Nearly 6,000 Children Take Swimming Course

(Editor's note: With Water Safety Week now underway (June 2-8), The Guardian publishes this report on the work of the Red Cross Water Safety committee in the public interest.)

There is little doubt that P.E.I. beaches are safer because of the work of the Water Safety Committee of the provincial Red Cross Society.

The committee has been in operation for 16 years under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Cudmore and each successive year has seen an increased enrollment in the program.

The program is Island-wide and has won the reputation of being second to none in effectiveness in Canada.

Last year 5,763 children were enrolled in swimming classes; 2,831 took tests and 1,760 passed. At the same time the committee sponsored a course in life saving designed principally for experienced swimmers and as a result 278 received instruction in life saving.

Life saving tests were conducted under standards set by the Royal Life Saving Society and the year was climaxed with six swimmers receiving the "award of distinction", the second highest award offered by the RLSS.

A breakdown of awards included: Elementary certificates, 16; intermediate certificate, 51 bronze medallion, 158; award of merit, 17; confirmed as RLSS instructors, 13; in addition 20 life guards were given instruction and awards.

Life saving instruction, however, is only one part of the giant program that last year spread over 108 communities and this year will involve more than 6,000 youngsters.

A small army of volunteers is needed to undertake this program. Listed below are the volunteers and instructors who carried on last year's program and the number of children taught.

P.E.I. Gov't Travel Policy Unchanged

Premier Walter R. Shaw said last night his government will continue its policy of having representatives attend all meetings that could be of benefit to the province, "no matter what part of the country they are held in."

"Travel by cabinet ministers and civil servants will not be curtailed," he said, "to an extent that will hurt the province. All meetings of importance to the province will be attended by top persons of government."

Premier Shaw termed as "inaccurate" reports that 10 to 12 out-of-province travelling requests were turned down by the cabinet. "There was also an inaccurate report that a cabinet minister was refused permission to travel — this just didn't occur," he said.

Ch'town Branch Of Retarded Children Ass'n Elects Slate

Ernest S. Lord was re-elected president of the Charlottetown branch of the Retarded Children's Association at the annual meeting held at the Sherwood Hospital last evening. Reports from the various committees were also heard along with a discussion on fund raising and estimation of the budget for the coming year.

Robert Inkpen and Mrs. Grant Travers were elected as vice-president and secretary respectively and Stephen MacDonald was elected treasurer. Four councillors were also elected to serve on the executive. They are, Mrs. Frank Walker, Mrs. Grace MacKinnon Mrs. Elizabeth Driscoll and Mrs. Fred Johnston.

Following a report given on the recent canvass it was decided that better organization for such a drive was needed. However despite handicaps $1,500 was collected by the local branch.

It was reported that the local branch was extremely short of funds. The meeting decided that a recommendation should be tendered to the provincial association asking for a larger grant out of the campaign money.

A special meeting will be held in a week's time to hear a report on the sheltered workshops for the children and representatives from the various service clubs in the city will be asked to attend.

It was felt that the local association could not handle alone the cost of the workshops and that other organizations should be asked to help if they were interested.
