal, and in which he pointed out that the French were only a minority in the Dominion, and had to bow to the wish of the majority in this matter, and that Canada did not send troops, but only permitted them to go. Mr. Tarte gave the Paris paper to understand that the situation of the French in Canada was delicate, and that if he should express his own sentiments frankly it might give offence to English speaking people. In Paris, Mr. Tarte agreed that 99 per cent. of the French-Canadians were opposed to the war in South Africa, but apologized for their course by pleading their minority and declaring that the act was not a precedent. Mr. Monk protested that Mr. Tarte should not be allowed to go between London and Paris giving these contradictory accounts of the situation. Especially Mr. Monk protested against the slanderous statements made in Paris, which virtually accused the French-Canadians of disloyalty and cowardice, and want of spirit, and charged the English-Canadians with oppression and tyranny. Incidentally he remarked that Tarte was singularly and unfortunately active for a man who was away for his health.

REPUDIATION.

SIR,—I have never cast a Tory vote in my life, but in the light of the facts of the past five years I can't stand the editorial in the Patriot of the 19th, as I take the ground that no party organ has a right to attempt to mislead the public.

First, the Patriot admits the "financial abyss out of which Mr. Haszard says he wishes to raise it," says that the idea of getting rid of parties under existing circumstances is chimerical and ridiculous and says "what are these existing conditions?"

1. "The Liberals hold the Government and the people are evidently satisfied with their judicious and economical administration of public affairs."

Now on what ground does the Patriot make this statement? Is it on the result of the Belfast and Murray Harbor elections, where Sir Louis Davies took a personal hand in the matter, or is it on the stealing of all that a man should hold sacred, viz., the honor and independence of Pineaue?

2. "The Government in the Province is in accord with the Dominion Government at Ottawa. Perhaps this is a sufficient answer to the Pineaue question in No. 1."

3. "A great public work obtained for this Province by Sir Louis H. Davies, and involving an expenditure of $1,500,000 is about to be commenced."

What assurance have we got for this when Sir Louis himself openly declared that if the people of these districts voted as they have done that this work might never be commenced.

No. 4 says: "All departments have been placed on a sound and business-like basis." If this is correct why then should we want a change? But further on he says the late Government left a legacy of debt of $171,000, and makes no explanation of the legacy of a half a million in the will of the present Government;—and this notwithstanding the no tax rule of the late Government, and the fact that the present invalid used their power to tax both the living and the dead as well as the stranger within our gates to the last cent that could be squeezed out of them all.

No. 7. says: "It is likely that a measure will be brought forward in the House this coming session to put in operation Provincial Prohibition."

I take this to be a delusion and a snare to catch the more unsophisticated of the Prohibition vote. What more total Prohibition can we have than the Scott Act now in force which totally prohibits the sale in every county of the Province? And as to prohibiting importation what machinery does he suggest to carry out such a law? We have no inter-Provincial Customs regulations and therefore for such a law to be of any use every passenger and every package landed from any other province would require individual inspection and for this a customs official for every mile of water front on the Island would be insufficient for one half the area.

The whole article seems to me like a fothing dose to a dying man. "Can't do him any harm and may give him a little ease." And this would be all right except for the fact that death-bed statements are supposed to carry extra weight because generally characterized by honesty and truth, both of which elements appear to me to be totally lacking in this case. HONEST LIBERAL.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—Sir Wilfrid Laurier declined to give Mr. Joseph Martin any help in the B. C. election; and Mr. Joseph Martin is publishing the fact far and wide. He evidently thinks, in the present state of public opinion, the refusal of the Liberal Government at Ottawa to lend him assistance, will do him more good than harm.

THE OLD PROVERB

"A Stitch in Time Saves Nine" Applied Anew

Take Dyspepsia in its Initial Stages—Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets at the first Sign of the Disease—Much Pain and Trouble Thus Avoided.

Few people would ever be unwell if their stomachs did their work properly. The stomach is the organ that gets out of order fastest, and with a healthy stomach a man is free from danger of nine-tenths of the common human ailments.

The stomach is the toughest organ in the body. It must be or it wouldn't stand one half of the abuse it receives.

No other organ is made to submit to submit to the rough treatment that the stomach undergoes without complaint.

But there comes a time when it fails. There is a limit to endurance even of the stomach.

It breaks down. The symptoms of Dyspepsia appear. Heartburn, Water brash, pain in the chest begin to cause annoyance. How many people count the beginning of their physical breakdown to the comparatively trifling ailments.

It is a strange thing, but people begin to neglect these early symptoms of Dyspepsia despite the wide-spread knowledge of their results. In a few short months they become chronic dyspeptics. Then they are the most unhappy mortals alive.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure Chronic Dyspepsia. There is no question of that. If a treatment by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets is regularly and conscientiously undergone the cure of the worst case of Dyspepsia is certain.

But how much easier it would be to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets at the first sign of stomach disorder! When the Heartburn is first noticed, when the feeling of gas in the throat and chest is first experienced, then by the aid of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets it would be a simple matter to correct the faults of the stomach and prevent serious disease.

MRS. BERRY'S CASE.

Story of a Common Mistake in Every Day Life.

Thought one Box of Dodd's Kidney Pills would cure her—a Trouble of Eight Years Standing—in the end Twelve Boxes Were Needed.

Halifax, N. S., April 20.—The story of Mrs. Berry's case, despatched recently from Bear River, Digby County, is the story of a common mistake the world over. Many people seem to think that because they are not cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills on the first dose, they are incurable. They give up so easily. It is no use expecting great results from half-hearted effort. Persevere and Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure you.

It is a mistake to expect to get cured of an ailment like chronic Kidney Disease in a hurry. Mrs. Berry, of Bear River, had kidney trouble for over eight years before she started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Then on a friend's advice she bought a box. After taking that first box she was not cured. She had the disease for eight years. But she left off taking Dodd's Kidney Pills because the first box didn't cure her.

Three years after, having tried other medicines in vain, she was still not cured. She was in fact so much worse that she could not dress or undress unaided, and couldn't sleep more than five minutes at a time through the night. She determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills again. Three years experience taught her that she must persevere to succeed, so this time she bought five boxes. When they were used she got seven more. To-day she is as well as ever she was in her life. The lesson is that Dodd's Kidney Pills would have cured her the first time if she had persevered.
