

(From the Correu Samarario del Salvador.)

(From Reid's Philosophy of Death.)

INFLUENCE OF HABITS AND CIRCUMSTANCES ON HEALTH AND LONGEVITY.

When worldly comforts are enjoyed with discretion, and with due regulation of the mind, a middle state in life must afford the greatest chance of long life and exemption from disease.

The middle classes are the most healthy, for they are neither exposed to severe privations from poverty nor to the hurtful excesses of affluence.

We need scarcely state, that nothing is more conducive to long life and health than proper nourishment.

Errors in diet form a long catalogue of the causes of disease, but we can do little more than merely allude to us by nature, and again consider the various changes and combinations which that undergoes in the different processes of cookery.

From the remotest times, early rising has been considered very conducive to health and long life.

From the remotest times, early rising has been considered very conducive to health and long life.

From the remotest times, early rising has been considered very conducive to health and long life.

From the remotest times, early rising has been considered very conducive to health and long life.

From the remotest times, early rising has been considered very conducive to health and long life.

PRIVATE ECONOMY OF THE CHINESE.—The interiors of some of the houses were found beautifully furnished and carved; one that is now inhabited by the governor, and believed to have been the property of a literary character, was, when first opened, the wonder and admiration of all.

TURKISH ADVERTISEMENT.—(From the Djéridée Havadis of the 13th October.)—“For sale, a black female slave, who is unique for playing the fiddle, lute, mandolina, and dulcimer; and is, moreover, a beautiful dancer.

EXTENT OF THE BRITISH DOMINIONS.—The Liverpool Times, in announcing the birth of the Duke of Cornwall, thus sums up the vast extent of the empire, which it is to be hoped he will at some future and distant day preside over.

THE TOWER OF LONDON.—For the security and defence of this famous city and river, (says Chamberlayne, in his Magna Britannia Notitia), there have been anciently diverse fortresses; but that called the Tower of London hath been eminent above all others.

ACCIDENTS AT THE TOWER.—The following is a correct list of the different casualties and accidents that have occurred at the Tower, from the period of its erection to the present day.

FIDELITY.—Sir Robert Barclay, who commanded the British squadron in the battle of Lake Erie, was horribly mutilated by the wounds he received in that action, having lost his right arm and one of his legs.

FRIGHTFUL INTELLIGENCE FROM COSTA RICA. Copy of a Letter from the City of Heredia.

The earthquake was so sudden, that those persons who escaped had hardly time to get out of their houses before the falling of the walls.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

On Thursday se'night the charter of the corporation of Wexford expired, and on Wednesday last the functions of the mayor ceased.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

PEOPLE OF COSTA RICA.—You are all of one family. The misfortunes which are suffered by any portion should be, and in fact are, felt in common.

it, there would not be a single slaver taken or condemned for the stars and stripes would float above every slaver's cabin.

On this subject the N. Y. Commercial says: "We have reason to believe, that a proposition capable of being entirely unobjectionable on our part, is now or soon will be taken into consideration by the British Government.

THE ILLUSTRIOUS.—The N. Y. Express, in an article relating to the British ship-of-the-line which lately arrived at New York, says:—“The Illustrious is rather a small vessel for her rate.

CANADA. THE GREAT AGRICULTURAL PETITION.—Beneath the remarks will be found the draft of the petition intended to be laid at the foot of the throne by the inhabitants of Majesty's Canadian Provinces.

Our forests have been felled—our fields tilled—our cities built by British hands—the manufactures of land supply our daily wants—the name of the Sovereign of England is an unfailing watchword to command our obedience.

Abolish the tax on our grain, and the next year we will need no military display to command or overawe a country bound to you by the indissoluble bonds of commerce.

Abolish that duty, and thirteen thousand British soldiers may be released from the task of guarding our Queen's premisses in these her fairest possessions.

Abolish the tax on our grain, and the ears of Downy street will be annually plagued with some hundreds of complaints, petitions, and remonstrances.

NEW BRUNSWICK. ST. JOHN, N. B., January 11, 1842.—We are much concerned to notice that some of the leading English Journalists conversant with Colonial affairs are of opinion, that the present Government intend to make some alteration in the Timber Duties.